DAINTY THIEF STEALS FORTY AUTOS IN EAST

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Five feet tall, and dainty, wearing a man's slap-down beaver hat, Miss Jacqueline Rogers, 23, called the "Princess of Wales of Greenwich Village," due to a resemblance to the original, Friday stood nonchalantly in a Brooklyn court while she was arraigned on charges of stealing approximately 40 automobiles at the rate of one a day. Her arrest, the police say, was caused by Edward Kenyon, after his arrest Tuesday, wrote out a signed confession implicating the girl.

The confession said, according to detectives, that the girl did the stealing and that he sold cars. "Kenyon never squealed. Don't let that worry you," she declared later. She told Detective Bushy who arrested her, "that all that Kenyon ever did in these jobs was to keep a record of how many cars we took, and to sell them somewhere in Jamaica."

JAIL WOMEN TURN ON REV. CLIFFORD

Chaplain to Appear in Light Of Accused As Return for Moral Activities

THOMASTON, Me., Oct. 30.—(United News)—The Rev. Percy J. Clifford, Methodist chaplain at the state prison here, was shifted from the role of accuser to accused Friday at Gov. Ralph O. Brewster's inquiry into the alleged irregularities at the prison.

Chaplain Clifford, who told the governor and prison commissioners that women prisoners in solitary confinement had engaged in "petting parties" with male prisoners, was openly charged by three women inmates with having himself made advances to them.

In a letter to Warden Lester D. Eaton the women gentled all charges of moral laxity made by Chaplain Clifford and declared he was the only man who ever faulted them. "If we girls up here are prisoners, I think we should have a chance to protect our names from the untruthful things Mr. Clifford has published about us," the letter said.

"No one of us girls said that we had anything to do with a man in solitary. It is a deliberate lie on Mr. Clifford's part."

Chaplain Clifford denied the women's charges and said he hoped his wife, matron at the prison, would be called to substantiate his testimony alleging intimacy between prisoners and some of the women in solitary confinement.

Coolidge Plans on Definite Relief Law

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—President Coolidge intends to make a definite recommendation to congress on farm relief legislation, it was stated at the white house Friday.

The president has not yet decided on the legislation he will ask, it was said. He is holding conferences with Secretary of Agriculture Jardine in an effort to frame a program.

BOARD MEMBER RESIGNS.

SALEM, Oct. 30.—(United News)—Gov. Pierce admitted Friday afternoon that he had received the resignation of W. G. McLaren of Portland as a member of the state parole board. The Governor said he expected to "draft a friend" to fill the vacancy on the board caused by McLaren's resignation.

COLD BEATS JAIL BREAKERS

BLAIR, Neb., Oct. 30.—Driven to surrender by the intense cold weather, John Simmons, 18, and Harold Allen, 20, jail breakers, gave themselves up to authorities today.

$25 COFFIN, FLOWERS AND ALL ARE GIVEN LITTLE OL' RED HEN

ROSEVILLE, Cal., Oct. 30.—A coffin costing $25 holds the remains of Bobbie Gray, a white leghorn hen, and a generous bouquet of flowers marks the grave. "She is just like a human," said Miss Etta Wilkerson, after the burial Friday. "I loved her so."

Hallowe'en Is Here Again, Pa, Ma and the Cops to Keep Wary Eye on Just Kids

If you find your auto tires hang upon a poplar tree—
It's Hallowe'en.
If your front gate from the church tower's swinging gallantly—
It's Hallowe'en.
Or if the ghosts come tick-a-tack-ing and you hear an awful screech—
It's Hallowe'en.
Here's hoping all those things that happen will happen to—
Your Hallowe'en, not mine.
Tonight's the night, Kids! tonight's the night!
While not wishing anyone any hard luck, Old John Neighbors yesterday remarked that he hoped the kids will pick on some other section of the old town tonight.
Not taking any chance on the playful ingenuity of ingenious kids all Ford owners tonight are taking their flyovers to bed with them.

It's no nice thing, one citizen remarked last evening to have to climb a tree to pick your Ford before going to church on Sunday morning, or to find one of your tires waving at you from the branches of a tall and unpopular poplar.
However, authorities are asking the cooperation of parents to the extent of warning children of the fact that while fun is fun, damage is damage, and the carrying too far of just fun, oftentimes results in uncomfortable and expensive experiences for Pa and Ma and painful reminders to kids, that tall timber from little switches grow.

BABIES BORN UNABLE TO BREATHE MAY LIVE AS SERT PHYSICIANS

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.—New-born babies who are not breathing may have their respiration started and their lives saved by quick-witted doctors, who blow breath into their lungs. This is because of the recent recognition of the restorative value of carbon dioxide, which is contained in the exhaled breath.

Public school physiology is accustomed to teach that we live on the oxygen we breathe in, and breathe out a waste product, carbon dioxide. But medical science has recently learned that the so-called poisonous carbon dioxide has many uses. Brand new examples of this were brought out at the closing session of the Eastern Anaesthetists' association here Friday afternoon.

GEESE BELIEVED FREE OF MALADY

Federal Game Officials Hold Opinion Smaller Ducks Only Are Dangerous

That geese are not affected by the malady which has killed thousands of ducks in the Tule lake district, and that few mallards and canvasback ducks, have fallen victims to the disease, is the joint opinion of Rudolph Snyder, inspector, bureau of animal industry, department of agriculture, of Sacramento, Calif., and George Tonkin, United States game warden, district of California, who returned to Klamath Falls yesterday after an inspection of the infected area.

While conditions affecting ducks, particularly sprigs, wiggon, spoon-bill, teal and coots, remain practically the same as heretofore, the officials bring glad news to the hunters of Klamath Falls when they report that geese are apparently not affected.

OFFICIALS SEEK TO LOCATE PARENT HERE

Klamath county officials were last night endeavoring to locate J. C. Riley, believed to be located in this vicinity. His son, Otto Riley, died in Salem, Ore., yesterday evening, according to telegraphic word received here.

The remains, it was said, are at the Terwilliger funeral home in Salem. The father is urged to get in touch with the Klamath county coroner immediately.

PUP IS REWARDED FOR GALLANTRY IN NOT STEALING MILK FROM KITTEN BY LOCAL MAN

That it pays to be a "gentleman" no matter if one's stomach is so empty it just hangs on the ridges of one's backbone, is evidently the belief of a small mongrel stray, who happened along the alley to Fourth street between Main and Pine, where The Milk House is located.

Just in front of The Milk House was a plate of milk. It had just been put there by the genial proprietor for a hungry kitten when the stray and also hungry pup happened along.

KLAMATH COUNTY HEALTH AVERAGES HIGH, IS REPORT

State Head of Woman Clubs And Hygiene Arrives On Visit Here

After listening for three minutes to Mrs. Saldie Orr-Dunbar, one of the state's most active figures in health and club work, members of the chamber of commerce, the Rotary club and allied organizations may well take an hour and write home to the folks about the county of Klamath.

For Mrs. Dunbar, who is registered at the White Pelican hotel, declared last night that those who write "Klamath Falls" as their return address, may well be congratulated on health conditions as they exist in this part of the country. High tributes to the county health unit, of which Dr. G. S. Newsum is the director, were paid by Mrs. Dunbar as she arranged notes on a speech which she is to deliver Monday evening at a banquet to be given at 8:30 o'clock at the chamber of commerce. Mrs. Dunbar is to be the principal speaker, and the general public is invited.

Mrs. Dunbar is executive secretary of the Oregon State Tuberculosis association, and is also president of the Women's Federated clubs. She has devoted years of her life to the improvement of (Continued on Page Two)

MOTION TO SET ASIDE VERDICT IS DENIED

Counsel for T. M. Owens, charged with a statutory offense, played its last card yesterday in Circuit Judge A. L. Leavitt's court—and lost. At least it will be the last card unless defense counsel calls for a new deal.

Mr. Owens, accused of being criminally intimate with a 17-year-old girl, yesterday filed a motion to set aside the jury's verdict. The motion was denied by Judge Leavitt.

This morning at 10 o'clock Owens will be arraigned for sentence. His alleged affair with Miss Emily Hudack, prosecuting witness, was said to have taken place near Pelican City some time ago.

In the motion to set aside the verdict, counsel for the defense contended that evidence adduced constituted a crime different from the one with which the defendant was accused.

PRIVATELY OWNED AUTOS HURT RAIL TRANSPORT CLAIM

Figures Are Quoted By Officials

LOSSES HELD COSTLY

Records Produced Show Reduction in Ticket Sale Since 1924

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Privately owned automobiles have done more to reduce the profits of railroads in the last few years than anything else, Conrad Spens, vice president in charge of traffic of the Burlington railroad testified Friday before the interstate commerce commission's special rate hearing here.

"It is almost impossible for the railroads to meet this new competition of the automobile," said Spens.

Asked whether the roads were doing anything about it, the witness said bus lines had been established by his road in Colorado as an experiment.

"We also are trying trucks as a means of meeting the freight competition in some localities," Spens said. "We are doing this as our only alternative. We cannot reduce rates."

As an example of how automobiles are hurting railroad business Spens said that in May, 1924 his road sold 1400 tickets between Menmouth, Ill., and Burlington, Iowa. He said that in May, 1925, after a hard automobile road connecting the two cities had been completed only 250 tickets were sold.

The Burlington official gave this testimony on cross-examination by representatives of shipping interests who are opposing the five per cent rate increase applied for by 73 western railroads.

KELLY-WILLOS TO HANG JANUARY 8

Defense Attorney Given Until December 26 to File Bill Of Exceptions

SALEM, Oct. 30.—(United News)—Ellsworth Kelley and James Willos, convicts, this morning were sentenced by Circuit Judge Percy R. Kelly to be hanged January 8 for the murder of John Sweeney, prison guard, of which crime the two were found guilty by a jury Monday.

Tom Murray, alleged leader of the prison break August 12 in which Sweeney and J. M. Holman, guards, were killed, and who was charged with having fired the shot that killed Sweeney, is under sentence to hang December 15.

Will R. King, attorney for the three men, has announced his intention of carrying the fight to the supreme court. He was granted until December 26 to file his bill of exceptions in the Kelly-Willos case.

Student Unconscious After Rough Hazing

PUEBLO, Colo., Oct. 30.—(United News)—A pair of 30 inch Oxford lags that were so rudely torn from the chilly shanks of Dale Zechrist, a high school student here, may result in the wholesale expulsion of several upper classmen, precipitated an investigation which Police authorities while admitting that they had had little success so far in their probe, are hopeful that the usual "aquealer" on pranks of students will come to the fore with the desired information.

Zechrist was found unconscious on the school grounds a half an hour after he had worn his new pair of wide pants to classes. The Oxford lags were waving from the top of a nearby tree.

STUDENTS' AD STARTS FURORE

Dance Partner Wanted Item Answered By Co-eds Who Bernie Panicky

PALO ALTO, CAL., Oct. 30.—Advertising for dance partners in the campus newspaper brought quick results for two men students at Stanford university. But they were not the results that had been anticipated.

The men had advertised for "blind dates" for a college dance. Box numbers at the newspaper office were mentioned. Five co-eds answered the lure, offering themselves as partners at the social function.

The episode attracted such attention about the campus that the five girls became panic stricken and told the women's council about it. The advertisers were haled before this group and informed that their actions didn't fit in with the ethics of the occasion, and that they would be barred from attending the dance in question regardless of the partners they brought along.

JEWETT TO WAGE WAR ON COYOTES

Stockmen to Meet Biological Survey Man With View to Fighting Pests

To the uninitiated of the Klamath country, the wall of the coyote means but little.

But to Stanley Jewett, head of the predatory animal control division of the state biological survey, who, with Charles G. Poole, who holds a similar position with the state of California, it means much.

Both of the men arrived in Klamath Falls yesterday and will confer with local stockmen with a view to providing ways and means to exterminate or rather control—the coyote menace.

"The situation in Klamath county is bad, but is much improved over what it was a short while ago," Mr. Jewett said. "Even now the coyote is causing sheepmen thousands of dollars loss each year."

Poison, traps, and guns are the weapons used in ridding a country of coyotes, Mr. Jewett said. He is optimistic about the results to be obtained locally.

A meeting of stockmen with Mr. Jewett and Mr. Poole is to be held in the basement of the courthouse this morning. At that time the situation will be thoroughly discussed. A large attendance of persons interested is expected.

The goal of the sheepmen, at present, Jewett said, is to rid the country of coyotes between Klamath Falls and the California line.

Mr. Jewett, prior to his arrival here, has been visiting stockmen in several counties of eastern Oregon. He expects to return to his headquarters at Portland some time this afternoon or, possibly, Sunday.

Mr. Jewett has been in charge of his division for a number of years, and is well acquainted with the work in which he is at present engaged.

SISSON STATION TO BE MT. SHASTA ON AND AFTER NOVEMBER 10

REDDING, Cal., Oct. 30.—(United News)—Residents in the vicinity of Mount Shasta have been advised by the Southern Pacific company that the name of the railroad station there will be changed from Sisson to Mount Shasta. The change will be effective on November 10.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(United News)—"Send me to the electric chair—that would be easier," yelled 80-year-old Henry Weiss, when a Brooklyn court ordered him to pay $15 a week alimony to his wife, Lena, 69.

TAX REDUCTIONS ON FIRE ARMS TO BE GIVEN FLOOR

Plea of Hunters To Be Heard

THEATRE LEVY CITED

Coffee, Sugar and Smokers Articles Among List Seeking Relief

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(United News)—The spoken drama is practically extinct in certain sections of the country due, largely, to the 10 per cent admission tax. William A. Brady, theatrical producer, told the house ways and means committee Friday.

"Production costs have mounted so greatly in the last few years that it is impossible to send road companies to many sections of the country," Brady declared.

"The drama is educational as well as recreational and there is no justification for continuance of the tax."

Brady criticized movie representatives who recently appeared before the committee and asked only that admission fees under $1.50 or $2 be exempt. He contended that all admissions should be freed from taxation.

W. R. Craig, New York coffee and sugar exchange, asked the committee to repeal the present brokerage tax and the stamp tax of one cent on $100 transactions. Representative Bond, republican, of New York, sought repeal of the tax on cigar and cigarette holders.

T. Gilbert Pearson, national association of audubon societies, opposed removal of the tax on fire arms as had been requested by hunters.

Saturday the committee will hear former Representative Frank Mondell and James B. Colt, of Boston, Mass. Mondell will make recommendations generally for tax reduction and Colt will seek repeal of the estate tax.

Wife Fasts 13 Days Then Swallows Acid

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 30.—(United News)—Believing that her husband was unfaithful, Mrs. J. A. Pike, fasted for 13 days and when that didn't cure him in her opinion, she broke her fast with a bottle of poison.

Neighbors found Mrs. Pike screaming and writhing on the floor in her home Friday. On the table was a note describing her fast and telling of her decision to end her life.

She is in a critical condition at St. Luke's hospital.

GANGSTERS SENTENCED

TAMPA, Fla., Oct. 30.—Lester Gildra, 32, and John Kenney, 23, members of the Albert House gang of Indiana, were sentenced to twenty years in prison Friday.

They were convicted Thursday of robbing the Knight and Waldhard hardware store. House faces sentences totalling 70 years imprisonment.
