MARJ. IN GLEE AS SUIT DROPS

Mrs Rambeau Gets Out of Co-respondent Trouble in Divorce Action

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—(United News)—The Manton divorce case came to a happy conclusion for everyone except Marjorie Rambeau Friday night, when it was announced that William Kevit Manton had been reconciled with his wife, who had sued him for divorce and named the actress as co-respondent.

The reconciliation was reached just as the jury launched into its eighth hour of deliberation of the case. It had stood 8 to 4 for the defendant, which meant 8 to 4 to exonerate Marjorie of the sensational charges brought against her in the testimony during the trial.

With news of the reconciliation, the jury was dismissed shortly after 7 o'clock without having been required to reach a decision.

Marjorie Rambeau heard what she described "the best news I ever heard in my life," when Mr. and Mrs. William Kevit Manton kissed and made up in supreme court early Friday night, ending the divorce suit of Mrs. Mabel Manton in which the actress had been named as co-defendant.

She then went on the stage in the play in which she is the leading lady and was greeted by unusually enthusiastic applause from the audience when she appeared.

As the jury was dismissed after debating for seven hours Marjorie and her jubilant friends of Broadway hailed the outcome as a vindication of the popular star. Mrs. Manton had charged and witnesses had testified that Miss Rambeau and Manton had been found in the latter's suite in an early morning raid, the former covered only by bed clothes.

FIGHT INTEREST AT WHITE HEAT

After a couple of days limbering up and adjusting his lungs to the change of atmosphere, Kid Starkey is showing better in his workouts for Tuesday night's ten-round altercation with Benny Dotson. But Starkey's idea is that the engagement will not reach the tenth canto.

"You can take this for the book," said Starkey on Saturday. "If Dotson has an idea that he's going to stand close and trade punches I'll Starkey appears to be in fine condition. He should lose a couple of pounds before Tuesday night, and that reduction should put him right on edge.

Denver Straw Vote Is Four to One Wet

DENVER, Feb. 27.—(United News)—Opponents of the prohibition law, acknowledged by the driest section of the nation as four to one favorites over their opponents, are jubilant over the outcome of the newspaper referendum carried on by the Denver Post.

The Rocky Mountain region, hitherto considered an impregnable stronghold of the Volstead forces, seems to have been captured by the wets. Nearly 20,000 persons have declared themselves opposed to the eighteenth amendment. Only 20,750 were in favor of it. For wines and beers there were 83,326 votes opposed by 18,999.

"The results of our referendum show that the eighteenth amendment never will make the people either law-abiding or temperate," declared F. G. Bonfile, publisher of the Denver Post.

entertainment, are speculating on how ably Ross will handle Crim.

Sunday afternoon two hours will be given over to last practice appearances. At 2:30 Dotson, Crim and Daw will show their stuff, and an hour later Starkey, Ross and Fleming will take possession of the ring and after their work is done Scandia hall will be cleared of boxers until the gong sounds Tuesday night.

Because of the large crowds of spectators attending the workouts, the boxing commissioners have decided to erect a ring in time for Sunday's practice, and furnish plenty of seats for which a nominal charge of 10 cents per chair will be made.

"A sell out," was the terse report at Scandia hall Saturday when the subject of "rate" probabilities was brought up, and judging by the interest among the fans the estimate is likely to be correct.

TALMADGE HUBBY SANS OCCUPATION

British Captain Who Weds Fair Constance Says He Is Luckiest

SAN MATEO, Calif., Feb. 27.—(United Press)—Before a very small audience, including chiefly members of the bride's family, Constance Talmadge, winsome screen comedienne, and Alastair William Mackintosh, former British army captain, were married here this afternoon.

The wedding took place at the home of Jean de St. Cyr, one of San Mateo's show places, located far back within the grounds of an estate covering three blocks.

Guards patrolled outside the high walls. During the ceremony St. Cyr's chauffeur wielded a monkey wrench and prying shears at the front entrance, intent on keeping newspaper reporters and curious townsfolk outside.

Judge Elliott McAllister officiated at the ceremony. Constance was attended by her actress sister, Norma, while Mackintosh had William Rhineland Steward, Jr., a close friend, at his side.

Others who witnessed the nuptials were Mrs. Talmadge, Joseph Schenck, Norma's husband; Natalie Talmadge Keaton and her husband, Buster Keaton.

Following the ceremony the couple sped away for Del Monte, on a brief honeymoon, and will then proceed to Hollywood.

Miss Talmadge and Mackintosh have been acquainted for four years. "Persistence" was the way he won the actress' consent to wed, the

Clark Estate Pays Tax of $6,500,000

HELENA, Mont., Feb. 27.—(United News)—C. A. Rasmussen, collector of internal revenue for Montana, was handed six and a half million dollars here this morning as a preliminary payment of the federal inheritance tax on the estate left by the late W. A. Clark, mining magnate and one time United States senator from Montana. The payment was made by J. C. Phillips of Butte, auditor for the Clark interests in Montana.

The government has not completed a final appraisal of the Clark estate, so that the final tax settlement cannot be made for some time.

Mackintosh said he had "no occupation," when the couple secured a marriage license at Redwood City.

Americans Finally Win Tennis Doubles

SEVENTH REGIMENT ARMORY, New York, Feb. 27.—(United News)—The United States took the lead in the international team matches Friday when William T. Tilden, II, and Vincent Richards defeated Rene Lacoste and Jacques Brugnon of France in a five-set doubles match, never played.

The scores were 4-6, 6-2, 8-10, 6-3, 7-5.

The result leaves the standing two matches to one in favor of the United States, with two singles matches to be played Saturday afternoon. France must win both of them to score a victory in the first indoor tennis matches of their kind.

The Northwest is turning to the Overland gravity-balanced Six. The motor performance of this car is amazing. It outperforms any other six near its price or size class, in speed, climbing, acceleration.

The low swung, gravity-balanced motor delivers its full horsepower in a straight line direct to the rear axle—greater real, usable power per pound of weight than is found in any other light six.

The gravity-balanced body keeps the car weight close to the ground—remarkable stability on winding mountain roads—unfailing power on steep, rocky grades—unmatched getaway in traffic.

In appearance, this remarkable car looks $500 more than its price—in riding ease, the long springs and the low swung body dampen road shocks and give it a comfort that makes all trips a source of real enjoyment.

See it—ride in it—learn what it will really do.
