3 ARE KILLED IN RAILWAY WRECK

Scores Slightly Hurt As Fast Passenger Train Leaps Embankment

MARTINS FERRY, Ohio, Oct. 14.—(United News)—Three railroad men were killed and a number of passengers injured Wednesday when the engine and three coaches of a Pennsylvania railroad train went over an embankment at Warwood, W. Va.

Scores of passengers were slightly bruised and cut by flying glass, but none of the injuries were serious. All windows in the train were shattered when the engine toppled over pulling three coaches with it. The rails were uprooted for several hundred feet.

Trainmen at the scene declared that the flyer hit spreading rails, while tearing along at cannon-ball speed, and smashed over the embankment, carrying the train's crew to death.

N. Y. GRAND JURY MAY PRESS CASE

Action Threatened Unless Thief Is Arrested In Next Few Days

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—(United News)—A grand jury investigation into the theft of the Donahue jewels, valued at $683,000 will result unless the thief is caught in a week.

This was promised by Assistant District Attorney Pecora, after another conference with Noel C. Scaffa, the private detective, who returned the jewels late Tuesday. The statement spiked rumors that the case was closed.

Scaffa, police say, received the stolen jewels from an intermediary. The name of the "go-between" as given by Scaffa to the police means nothing to them, and it is said that Scaffa himself probably was given a fictitious name.

Pecora reaffirmed his opinion that the jewels were taken by a sneak thief, although police at first said only a "master crook" would have attempted to engineer the crime.

A week, then should be ample for Scaffa to get on the trail of the thief and bring about his arrest, working with the police department, Pecora said.

There are two possible clues in the case. One lies in the fact that a beaded handbag was among the jewels, when they were stolen, while Mrs. Jessie Woolworth Donahue, daughter of F. W. Woolworth, the five and ten-cent store magnate, was in her bath in her suite at the Plaza hotel, September 30.

When Scaffa returned the two missing pearl necklaces and the diamond ring, the bag was not with them. If the bag turns up the police may be able to trace it to the thief.

Grant Dimick Seen in Poland, Report

PORTLAND, Oct. 14.—Grant B. Dimick, former member of the state legislature and president of an Oregon City bank, who disappeared shortly before worthless mortgages totaling $200,000 were found in the bank, was seen recently in Warsaw, Poland, by Charles T. Haas, Portland, attorney and former German consul here, according to announcement Wednesday by Haas, following his return from a trip abroad.

"There can be no doubt about its being Judge Dimick that I saw," Haas declared Wednesday. "I have known him for years."

Haas gave the information to Sheriff E. T. Mass, of Clackamas county, who in turn has given it to District Attorney Livistay, so that it can be taken up with Gov. Pierce and the attorney general in an effort to have Dimick returned to face an embezzlement charge. Little hope of this is held out, however, since Poland is said to be without extradition laws to cover the case.

SOLDIERS TAKE UP PICK

FEZ, French Morocco, Oct. 14.—(United News)—French soldiers in Morocco are laying aside their rifles for picks and shovels.

The armies have gone into winter quarters. They will consolidate their new positions by adding to the string of strong forts along the new line, and roads and supply stations and other works of reconstruction and pioneering must be built.

TEAM MANAGERS WORRY HEADS ON GETTING BREAKS

Wednesday's Game Postponed by Rain

REST FAVORS JOHNSON

Opposing Pitchers are Main Subject of Fan Talk Pending Final Go

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14.—Players and managers of both world series contesting teams are chirping about "getting the break" with Wednesday's postponement of the deciding seventh game of this drawn-out world series. Both sides are happy and each side reasons with logic. But the drenched fans are beginning to wilt. Many rain checks were passed on to the scalpers for $3, as people flowed out of the gate after soaking up rain for an hour Wednesday as Judge Landis deliberated with umpires and the ground hands inched canvases upon all parts of the diamond.

Bucky Harris, manager of the defending champions, gave out his usual statement that everything favored the Senators. He says just what every one expected him to say, that the rest will enable Walter Johnson to come back in better form, that Oswald Bluege can profit by any delay, and finally that his boys are ready for the fight of their lives, regardless of when it is staged.

This is what is known as the bunk, for Harris really is mighty sorry the game wasn't played Wednesday on that dark day so favorable to Johnson's speed. Johnson was ready for more work. Mike Martin, trainer of the club, had Walter's right thigh bound so that there wasn't a chance for it to give away again. Walter said he was

O. M. A. BRANCH LOCATED IN CITY

For the purpose of establishing a branch of the Oregon State Motor Association in Klamath Falls, George Brandenberg, general manager and H. E. Gale, manager of the southern Oregon district, arrived in the city yesterday. Office of the association is to be located in the chamber of commerce rooms, with Mrs. Leah M. Smith, assistant secretary of the commerce chamber, as local manager.

Yesterday the motor association officials conferred with Secretary Sabin and directors of the local chamber with the result that arrangements were made to establish the office in the commerce body headquarters.

District manager Gale calls attention to the fact that few people realize the benefits of membership in the association. Some of the most important ones include: free service in the following—Towing, distance 10 miles, out of gas, distance 5 miles. Lady drivers having tire trouble may phone or send in word and assistance given her.

Lists of garages giving this service both here and in both states are available to motorists at all times. The Oregon association is affiliated with the A. A. A.

HOOVER SCOUTS THEORY OF GIANT TRUST PACT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(United News)—Secretary of Commerce Hoover warned against federal control of electric public utilities in this country, and declared that the states could adequately cope with the situation, in an address to the national association of railroad and utilities commissioners here Wednesday night.

The secretary of commerce scouted the charge, frequently made in congress, that the development of super-power is producing a giant "trust." The senate last session ordered an investigation by the federal trade commission into the alleged electric trust, upon a resolution by Senator Norris of Nebraska.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—(Thursday)—Foreign Minister Stresemann and Chancellor Luther of Germany, have received confirmation from the cabinet in Berlin of their full authority to sign the proposed Locarno security pact, according to a Locarno dispatch to the Daily Express.

MURRAY CHOSEN HEAD OF BISHOPS

Churchman Selected to Be Presiding Member By Assembled House

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 14.—The Right Rev. John Gardner Murray, bishop of Maryland, who retired from business at 55, with a tidy fortune to realize a life-long ambition by joining the ministry, was elected Wednesday as presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church in the United States.

A conservative churchman, leaning toward high church views, Bishop Murray is one of the most beloved of the older bishops of the church. His executive ability is great and although he is not an orator, his depth of sincerity in speaking on the few occasions he takes the rostrum carries conviction.

SHERIFF-WARDEN LODGED IN JAIL

Arrests Follow Exposure of Graft and Corruption in Prison Management

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—(United News)—The sheriff and the jail warden of Cook county were packed off to prison Wednesday afternoon. They went as the result of an exposure of graft and corruption showing that two wealthy bootleggers virtually had used the jail as a summer resort while supposedly serving prison terms.

Peter Hoffman, long a political figure in Illinois is the sheriff. He is a square jawed iron faced man of 50, with close cropped white moustache and greying hair. It was not demonstrated that he took any of the $20,000, which Terry Druggan and Frankie Lake, the debonaire beer runners had used in corrupting his subordinates. But it was shown that he had known of the liberties accorded the convicts, of how Druggan and Lake were released before their terms expired, of how they got "soft jobs" in jail, of how they went out nights and did the cabarets.

Hoffman, before Federal Judge Wilkerson, was sentenced to 30 days imprisonment and a fine of $3,000.

Wesley Westbrook is the jail warden. He is a younger man, in his forties. He has a puffiness about his face, but candor in his wide eyes. He denies all charges. Witnesses said he got the lion's share of the bootleggers' $20,000. The bootleggers said he sought to mulct them out of $100,000 by organized extortion. His jail term will be four months.

Search Instigated For Taylor's Valet

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 14.—(United News)—Search for Edward Sands, who was valet for William Desmond Taylor, when the director was mysteriously slain in February 1922, was renewed here Wednesday on word that Sands was seen in Kansas City a month ago.

The valet was partially identified as the slayer by Mrs. Douglas McLean, who lived in an adjoining house. She testified at hearings that she saw him run from Taylor's room.

Sands and Taylor, according to other evidence presented at the murder investigation, had trouble shortly before Taylor's body was found.

The information was brought to the district attorney's office by George K. Home, former chief of detectives.

E. J. Murray Loses Case at Medford

Directing the jury to find for the seven defendants, Federal Judge Wolverton, sitting at Medford, yesterday declared in an opinion that E. J. Murray, publisher of the Evening Herald, had no basis for the allegations made in his $52,000 damage suit, and added that the suit never should have been brought.

Murray charged conspiracy, alleging that he had been maliciously prosecuted and had been the victim of personal assault. His contentions were based on actions of the officials during a dispute between the Klamath Falls Record and the Evening Herald, during which, it was charged, Murray drew a gun on Hawkins, then a deputy sheriff.

VISION IS ESSENTIAL

Railway Controversy Over District Held Great Advertising Gem

Build, build with foresight and vision, with a keen eye to the future, not to the immediate needs of tomorrow.

DAWES DISPUTED BY LABOR CHIEFS

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 14.—Condemnation of the attempt of Vice President Dawes to change senate rules now allowing unlimited debate, abatement of war against alleged abuses of power by equity courts in labor disputes, and criticism of a proposal to abolish military training camps, and an extreme reduction of armaments were embodied in resolutions adopted Wednesday by the American Federation of Labor.

The convention is expected to end Thursday with the re-election of President William Green and other officers.

The establishment of a memorial to the late president Samuel Gompers in the Episcopal cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York, was authorized by a vote of the convention. Gompers was a Jew.

Vice President Dawes has loaned himself to a "vicious purpose" of passing reactionary legislation, the resolution concerning him said.

The criticism of equity courts was not an attack on the courts, but an effort to obtain legislation limiting the powers of judges who betrayed the system, the resolution on labor disputes declared.

ARRESTS FOLLOW MANY PARKING LAW BREACHES

Thirteen one dollar fines for violating the traffic ordinances, and one two-dollar fine for a similar offense spelled misfortune to fourteen Klamath business men and visitors in the city yesterday, and enriched the coffers in the city treasury that much when Police Judge Gaghagen uttered his customary, "Fine, please!"

A. J. Powell paid a fine of $2 for parking improperly, and over the time limit, and the following paid $1 for similar offenses: H. E. Crane, Roy Durbin, E. H. Olsen, C. B. Cook, J. Hershberger, Dr. Geo. Merryman, M. E. Maxwell, unknown, Idaho car, unknown, T. A. Nelson, Estella Mill, H. K. Holman and unknown.

Machines Badly Damaged As Pilots Land in Field, Occupants Escape

LANCASTER, Ohio, Oct. 14.—(United News)—Two planes flying home from the air races at Mitchell Field, L. L. were badly damaged, 12 miles east of here late Wednesday, when their pilots made a forced landing in a field.

The occupants were unhurt. Capt. B. F. Giles, Fort Leavenworth, Kas., piloted one plane with Capt. C. M. Young of Des Moines, Iowa, as a passenger. Capt. C. B. Bayley, of Crissy field, San Francisco, piloted the second plane with Master Sergeant Alfred Barnhardt, also of San Francisco, as a passenger.

The planes were De Havillands. Their landing gears and wings were broken. They landed about a half a mile apart and were to be taken to Dayton for repairs.

SOUTH TO FIGHT FOR 2 DELEGATES

Representation Is Sought on Tariff and Interstate Commissions

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(United News)—The south, forging ahead rapidly as an industrial section, is preparing to wage a fight in the next congress for representation on two agencies of the government which have to do with commerce and business—the interstate commerce commission and the tariff commission.

At the present time neither of these two important independent agencies has a member from the southeast or southwest. Southern members of congress feel that the section has been slighted, and with its recent trend toward industrial power will necessarily require representation, as both of these agencies have authority in important commercial fields.

There was a rumble of dissatisfaction last year because of this lack of representation. It is growing stronger, and will break forth in earnest in the coming congress.

The fight for a place on the interstate commerce commission will take first a negative turn in an effort to prevent the confirmation of Thomas F. Woodlock of New York, who was given a recess appointment by President Coolidge last year, after the senate had rejected him. Coolidge appointed Woodlock in the face of urgent appeals from southern members of congress that a man from their section be named.

Democrats were joined by several independent republicans, who did not approve of Woodlock, to bring about his rejection, and it appears certain that the commissioner, a former editor of the Wall Street Journal, will be turned down again.

Seek Man, Woman For Mail Robbery

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 14.—(United News)—Approximately $500,000 in negotiable bonds and federal reserve notes are still missing and a man and woman are being sought in connection with the sensational mail truck robbery staged here last week.

Postal inspectors, after a complete check up, placed the total valuation of the haul at more than $1,100,000. Police have recovered about $500,000.

Five men under arrest in connection with the case were arraigned before a United States commissioner Wednesday, following their indictment, and were lodged in jail.

All of the five are reported to have made confessions which resulted in the police recovering part of the stolen loot.

The woman and man sought are asserted to be ring leaders of the bandit gang. Postal inspectors say they fled east with the missing loot.

Cattle Ranges to Be Planted With Wheat

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 14.—(United News)—Ten million acres of sod in the southwest, heretofore used for cattle ranges, will be planted in wheat within the next eight years, C. C. Isley, of Dodge City, Kas., predicted in an address at the 29th annual meeting of the Grain Dealers' National association here Wednesday.

JOINT USER PLAN FLATLY REJECTED AT RAIL HEARING

Session of Body Is Brought to Close

BUDD GIVES EVIDENCE

Sharing of Territory Held Ruinous to Both North and South Lines

By J. W. McDONALD, Staff Correspondent Klamath News. PORTLAND, Oct. 14.—Flat rejection of a northern line proposal that the Southern Pacific interests join in use of a common entrance into Klamath Falls from the north marked the conclusion of the Klamath rail hearing before the I. C. C. today.

This proposal was broached at the hearing by Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern and was promptly and very definitely squashed by P. L. Burkhalter, assistant general manager of the Southern Pacific.

"We think the northern lines should join with Strahorn in using existing lines and extensions that they may be permitted to enter Klamath Falls," said Budd. "We believe rail lines should share traffic that can be reached equally as well by either of two carriers and that they should share the expense of getting the traffic."

This offer of mediation was not only rejected but final opposition was voiced by the Southern Pacific to any form of extension south of Bend.

Joint User Ruinous to Both. "It is the policy of the Southern Pacific management to oppose any part of the Oregon Trunk construction program," proposed in this proceeding," declared Burkhalter. "The Southern Pacific wants it clearly understood that it is absolutely opposed to the northern lines penetrating south of Bend."

"As to joint use, the waste of such a practice would be greater than the annual maintenance cost of an independent parallel line unless the traffic were pooled, and pooling traffic is not competition which the northern lines claim as their aim for the Klamath district."

Woman Mariner Is Lauded by Sailors

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—(United News)—The schooner Nannuk has returned from the Arctic, bearing a $250,000 cargo of furs and one of the most courageous of women mariners.

She is Mrs. C. P. Peterson, wife of the schooner's skipper. During the long arctic cruise, which extended to Herchel Island, off the northern Canadian coast, Mrs. Peterson took her full share of the ship's duties and in addition, acted as nurse for a crew threatened by an influenza epidemic, did her trick at the wheel and in the crew's nest.
