

BOXING CARD IS FILLED FOR 18TH

Matchmaker Sylvester Lines Up List of Good Mixers Week from Wednesday

After scratching pretty nearly all the hair off the top of his head Matchmaker Johnnie Sylvester has completed his fight card, settled on the date and everything is sitting pretty for a humdinger of an evening for the fight fans.

In the first place the card will be held on the evening of November 15 in the Grand Opera House at Astoria.

The card is finally signed up as follows:

Johanna Trambitas, of Portland vs. Ed Starkey, of Klamath Falls, 10 rounds, 140 pounds, main event. Semi-main event, Wilbur Harrington vs. Jack Crim, 6 rounds, 140 pounds.

Preliminary, Bobby Allen vs. Tommy Murphy, 4 rounds, 140 pounds.

Preliminary, Henry Burke vs. Jimmy Fleming, 4 rounds, 140 pounds.

Trambitas and Starkey fought on the last card, the decision going to Starkey on a foul. All the fans wanted to see the fight finished and keen interest prevailed to see how this will come out. It is believed Trambitas did not appreciate fully the fighting ability of Starkey and may be looked upon to put up a harder battle, or at least shift his tactics when he goes on again here Nov. 15.

Trambitas was scheduled to fight in Seattle last night and will have plenty of time to recover for his battle with Starkey.

Harrington and Crim proved a strong attraction during their last battle to a draw and it is expected the fight will go to a decision this time, as both are a little slow at each other when it comes to ring honors.

Bobby Allen and Tommy Murphy in the preliminaries and Henry Burke and Jimmy Fleming are looked to start the evening with an interesting exhibition, as all are well liked by the fans.

HI GRID TEAM IS READY FOR GAME

Alturas Warriors to Line Up On Local Field In Hard Battle

Send the California Hills bears back home over the Siskiyou feeling like they wished they weren't where they were!

That is the ambition underlying the feeling of Klamath Falls against the visiting Alturas team which they will meet in mortal combat this afternoon at two o'clock on the local gridiron.

If there was a lack of pep during the week in the game, which is not counted in the league schedule, it was replaced involuntarily by the students who rallied on the streets last night in their last football rally and serpentine of the season. Led by Jack Ted King, members of the boys and girls, wading in and out between unmade paths, and honking cars, opened to the little world at Klamath Falls, the game to be played on the gridiron was this.

Zed Benson will be out with his swift and powerful legs.

Little "Abe" Clark, the 145-pounder, that has shown a little more this year, is not out by any means.

Frank Hill is coming out in his usual battling form, and will show the visitors the folly of playing against Klamath.

"Big" Bill Swisher laid his line of defense last night before he went to sleep in dream football dreams, and he planned a smasher.

Forrest Colson, Joe Miller, Smith, Johnson, Connor, Oliver, "Old Badger" Maguire, "Pat" Walsh, Cofer and even "Cap" Tansley are all on their toes waiting for "Dutch" French to send them out on the field.

There is blood in the eye of Klamath. Even the boys who have had to sit on the benches this year will be in a hurry to back up their fellowmen who will battle in pure for the glory that is Klamath's glory. Be there! Sincere Alturas!
