NEW YORK FIGHT PROMOTERS DEFY CITY COMMISSION

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—The cauliflower crop in these parts is threatened with a new blight. The harassed boxing judges and referees have organized and are defying the New York state boxing commission. The latter body recently decided that a fighter who wins the greater number of rounds in a bout shall be awarded the decision. Referees and judges were called before the fistie fathers Tuesday and given instructions to that effect. Forewarned, the officials had met earlier in the day and organized, the referees in one body, the judges in another. They protested vigorously to the commission against the amendment to the boxing rules. After hearing all the officials had to say, the commission told the judges and referees to run away and do as they had been told. "The commission has decided to have decisions by rounds instead of by points," said Chairman Farley. "The officials in the future will make their decisions conform to the new regulations." Whereupon several prominent officials announced they would do nothing of the sort. The boxing commission which has power to appoint or discharge officials at will, will check up closely on the result of its new plan. If an official renders a decision that is obviously in contradiction of the amendment he may expect to be removed.

Give your boy a Corona for Christmas

EVERY boy wants a typewriter and sooner or later, perhaps or business, must use one. Corona is just like all standard office machines in the matter of operation, and quality of work. It has the same keyboard, the same size stationary type and the same big and heavy rollers. Your boy's future is in this fine typewriter. Write to the Corona Co. in— or write us for free demonstration. Corona Typewriter Exchange 167. 419 Main packer took her place in European society at the countess this or the duchess that. Then followed columns of publicity and a season at Beauville or Monte Carlo. Mother was satisfied, daughter revelled in her new glory and the count bought a few race horses, paid his debts or settled down for a campaign at the green tables. Now, all is changed. Many such marriages ended in the divorce courts. For an American woman to possess a title no longer is a unique distinction. One whole section of many pages of a recent directory of Americans in France listed American women with titles. The attitude of the foreign press has changed. Instead of pleasant publicity, there now are caustic paragraphs to chronicle international weddings. The novelty of the thing is gone. An attractive bargain in titles consists of a central European duchy where a really respectable old family looks longingly to America for a rich bride for the son of the house. At present exchange rates $500,000 would suffice to return this family to its former political and social position. Among the hardest hit by the market slump are several lawyers in the opera district who did well at one time by acquainting the title with the fortune and preparing the papers to weld the two.
