LAKE COUNTY IS CLEARING RANGE OF WILD HORSES

Members of the Northern Lake County Horse and Mule association, a Silver Lake valley organization, have been riding recently for the purpose of gathering horses from the Fremont national forest. According to the Silver Lake Leader, about 700 head of horses and mules have been rounded up, and something like 100 of these will be sold by their owners to the highest bidder, in the near future. Of course most will go as "chicken feed," but there are a number that are still useful. The main idea is to clean up old, crippled and undersized animals, and thus cut the number to make room for more cattle and sheep. The boys are still riding at present on the desert and likely will bring in as many more. According to K. C. Buick, secretary of the association, the sale will be held about the middle of December.
