

AIRCRAFT BOARD ISSUES REPORT

Offer Recommendations For Guidance of Infant Art of Aviation

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—President Coolidge's aircraft board has issued the report which is intended to guide congress in legislation to foster the infant art of aviation.

Col. William Mitchell's basic recommendation for a separate department of the air is rejected. The board appears to have disagreed with him on almost every question.

Instead, a long set of recommendations were made, all seeking to give greater recognition to aviation in the army, navy and civilian activities. Assistant secretaries of war, navy and commerce to give their full attention to aviation are recommended.

More generous treatment of flyers in the army and navy is urged and the army air service name would be changed to an air corps. Flyers would be added to the army general staff and the office of chief of naval operations and the bureau of navigation. Special medals and ribbons for heroism in the air are recommended. Extra pay for flying and life and accident insurance are suggested. Use of enlisted men as pilots is urged. The government is urged in making airplane purchases to keep the flow of orders even and to standardize designs in order to assist the aircraft industry.

As to the danger of air attack, the board says:

"No airplane capable of making a transoceanic flight to our country with a useful military load and of returning to safety is now in existence."

Fan To Be Custom For Stage Beauties

BERLIN, Dec. 2.—(United News)—"If you haven't costumes, give them fans."

This, in effect, was the police order issued to the management of Berlin's largest revue, "For You," following protests by several political parties against the undress of the chorus.

The police first ordered that the girls be "more carefully and completely garbed." No costumes were available immediately, and the management pleaded for time.

Finally, fans were suggested, and the police agreed with the provision that the fans should be extra large.

Dinner Dance Is Greatly Enjoyed

Dance lovers turned out in force last night to the call of music and eats during the dinner hour, and until midnight thereafter, at the White Pelican hotel. It was the first dinner dance of the winter social season at the hostelry. It was also the initial appearance there of a five piece organization, known as Bud Lynch's White Pelican orchestra. "Mean music," it was called by some who found their feet doing things, said feet never had done before. Encores were called for repeatedly as the latest sonorous dance numbers aroused enthusiasm. The affair was hailed by guests and management as an immense success.

Liquor Offenders Are Found Guilty

A jury filed slowly into Circuit Judge A. L. Leavitt's courtroom yesterday afternoon. Its foreman announced that the 12 men had found two defendants guilty.

The men are Harry Davis and Tom O'Connor, charged with unlawfully operating a moonshine distillery. They had been indicted recently by the grand jury.

Judge Leavitt announced that he will pronounce sentence on the pair Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

Davis and O'Connor were taken into custody some time ago in the Miller Hill district.

Library Officers To Hurry Building

Steps toward the building of the Klamath Falls public library were hastened Monday night, when officers for the library board were elected to assure a definite working standard.

Mrs. Jackson Kimball was elected president, with Mrs. A. M. Worden as vice-president; Mrs. J. F. Goeller, secretary, and E. M. Bubb as treasurer. The four officers with J. G. Belmont, will serve as an advisory board and board of directors.

Mrs. Kimball left yesterday for Portland and Salem, where she will confer with the state librarian, in order to complete the final plans, which were sent speedily along the way Monday night. The funds for the $50,000 library are clearly outlined and a re-print of the plans will be demanded from the architect in order to be ready with the meeting of December.

Officer Patterson Unearths Mystery

It was rather a perturbed chief operator at the telephone company, who, last night, located Patrolman Patterson.

"There's a receiver down on Wolford avenue, and it sounds as if some one were being strangled," the operator said.

Patrolman Patterson hopped his motorcycle and, immediately, the receipts of John D. Rockefeller began to increase. "Pat" gave her the gas.

patrolman entered the residence. "I found a little bulldog," Patterson explained later. "As far as I could learn, he had knocked over the telephone and it was his whimperings that could be heard."
