

GRANGE FLASHES OLD TIME FORM

Big Turn Out Watches Ex-Amateur Star Tear Up Professionals

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 3.—This town notoriously indifferent to football turned out some 2,000 strong Wednesday afternoon to see Harold "Red" Grange, and liked him.

The galloping ghost of the gridiron who deserted the University of Illinois to pursue a pot of gold between the goal posts of a football field performed with the Chicago Bears in his best style against the local Donnelly all-stars and the Bears won 39 to 6.

"Red" made four touchdowns, the first he has made since his debut with the professionals on last Thanksgiving day in Chicago. The skeptical sport world here saw the Wheaton ice man spin through their football stars like a comet across the firmament. Nothing could stop the sad-faced ex-college hero.

allege hurled at him by Jones.

There was a moment of amazed furor in the court room; then Lee Parsons (Davis, Alice's counsel, quieted the enraged negro and the trial proceeded.

"The greatest war of all time was fought over the hand of an evil woman," continued Mills, imperturbably. "My adversary must have read the Iliad, in which a mistress was taken from a great general."

"Admiral Nelson was the slave of a mistress. I do not need to go abroad. Think of Alexander Hamilton, possibly our greatest American. He with his great mind, was the slave of another man's wife."

"All that you have to do is to look at the great men who have fallen to the depths and been governed by mistresses."

Justice Morschauer will deliver his charge to the jury Friday morning, and a verdict may be rendered by nightfall. The jurors will answer seven questions affirmatively or negatively, after which the judge will decide whether an annulment should be granted.

The sensational upward swing has brought the usual rumors that some such hero of the market, perhaps Arthur W. Cutten, who made $5,000,000 in grain futures last year, is playing for a corner. Cutten has let it be known that he is a bear, but reports that he has turned bull are persistent in the Chicago exchange.

IRISH BOUNDARY PROBLEM SETTLED

LONDON, Dec. 3.—The boundary dispute between Ulster and the Irish free state, which set armies to moving in both sides of the frontier, has been settled.

Premier Baldwin announced this in the house of commons Thursday night. Representatives of the free state, Ulster and of his majesty's government signed the settlement in the premier's room in the house of commons shortly before the announcement was made.

Apparently, every one wins but Britain by the terms of the settlement which is understood to maintain the boundary as it now is drawn. To induce the Irish opponents to accept this status quo, Baldwin is believed to have agreed to a reduction of the contributions from Ulster and the free state to the imperial treasury.

Sir James Craig, Ulster premier, and President Cosgrave, of the Irish free state, dined together after the final conference and to this welcome peace omen are added Sir James' words:

"I am fully satisfied," he said.

TULANE UNIVERSITY MAY PLAY U. OF W.

CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—United News—The juiciest bit of information that rolled through the key hole of the hotel room here Thursday in which the coaches of the western conference held the first session of their annual meeting was that Tulane university will send its flashing football team to Pasadena, Cal., to battle Washington on New Year's day.

This rumor which has persisted for the last few weeks gathered momentum when Clark Shaughnessy coach of the Tulane team, appeared at the hotel. He admitted that he had come to confer with Jack Benefiel, graduate manager of athletics at the university of Oregon, who has been delegated to select a team sizable enough to meet the coast champions.

Teal told of the time when river navigation was the one means of communication and when a wagon carried on a steamboat was measured from the tip of its tongue to the tail gate in order to base rates upon the cubic measurement.
