

Petting Parties in Pasadena Quoted at $1 Per Pet in Court

PASADENA, Nov. 12.—"Promiscuous petting" cost 24 Pasadena high school students one dollar each when the scholars were arraigned in police court Friday.

Thirteen other students, caught in a round-up of "necking" parties, Thursday, failed to appear in answer to a police summons, and will be brought into court on bench warrants.

The court, on recommendation of Police Chief Kelly, ordered parking space on the school lot for the students' automobiles, in order to "preserve the decency of the neighborhood."

The youngsters were specifically accused of "promiscuous petting" in parked automobiles during the lunch hour.

ADMINISTRATOR NAMED FOR CAMPBELL ESTATE

Probate proceedings began in the estate of the late John P. Campbell, deceased with A. F. Graham appointed as administrator.

The estate was valued at $15,000 of personal property in Klamath Falls. According to the papers filed much real property is left by Campbell in Del Norte county and in Crescent City, California. Miss Alice Campbell the daughter of the deceased, aged 21, petitioned the court. Campbell died intestate.

FALSE ALARM
Down Main street last night sped a fire truck. And it sped only to find that, at its destination, there was no blaze.

Alarmed by smoke which was discovered in the Club cafe, between fifth and sixth streets, an employe of the restaurant telephoned for the fire-fighters. She was under the impression that the smoke came from Hale's store, next door, but persons who investigated said it was from a stove in the basement of the American National bank. There was no damage reported.

own work, and a startlingly large percentage of the homes are not equipped with electrical or other convenient modern appliances to simplify housework.

Through such an industrial revolution in the home, more time could be found by homemakers to relieve the monotony of their work.

To such an end the federation of women's clubs is preparing to ask congress for recognition of the profession of home-making in the next census. The government census takers hereafter, should the federation's program go through, would list the mechanical equipment of the home, along with that of the farm and factory.
