Dainty Bundles, Jolly Trimmings, Add Yuletide Cheer

Mysterious bundles daintily tied and table and rooms decorated with the gay emblems beautified to us from all the Christmases gone by add to our Yuletide cheer. A jolly paper cloth with children and Santas gives color and life to this table and a paper snow man with dunce's cap occupies the center of the table. Above are some suggestions for wrapping your gifts.

"Christmas" is the season of rejoicing when believer and unbeliever join in the festivities which fittingly celebrate the birth of Him whose beautiful teaching and divine love have made this old world for the most part a goodly place.

In the spirit of the season whose birth we commemorate we wish to one and all, otherwise alike, wherever they may be all the joy and gladness of this holiday time; all that we may live and prosper and may they live and prosper many returns of a very Christmas!

"Christmas Seals." Christmas shopping finds you buy the pretty pin for Mother that she wanted and the extra fine one for Father?

Betty to have the finest and will Bobby wake to find a motor car so much like that he will look for the car? Is Santa's pack all that he will have no trouble down the city chimneys? Have you finished your gift-giving? Have you the satisfaction of that you have contributed to the Community Chest? Don't you think that you should your obligation of so-called home and in the year may be one thing you have purchased the Christmas seals sold by the Prevention of Tuberculosis funds to carry out the necessary and splendid fighting the disease which yearly spreads and which reaps its harvest each year?
