

"Let us have faith that right makes might, and in that faith let us to the end dare to do our duty as we understand it."—Abraham Lincoln.

Harvesting Time

Advertisers Centering On Settlement

Following closely upon the railway activities in and around Klamath Falls, which has attracted wide attention throughout America and in some parts of the British Isles and Europe, by reason of mention made concerning wide areas of as yet undeveloped land, comes announcement that an organized advertising campaign for more settlers in the west is being undertaken by transcontinental railways.

With adjournment of Southern Pacific traffic representatives, who convened for the purpose of discussing settlement problems of the west, it was announced recently that among the advertising schemes of those rail officials was included not only settlers, but tourist and industrial development of the Pacific northwest.

During the meeting those representatives gathered from far parts of the world, informed those assembled that attention had been brought to bear on the Pacific northwest more than any other section of the country. They used the expression that the Pacific northwest was attracting world-wide attention. These men know whereof they speak. It is in the ordinary every-day regime of their business life.

Announcement by them of an organized concentration toward developing the northwest would indicate that Klamath county and this city might reasonably expect to benefit in no small measure in the harvest of progress which is bound to follow in coming years.

A "Bathing Suit" Home

Florida Mecca for Monied Northerners

Reports that the so-called boom of Florida lands, is the result of a desire on part of Americans to get something for little or nothing, appears to be repudiated somewhat by the class of people who are buying in the southern state. Mostly, if railway ticket agents' records count for anything, these people are mostly that class of businessman who has gathered together a surplus of cash which he wishes to invest in furtherance of physical comfort. In other words, a great majority of the buyers of Florida property are purchasing not in the light of an investment, but rather as a place wherein to spend a brief period away from the chill blasts of northern winters.

True, there are possibly a number of investors, but these will soon drop off as demand slumps with the settlement of districts attractive to the man seeking winter recreation. Some of the investors will lose, some will gain, but the fact appears evident that the well-to-do and rich home builder, and not the investor, is responsible for the rapid sales of real estate in Florida. It is no poor man's country, and those with but a few thousand dollars may not hope to do anything with such a sum there.

Fixing Up Every Hole But the Worst One

Sunny Dick Says

To the flapper who borrowed a match from me yesterday in front of the pool hall:
A barrel of powder.
A bushel of rouge.
Never yet concealed
The breath of booze.

The House Ways and Means Committee Lightens Tax on Small Incomes. Married Men Under $3,500 Exempted, Single Men Under $1,500.—After only a few weeks of deliberation the House carpenters have neatly remodeled every detail of this bill, but wait until the Senate butchers kick, punch, cut, inflate, manure and enamel it. When the remains are returned the House won't recognize them.

Detroit Boy of Seven Shoots and Kills Sister, Five—It will be a miscarriage of justice if the parents are not placed in a reformatory.

Assistant Manager Cotton Concern Found Dead in Tia Juana With Cracked Skull. Left Home in Georgia on Business Trip.—Strange what odd places "business trips take one to. Hard to explain sometimes, yet it can be done—generally.

Episcopal Chure hto Have Pot Luck Dinner Thursday in Honor of New Rector.—Most timely affair. The Rev. Thomas is known to be baching here pending the arrival of his wife and family.

Man Caught Planning on Shooting Mussolini at Armistice Day Speech. Country Being Combed by Police for Accomplices.—Although this man protests that he was alone in his attempt, the dictator is making full use of this to openly "clean out" all his enemies in Italy. "Taint safe to be anything but a friend to this bird, Mussolini.

By the size of the sign before the fine new American Building now under construction advertising the name of each sub-contractor with it, the stranger within our gates might jump to the conclusion that each one was donating his services free gratis.

Among the things that increase desire are education and the installment plan.—Atlantic City Press.

The picnic season is over now, except for the chap who is a widard at end run.—Rochester Times Union.

Children's Pictorial Cross Word Puzzle

Running Across.
Word 1. What made Aladdin's fortune in the Arabian Nights' tale?
Word 4. A country in Asia.
Word 5. A barnyard fowl Plural.

Running Down.
Word 1. A fastening for a door, usually operated by a key.
Word 2. The American battleship that was sunk in Havana harbor, causing the Spanish American war.
Word 3. A quantity of matter that sticks together. Also an eastern state. Abbreviation.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE ANSWERED

SHOEMAKER
SEVIE
GREENLAND

Dinner Stories

He had opened up a fish market and he ordered a new sign painted of which he was very proud. It read: "Fresh Fish for Sale Here."

"What did you put in the word 'fresh' for?" said his first customer. "You wouldn't sell them if they weren't fresh, would you?"

He painted out the word, leaving just "Fish for Sale Here." "Why do you say 'here'?" asked his second customer. "You're not selling them anywhere else, are you?"

So he rubbed out the word "here."

"Why use 'for sale'?" asked the next customer. "You wouldn't have fish here unless they were for sale, would you?"

So he rubbed out everything but the word "Fish," remarking:

"Well, nobody can find fault with that sign now, anyway."

A moment later another customer came in.

"I don't see what's the use in having that sign 'Fish' up there," said he, "when you can smell 'em a block away."

And that's why the fish market has no sign.

They had walked halfway through the park at a fast pace. Finally they sank down side by side on a bench in an out-of-the-way corner. Apparently they were alone.

Both of them were highly excited. She covered her face with her hands and shuddered. "Oh, Jack, this is dreadful, terrible!" "Awful," he agreed, wiping the perspiration from his brow.

"To think of the loss of ideals, hope, maybe even life itself," and she began to sob gently.

"Come, come, let's not think about it. Maybe things aren't as —"

At this point the park policeman, who had been attracted, butted in. "What the trouble, little girl, can I help you?"

"We, why, no, I guess not. We were just thinking how terrible it would be if we had never met."

Heart & Home Problems

By Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson

TELLS HER HE DOESN'T BELIEVE IN MARRIAGE

Is this woman making a fool of herself over a man?

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been keeping company with a young man for over a year and a half, and he seems to think a lot of me, but he is queer at times. I think a lot of him. I don't think I could love anybody like I do him, for he sure has been good to me. I have two boys, one is 10 years old, and the other is 15. He is awfully good to the boys, and the boys like him. He is very strict with them. He makes them mind. But he does not believe in marriage. Maybe he goes with me just to pass his time, or do you think he really loves me? I am 37 and he is 32. He would like to help me, but his salary is so small that he cannot help me and that is the reason why we cannot get along. Please advise me what to do about it. LONESOME.

Your letter is rather vague. And you don't say whether you were widowed or divorced. If there is no likelihood of him marrying you, and it appears not, I think it would be wise for you to discourage his attentions, since such close friendship is likely to be misunderstood by others. When he tells you that he doesn't believe in marriage, he means that he has no intention of marrying you. So what is there to be done about it?

"INQUIRING FRIEND" GETS REALNESS VIEWS ON BASHFULNESS AND DIVORCE

A young man who signed himself "Inquiring Friend" asked me to help him overcome his bashfulness. I offered suggestions, and asked readers to make others. A young woman writes:

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young woman 23 years old, and I find there are so few clean, good, young men. Men seemingly prefer the flapper who smokes, boasts she doesn't know how to cook, and would not have children if she were married. Surely, "Inquiring Friend" need not be bashful. One who has such high ideals and evidently is highly educated, should be at ease any place. If he will forget self, and think more how to put his companion at ease and show her a good time, he would

STEP-WORD PUZZLE

Copyright, 1925, King Features Syndicate, Inc. Great Britain and other countries where the word "STEP-WORD" or of the design, is used, is hereby prohibited, except by arrangement with the King Features Syndicate, Inc.

By ARTHUR WYNNE,
Originator of the Modern Cross-Word Puzzle.

Get a strip of paper four or five inches in length and the word STRANGER. Then cut the letters apart. You will have the letter "E" in "stranger," on the top step of today's puzzle, is in a heavy-bordered square. That indicates the letter to be discarded. Rearrange the other seven letters so that the addition of one more letter, which you must supply yourself, will spell an eight-letter word corresponding to the definition.

- DEFINITIONS
- 1—The makers of legal grants
- 2—Appearing in a theatrical show as the headliner
- 3—The condition of being more indignant, more vexed and more inflamed than anybody else
- 4—Enjoying a sumptuous repast during a festival or joyous anniversary
- 5—Absolutely the most imaginative or attractive
- 6—Irregular associations of partisans; generally a party within a party
- 7—A botanical term meaning "turned inward toward the axis"
- 8—Pertaining to the eyes, to the nose, to the mouth, or to the doctrine of a man