FIND THE BEAST

Klamath Falls Has Its Jungle

Years since Judge Ben Lindsey wrote his famous story of infamy. He called it "The Beast in the Jungle." The beast proved to be the gang rule then infesting Denver. Is there such a beast that now has Klamath Falls by the throat? The tracks would so indicate.

In Denver the tracks of the beast were everywhere, in the courts, schools and universities, and on up to the state government. Seldom could the beast be seen in the open. Gang rule is not that kind of a beast. It batters first by mob appeal, this being the first evidence of its presence. Its leadership is confined to those who can't think.

Successful so far, the beast will venture farther from its lair. In Klamath Falls it has dared to hide behind the grand jury, and rumors are still heard of what was attempted. The beast may mistake its own power, often. It may sometimes fall into the belief of what it preaches to the unthinking. It may more insidiously cover its own tracks by attacking the character of its enemies.

There was an election in Klamath Falls which the grand jury might have spent some time in investigating. Certainly there were enough street rumors to warrant a district attorney making a presentation of the case. Perhaps this election was investigated. But the grand jury was not permitted to spend all of its time on consideration of elections, the conduct of which has long been a joke in Klamath Falls.

No, there was the track of the beast.. A prominent judge was known to have been taken before the grand jury. He had, it appears, aroused the enmity of the beast, a personal enmity. But, as will happen, the grand jury was composed of dependable citizens. The beast could not get very far. Still the beast is not through. Daily on the streets of Klamath Falls is heard the whisper of this jurist having been before the grand jury.

Some good hunters are needed in Klamath Falls.

When the Southern Pacific kicks back with all or part of the $300,000 for which the Falls is now bonded, and Eberlein commences paying his own taxes, then can the water users and the citizens of Klamath Falls get together and celebrate.

In New York a back-alley cat decided to move her family of five kittens across the street. She was so well known that Officer Cudmore stopped all traffic and motor cars while she carried the five kittens safely across. The world pauses sometimes when the American sense of kindness is appealed to.

Those who advocate kindness to all living creatures, and are praying and working in the great national education campaign against all forms of cruelty to animals, should remember the humane societies in making their wills.

No wonder the Texas lawyers are out for the scalp of Governor Ma Ferguson. She has turned loose from the state penitentiary no less than 1,000 convicts in her ten months of office. The last governor in his whole term of office only granted seventeen pardons. After all the trouble lawyers, judges and police have to secure convictions it naturally rubs their for the wrong way to see their labors set at naught.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE ANSWERED

Dinner Stories

Bill had succeeded in getting a job in a motor factory. He did not even know himself how he got it, for he knew nothing at all about engineering.

On his second day at work he chanced to meet a friend of his who was equally ignorant.

"Hello, Joe," he said. "How are you getting along with your new job?"

"Oh, all right!" was the reply. "How are you getting along with your new job?"

"Great!" said Bill. "But it's terribly close work. Why, do you know, we have to work to a thousandth of an inch."

"Heavens, Bill! How many thousandths are there in an inch?"

"Millions, Joe, millions."

Mrs. Knowall took a great interest in the doings of all the neighbors. It was a great day for her when a new arrival came to the house on the opposite side of the street, and she watched with interest as the furniture was removed from the van and carried into the house.

"Well," said her husband, when he returned from business in the evening, "have you found out anything about the social standing of the new folks across the street?"

"Not yet," was the reply. "They have no car."

"No?"

"Yes, and they have no phonograph, no radio, and not even a grand piano. I can't imagine what they have got."

"Humph," remarked friend husband, sardonically. "Perhaps they have a bank account."

In these days of colorful embroideries it is often difficult to match colors or to find a new shade desired; but if one will, if using two strands, take one of a lighter and one of a darker shade than that desired, the two threads will blend in the stitches so well that they cannot be detected. This helps, too when one lacks just a little in finishing a piece of work for you can use odds and ends of other shades.

Does A. E. Thomas, secretary of the Klamath Wool Growers' association, as a sheepman, know the difference between "pulled" wool such as comes from the back of dead sheep, and live wool? Anyhow, he is now engaged in "pulling"—a task detested by all honest sheepmen.

Thomas pulled a little sack of wool recently, some of it black. He offered it to the evening contemporary, but the content was too odoriferous. The News awaited its appearance in vain, but no such wool could be pulled over the "Uplifter's" eyes.

At a gathering of a handful of wool growers near Merrill on Saturday evening, November 21, Thomas did this pulling. We quote:

"The following resolution was adopted and the secretary instructed to see that a copy was furnished to the Malin Progress, the Evening Herald and the Klamath Sun:

WHEREAS, we are informed that E. J. Murray, the Evening Herald and the Klamath Sun have incurred the vindictive hostility of certain corporations, the corporation mouthpiece, the Klamath News, and a small group of their sycophants, which includes not more than one or two business houses of Klamath Falls; therefore,

BE IT RESOLVED, by the Klamath Wool Growers' association, in regular meeting assembled, that we pledge our support to Mr. E. J. Murray and the Evening Herald and the Klamath Sun and shall withhold our patronage from all the business houses that make war upon them because they have stood and stand for the best development of the resources of Klamath basin and a square deal for the farmers; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that we inform our friends, the business men of Klamath Falls, not to expect business from us as a result of advertising in the above mentioned corporation mouthpiece, the Klamath News, and.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that we take this means of extending our sincere thanks to Mr. E. J. Murray and the Evening Herald for their unselfish and fearless devotion to the cause of the people of the county; and that we hereby publicly acknowledge our great obligation to Mr. Murray for the constant assistance he has freely given us without compensation or expectation, and to his own financial loss.

This suggestion from a young mother may help you in caring for your baby's rompers. She says: "As my baby has so many delicate shades of rompers I find it very convenient to take the regular soap dye and melt it with enough water to make a thin paste. Put this in a jar or bottle and label it the color. It is as handy as blueing on wash day. I merely dissolve the liquid dye in water to the desired shade and dip his rompers. They are always a pretty shade and look like new."

L. B. H. Stevenson, secretary of The Klamath News Publishing company, depose and say that the following are the holders of the entire issue of capital stock of The Klamath News Publishing company, a corporation:

BYRON HURD NATE OTTERBEIN WALTER STROENACH B. H. STEVENSON.

That no others are financially interested in any manner whatsoever; that no person other than those named above, no corporation, no company, nor any individual or individuals have any financial interest in any manner in The Klamath News Publishing company. Further that no corporation, no company, nor any individual other than those above named has any control over the policies of this newspaper in any manner whatsoever. Any statements to the contrary, either implied or otherwise, are false and misleading.

B. H. STEVENSON, Secretary, Klamath News Publishing company. Attest: Walter West, notary public in and for Klamath county, Oregon. My commission expires February 2, 1929.

PARENTS WHO WOULD HER MAKE FRIENDS LAUGH AT HER SHE HANST ANY

Parents who deny their right to have companionship in the years are acting very A young girl writes:

Dear Mrs. Thompson, eight lived on the farm year ago, when I graduated high school we moved. My parents disapproved parties or dates, saying school work should take my time until I was sixteen no friendships with boys few girl friends, none while in school. One's are supposed to be the days in one's life, mine a series of studies and find myself now at the never having had a date and no girl or boy friend to date with. I might that I roll my stockings bobbed hair, so I called old-fashioned. I little paint or lip-stick, usually simple, with who is in the same jam, is the only recreation enjoy. My parents often speak lightly of that I never have had that I am a most peculiar to care for young men not know that I would come attention from of the right character some day they will my chances for suitable friendships were I was younger. I want to marry and have a home of my own not for several years do not participate in although I would play golf, tennis and I am an ardent tennis have not had opportunity since coming to the city am self-sufficient and to go into business or fall. Is there any for me except through of a book?

Your parents may be that many do. However is not ruined, as you think it is. There is why you shouldn't be to gain all the friends you since you haven't had it I suppose that you are a dancer, and I'd suggest take instructions in a school of the better will enable you to be people, and in situations given by the school you able to make the acquaintance of still others. No doubt be possible for you to be one willing to rent a room for a few hours a day times a week. Through church you and your friends be able to make other acquaintances. The fact that you supporting makes it possible for you to do all this regardless of your parents' attitude.
