President Will Not Be Drawn Into Case

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—(United News)—President Coolidge does not intend to take any action to lift the bar the state department has placed to the entrance into this country of the Countess Katherine Karolyi, wife of the former president of Hungary.

Although it is increasingly manifest that the exclusion of the titled foreigner will be made a subject of congressional debate and possible attempts to repeal the section of the immigration law under which she was denied admission, the furore created by the state department's action has left the president unruffled.

The president has declined to be drawn into the fight, although he has listened to Ralph Beaver Strassburger, Pennsylvania politician and publisher, who importuned the executive to direct the state department to enable the countess to enter the country as his guest.

SAILOR THANKS MARINE FOR ELOPING WITH WIFE

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 23.—The only case on record where a sailor thanked a marine was brought to light here Friday.

B. B. Beasley, former sailor, was in danger of being sentenced to prison on bigamy charges, before he told the judge that his first wife had eloped with a marine.

"That marine saved your life," the judge told Beasley. "I will annul your first marriage and marry you over again to the present Mrs. Beasley."

Beasley publicly thanked the marine, thus setting a noble precedent for sailors.

MINISTERS HAVE FINE TIME "STEPPING OUT" AS PRESIDENT'S GUESTS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—(United News)—The seven congregational ministers who are guests at the white house are having a fine time.

Just how they are being treated was described by Dr. Nehemiah Boynton, of New York city, one of the seven, who are here attending the church council meeting.

"We are having the time of our lives," he said.

"Imagine the memories our little group of Congregational ministers are storing up, the inspiration they are gaining to take back to their communities.

"Each of us is being treated like a member of the family. Every move our hosts make and every word they utter is designed to make us feel at ease, to feel like 'home folks' and it is not hard to fall in with their plans.

"We have been taken on a tour to visit the white house pets, introduced to various celebrities, and are otherwise being entertained royally."

"We want is the divorce," Johnson quoted Miss Bennett as saying to Frey at that time.

Jailed Because She Married

Because Emily Leutner, 18, ran away and was married to Harry Jensen, 21, while still a ward of California juvenile courts, she has been committed to a state institution while Jensen dashes from one lawyer to another trying to speed up his legal efforts to release his wife.

'PROTESTANT' CLUNG TO BY CHURCH HEADS

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 23.—The house of deputies of the Protestant Episcopal church has voted down the proposal to drop the word "protestant" from the name of the church, and to substitute the word "American."

Bishop John Gardner Murray, presiding bishop-elect, appointed as his assistant assessor during his six-year term, Bishop Williams Cabell Brown of Virginia.

The action of the deputies to refuse the official burial services for suicides, unbaptized infants and excommunicated persons, was softened by the bishops, who changed the wording to read that only "those who have departed in Christ" may receive the official burial service.

WIFE FEARING BODILY HARM SEEKS DIVORCE

Bidwell Riddle, according to a divorce complaint filed by his wife, June Riddle, with Lloyd DeLap, clerk of the circuit court yesterday, is given to drinking intoxicating liquor.

Further, Mrs. Riddle sets forth, unless her husband is restrained by a court order, he will "harass and do her bodily harm."

The plaintiff, she, explains, is financially unable to support the family without assistance from the defendant. Mrs. Riddle asks the custody of the minor children.

No property rights are involved in the suit. The couple were married in Klamath Falls in 1916, according to the complaint.

REMAINS OF GIRL FOUND IN GRAVE

Fate of Beauty Parlor Maid Solved When Remains are Located By Posse

EUREKA, Calif., Oct. 23.—Doubt concerning the fate of Carmen Wagner, 18-year-old beauty parlor girl, whose companion on a hunting trip was murdered in the rugged mountain regions of Humboldt county, has been dispelled by discovery of the young woman's body.

She had been shot to death and her body placed in a shallow grave five miles from the spot where Henry Sweet, her fiance, had been slain. The hunting dog, which had accompanied her, was found dead nearby.

A party of deputy sheriffs, led by Under-Sheriff Reid, made the discovery. The information was telephoned here late Friday from a village sixty miles away by Gilbert Sutherland, a county supervisor, who had joined in hunting the solution of a mystery which has baffled authorities here since Sweet's body was found, two weeks ago.

Authorities believe that Sweet and the girl were killed by a man who still is hiding in the vicinity. A coroner has been called to remove Miss Wagner's body, and a posse of officers is beating its way systematically through a region in which it is believed the killed has taken refuge. Sweet and the girl had gone into the lonely coyote flat section, 62 miles southeast of here, in an automobile. They had stayed over night at a deserted mountain cabin. According to the sheriff's version of the killings, Sweet was slain the following morning. It is believed the killer kidnaped Miss Wagner and that she was shot during an attempted escape.

Nord to Assume New Scout Duties Nov. 1

Beginning on November 1 the Boy Scouts of the Klamath region will have the full time service of a capable scout executive in the person of Everett C. Nord, who, according to the local committee, has agreed to take up the work on that date. This arrangement has been made due to dissatisfaction with the previous plan, in which Melford and Klamath Falls have secured the services of Cecil A. Cook, who devoted a portion of his time to each community. The committee feel that the importance of the work justifies the employment of a full time leader, and are expecting good things from Mr. Nord's leadership.

Mr. Nord has given largely of his time and interest to the scout work without pay in various communities, and has taken the course for leaders, so combines the practical with a good knowledge of the theoretical. The boys know him already as a good fellow, and will hail with delight the word that he is to be their leader.

Willos Reaffirms Murray Testimony

SALEM, Oct. 23.—(United News)—Testimony that guards at the state prison here were reckless with their guns, and frequently fired at prisoners in the yard or confined in the "bull pen" was given by James Willos, on the witness stand in the circuit court here. Willos is one of the three defendants charged with the murder of John Sweeney, prison guard, who was killed in the prison break August 12. Ellsworth Kelley is on trial, together with Willos at this time.

Willos' testimony was intended to show that conditions at the prison were such as to drive the prisoners to attempt an escape at any risk.

On cross examination, it was brought out that Willos had done time at San Quentin, Calif., and in the Oklahoma reformatory before coming to the Oregon prison.

DIVIDING LINE DRAWN

LONDON, Oct. 23.—The dividing line between the years of war and the years of peace was drawn at Locarno, according to Austen Chamberlain, British foreign secretary, who intimated that European disarmament is in the offing, in a conference with newspaper men Friday. "We reached agreements which do not, indeed make war impossible," Chamberlain said, "but which do render war infinitely less probable than it otherwise would have been."
