MILITARY FORCES TO PROTECT PLANTERS

HAVANA, Dec. 18. — (United News) — President Machado has promised military force, if necessary to protect all sugar planters willing to cut their cane, according to an announcement made through General Alberto Herrera, chief of staff of the Cuban army.

Senor Machado for the last month has been hearing arguments in a planter-mill owner controversy. The president was unable to reach a decision on the matters involved, and recommended that the mill owners and planters settle their difference individually.

NEW SOUTH WALES ROCKED BY QUAKE

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 19.—(Saturday)—The most violent earthquake in the history of New South Wales rocked a wide area for 20 minutes Friday night. Neither loss of life nor serious damage has been reported.

The quake area comprised at least one-quarter of the state, extending more than 200 miles inland.

Alarm was general in the affected area, but only one incident bordering on a panic was reported. That was in Newcastel, where the tremors were strongest. A theatre audience rushed for the exists. Many women fainted.

The origin of the quake was 80 miles northeast of Eydney, in what is known geologically as the continental shelf, in the Kurrajong district. The quake is explained by geologists as having been due to a fracture of the earth's surface.

Australia hitherto has been considered to be virtually immune from earthquakes.

There is no further apprehension among the population. By Saturday morning, the quake was being treated as a huge joke.

TAX MEASURE PASSES BY DECISIVE MARGIN

works of art, bowling alleys, shooting galleries, mah jongg.

The tax of passenger automobiles and parts and accessories was reduced from five to three per cent, and the tax on trucks was repealed. Efforts to abolish these taxes failed.

Despite several efforts no reductions were made on tobacco taxes outside the reduction on cigars provided originally in the bill, which will amount to about $12,000,000. Admission taxes also were retained with the exception of that on the "spoken drama," which was repealed.

The tax on commercial alcohol was cut in half, from $2.20 to $1.10 a gallon, after an extended debate on two amendments, one to leave it at $2.20, the other to abolish it altogether.

Stanfields' Act May Precipitate Big Fish Fight

PORTLAND, Dec. 18. — (United News)—Senator Stanfield of Oregon has introduced a resolution, calling for an investigation of the proposed Priest Rapids dam, with reference to its effect on the fishing industry on the Columbia river, according to a special dispatch to the Oregon Journal.

A permit to develop the project was granted by the federal power commission to the Washington Irrigation and Development company. In the resolution, Senator Stanfield declares that a dam at Priest Rapids would shut approximately one-half of the salmon spawning area of the Columbia river.

The committee would be authorized to sit during the recess of congress, subpoena witnesses and report before the close of the 9th congress.

Mount Shasta City has presented a petition to the city trustees for city manager rule. Many advocate that a city manager could save the city money, besides it would then have a man who could give it his undivided attention and the city would forge ahead as never before.

Owner Laments Less of "Wolf"

"Wolf" the prize winning German police dog owned by C. H. Knowles of the local Concrete Pipe Co., was lost last night somewhere in the vicinity of Pelican City, and his anxious master was seriously debating whether to postpone a trip planned by he and Mrs. Knowles to Los Angeles over the holidays.

In preparation for the trip south to visit with Mrs. Knowles sister Clara Ewers, Knowles took his greatly prized dog out to Pelican City to leave the animal until his return with a friend residing there. "Wolf" didn't like the change of location and promptly made a getaway as soon as his master disappeared from sight. Knowles said he had little fear of the animal being stolen as it is the disposition of these dogs to make friends with no living being other than their master.
