

CONGRESSMEN TO REVOLT AGAINST LOBBY PRACTICE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—(United News)—Senators and congressmen are showing signs of revolt against organized attempts to exert political pressure on them in their legislative duties, a practice which has been growing in boldness and efficiency since the success of the Anti-Saloon league, one of the first to employ high-powered methods in a systematic way.

Evidence of this increasing irritation was given by the Texas delegation in congress when it indignantly defied the efforts of the so-called Texas tax clubs to force congressmen from that state to oppose the federal inheritance tax.

While senators and congressmen naturally are most anxious to know what the home folks want, and to give it to them, their self-respect rebels at some of the methods used against them. It always has been a question among senators and congressmen whether they should vote as their own consciences direct, or as their constituents demand. The art of bulldozing congress has reached such large and highly efficient methods that it is in danger of defeating its own ends. You can maul a helpless congressman around for a long time and he'll take it good naturedly, but overdo it at your peril.

This is the situation Dawes has precipitated by his threats to campaign against senators who block his plans for a vote on reform of the senate rules. That is why republicans chuckled as much as democrats at Pat Harrison's hazing of the vice president.

Just now a masterful attempt to influence the senate on the world court is being organized. Women are coming in train loads to lobby for the court. The demand for gallery seats is so excessive that extra benches must be added.

lated and the ring, a bright splash of white in the darkness, can be seen from every nook and corner of the vast hall.

Packed to its lofty rafters with some 23,000 of Tex Rickard's customers, the new Madison Square Garden bloomed in all its glory.

A capacity house, including thousands who had come just to be in at the opening of New York's newest sports arena, filled the Garden until its high walls threatened to burst, and police reserves fought off the late comers. Much of the "atmosphere" of the old Garden—the Garden of John L. Sullivan and the ring heroes of old—was missing.

No Knockouts
In the first of the preliminaries, Moe Jackson of Corona, won a decision from Mike Reddy, of the Bronx.
In the second preliminary, Harold

Mays of Bayonne won the decision from Andy Palmer of Philadelphia.

In the third preliminary Pat McCarthy of Boston won a decision from Max Kelly of Peru in six rounds.

King Solomon of Palestine had a face that resembled the scrambled map of the Near East when George Cook, the Australian kangaroo, had finished with him in the ten round semi-final. Cook got the judges' decision.

Amid a burst of whistling and cheers the principals in the main bout entered the ring. By this time there was not even standing room left in the house. Berlenbach had an advantage of 7½ pounds in the weights. The champion weighed 173½. Delaney 166.

Gene Tunney, Mike McTigue, Harry Greb and Babe Herman were introduced before the main bout started.

S. P. BUILDS NEW REFRIGERATORS

Will Invest $16,000,000 More To Insure Plenty of Fruit Carriers

Announcement today that the Pacific Fruit Express will contract for 5,041 new refrigerator cars to be delivered for service prior to the peak of the 1926 shipping season, at a cost of approximately $16,000,000, reflects the growing importance of Pacific coast perishable crops, according to G. W. Luce, freight traffic manager of the Southern Pacific company.

The present order of new cars by Pacific Fruit Express, owned jointly by Southern Pacific and Union Pacific, will increase its refrigerator equipment to 38,369 cars. Records of the company show that since being released from government control in 1920, it increased its refrigerator equipment in excess of 23,000 cars or 155 per cent.

"The volume of perishable freight shipped east this year established a new high record and indicated the agricultural prosperity of the Pacific coast," said Luce. "Recognizing the dependence of growers on the assured transportation to markets the railroads are keeping pace with the increased crop production. New refrigerator cars have been steadily added to the rolling equipment to insure profitable eastern markets to the growers."

SPECIAL MEETING HELD BY B. P. O. E.

Big Turnout from Lakeview On Hand to Meet High District Officers

Gaiety—a gaiety such as few fraternal organizations ever achieved—permeated the lodge rooms of the local order of Elks last night when they held a special meeting honoring Ben Fisher, district deputy exalted ruler for southern Oregon, and E. M. Page, president of the state association of Elks.

As a preliminary there was a formal meeting and Mr. Fisher, who lives in Marshfield, offered a few suggestions. Later there was a smoker and a supper.

Mr. Page, a banker of Salem, also spoke at the meeting, and a few neophytes were initiated.

The following "Bills" arrived in the city yesterday in a caravan from Lakeview: Zim Baldwin, Dr. Harry Stone, John Ward, Walter Luckman, F. M. Green, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Hanson, Robert L. Weir, R. M. McDonald, Meredith Anderson, Charles H. Combs, H. E. Kelly, C. H. Langslet, B. J. Crowley, H. P. Welch, Dick Winchester, W. V. Miller, Lee Beall, L. E. Dale, A. P. Ousley, E. Fetsch, Milt Weitzer, B. K. Snyder, Fred Reynolds, Arthur D. Hay, J. M. Batchelder, S. N. Mosher, E. G. Favell, W. A. Masingill, Frank Light, John T. Flynn, G. D. Cronemiller, T. J. Sullivan, W. W. Coffin and F. M. Green.

Lakeview Elks are making the Hall hotel their headquarters during their stay in Klamath Falls.

"The banking department wanted to tie up this bank for its own profits," Haines charged.

BUILDING FALLS

NEW YORK, Dec. 11—United News—Two persons were killed and eight others injured when two floors and the rear wall of a building in the heart of the "Forties", on 47th street, just off Fifth avenue collapsed late Friday afternoon.

The workmen were carried down in an avalanche of brick, woodwork and plaster and some had to be dug from the debris.

"The two dead men had not been identified early Friday night."

NURSE BRINGS SUIT

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 10—United News—Anna K. Hansen, world war nurse, filed a wage claim of $491.40 against Jack Lankershim, wealthy clubman here Wednesday.

In her complaint the nurse alleges she was one of two nurses who accompanied Lankershim and a man friend on a 47 day cruise in Mexican waters. She was to have received $10 a day for her services, she said.

CONGRESS LIKELY TO DECIDE ARMS CONFERENCE PLAN

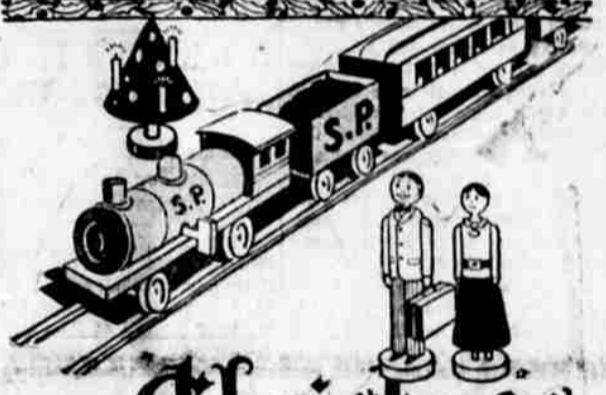

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—(United News)—The question of whether the United States government will participate on the league of nations commission or conference on arms limitation may have to be decided by congress.

Such a possibility was foreseen at the white house Friday.

President Coolidge, it was said, has received as yet no invitation from the league. He will consider such an invitation upon its merits if and when it arrives.

Coolidge, it is understood, does not believe that an amendment to pending laws limiting the power of the president to send representatives abroad would be necessary to American acceptance of an invitation. He does think, however, that specific approval of congress, especially in regard to funds to be expended would be required.
