MRS. HANKS IS HONORED TUESDAY
Mrs. Marion Hanks, present worthy matron of the Eastern Star, Aloha chapter of Klamath Falls, proved the inspiration for a surprise party given on Tuesday evening at the Hanks residence on Pine street.
Mrs. Hanks is completing a year's service in the chair and the honor, those to honor her included the elective and appointive officers. An engraved silver percolator was presented to Mrs. Hanks during the evening.

MRS. LYNCH IS
HOLIDAY BRIDE
Friends of Mrs. Geraldine Lynch and Henry Cox of Merrill, received a pleasant surprise when they came to the home of Mrs. Lynch at 11:00 o'clock Thanksgiving evening to partake of a turkey dinner, and discovered that the real reason for the gathering was the wedding of the well known and popular Merrill couple. After the guests had assembled the bridal party stepped out from another room and the ring service was read by Rev. Arthur L. Rice of Klamath Falls.
Following the ceremony the couple received the congratulations of their many friends after which all sat down to a turkey dinner.
Mr. Cox is a member of the firm of Cox Brothers, extensive grain farmers in the Tule lake region, and is widely known in the country where he has resided for many years. Mrs. Cox has also a large circle of friends who wish her well.
The couple will visit California for several weeks, leaving some time in December and returning in time for the spring work on the lake bed.

Feminisms By Annette Bradshaw

WHEN THE ANCESTRAL SNUFF-BOX FILLS A MODERN NEED

"Ada, dear, I expect to make a hit at the dance with this snuff-box. It's an heirloom, you know. And, don't tell anyone, I'm only carrying innocent powder in it."

Pelican hotel with fully 200 guests present during the evening.
The colors of the Shrine were used in the dining room and a harvest effect was created with the addition of sheaves of grain binding the pillars.
Several vaudeville numbers were introduced during the intermission.
The committee in charge of the affair included W. H. Grubbs, R. E. Crega, Ray Dunn, Tom Delsell and E. L. Cramblitt.

THANKSGIVING DINNER SERVED
Dr. and Mrs. E. D. Lamb proved interesting hosts on Thanksgiving day when they entertained for a number of guests at three-thirty dinner.
Following dinner, bridge was played late in the afternoon.
A centerpiece of beautiful roses added a lovely touch to the dinner table around which covers were laid for the following guests: Rev. J. Henry Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Seeley, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Kelly and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Jones and Miss Martha Jones, Mr. and Mrs. J. Perry Wells, Dr. and Mrs. E. D. Lamb and son Calvin Lamb.

DINNER DANCES IN WHITE PELICAN
Music for the dinner dances at the White Pelican hotel as well as the concerts on Sunday evenings will be furnished by Bud Lynch's White Pelican orchestra, a five piece combination, members of which played in some of the most prominent bands of University of Oregon at Eugene for several seasons past.
Instrumentation of the organization features piano, drums, saxophone and clarinet, double, trombone and banjo. Monte Ballou, banjolist and entertainer was featured last spring by the Pi-Id Pipers, the leading orchestra on the university campus that season and during the past summer was responsible to a great extent for the success of the Vagabonds, another popular band located at Eugene.

Robert Misner, trombonist, finished an engagement with George Weber's orchestra in the Eugene hotel just prior to coming to Klamath Falls. Other members of the White Pelican orchestra are experienced and capable musicians.
Dance music, furnished by the group is of the tingling variety developed on the campus of the American college. It is admirably adapted for standard varieties of dances as well as the more recent developments of the Charleston, Footloose, Clothespin Doll and other types.
