CONTROVERSY IS RAGING BITTERLY OVER RABBI WISE

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—References to Jesus as a "great moral and ethical leader" made by Rabbi Stephen S. Wise have stirred up radical discussion throughout the country.

While the action of Nathan Strauss in coming to Wise's defense and pledging $150,000 to the Palestine fund may prevent acceptance of Wise's proffered resignation as chairman of the United Palestine appeal, the campaign started against him by the traditional rabbi, known as the Agudath Harabomi, will continue.

Support has been vouchsafed Wise from many cities.

Rabbi Samuel M. Camp of Providence, R. I., agrees with Rabbi Wise is not a myth, but "an ethical."

Opposing sentiment is voiced by Rabbi Joseph Schweifel, of Washington.

"We have our own attitude toward Christ and Rabbi Wise has not expressed it," Schweifel commented.

OMAHA, Dec. 26.—Most thinking Jews agree in principle with Rabbi Stephen Wise that Christ was not a myth, but a great moral force, Rabbi Frederick Cohn, leader of Omaha Jews said here tonight.

"The things that Christ taught were more Jewish than Christian," Cohn said. "A Jewish rabbi promulgated the golden rule at about the same time it was enunciated by Christ. Practically all of Christ's teachings can be found in the old testament.

"The orthodox Jews have, for centuries, refused to believe that Christ was anything but a myth because of persecutions they suffered at the teachings of Christ."

ARBITRATOR OF CHILEAN DISPUTE TO STAY ON JOB

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 26.—President Coolidge, in ruling on the recent appeal of Augustin Edwards, head of the Chilean delegation to the Tacna?Arica plebiscite committee, in which Edwards objected to the manner in which the plebiscite is being conducted, has decided that the activities of the plebiscite commission shall continue until questions still pending before him, as arbitrator, are disposed of.

That was revealed today when La Prensa, of Buenos Aires, a leading South American newspaper, published the full text of the American president's preliminary ruling. The decision had been withheld from publication in North America by the American state department, and was published exclusively by La Prensa.

The document was signed by President Coolidge and transmitted to other nations by Secretary of State Kellogg.

It was considered of greatest importance here, and importance also is attached from the standpoint of the United States, owing to the fact that the prestige of that country in South American affairs has become involved through the efforts of the Harding and Coolidge administrations, to settle the long-standing dispute between Chile and Peru over control of the provinces of Tacna and Arica.

A final decision on the appeal will be made on the basis of documents to be submitted no later than January 9, together with arguments which are to be laid before the arbitrator, the ruling says. The arbitrator reserves the right to study carefully any appeal based upon matters other than those contained in the plegiscite commission's decision, which was approved December 9 and directs Chile to present before January 15 complete facts regarding awards, with which Chile is not in accord.
