CARD PARTY TO BE EVENT OF FRIDAY

On Friday evening, March 26, members of Aloha chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, will entertain with a card party at 8 o'clock in the Masonic hall. Funds from the affair will go into a treasury for the children's department of the Masonic and Eastern Star home at Forest Grove. Bids for the new building were opened in Portland during the past week. Members of all Masonic fraternities and their friends are invited to attend the affair which gives promise of being one of the most interesting of the season.

As early as the middle of last week more than 30 tables of bridge and "500" had been scheduled for. Hand-made prizes will be awarded and refreshments will be served.

The committee in charge includes Mrs. Lena M. Dennis, Mrs. Louise Humphrey, Mrs. Lorene Pearley, Mrs. Faye Durbin and Mrs. Harriet Hunter.

JINX PART GIVEN THURSDAY EVENING

Interesting in every detail was the jinx and St. Patrick's party given Thursday evening in the First Presbyterian church by the Try club. Of interest during the evening, at the church, was the announcement of the engagement of Miss Agnes McCornack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCornack, to Robert Oliver of Klamath Falls. The betrothal was made known when hearts, with the names of Miss McCornack and Oliver, were placed on a large shamrock and shown to the guests.

Following games and a musical program during which time Mrs. George McIntyre and Miss Leora Ehret sang, the guests adjourned to the home of Rev. and Mrs. A. L. Rice. Mrs. Rice is teacher of the class.

There the betrothal of Miss Vera Houston to Frank Moser, both members of the class, was told. The little cards bearing the announcements were hidden between the layers of ice cream served to the guests.

MRS. OBENCHAIN AND MISS MARTIN ENTERTAIN

For the pleasure of a large number of their friends Mrs. Silas Obenchain and Miss Miriam Martin, her niece, entertained on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday of this week with a series of bridge luncheons, at the Obenchain town house, 435 High street.

Carried out in St. Patrick's colors and decorations the Obenchain home was beautifully attractive. Green and white carnations intermingled with fern and huckleberry completed the color motif. Green and white and St. Patrick's favors were found in all decorations and refreshments as well.

Assisting during the three afternoons were Mrs. L. L. Truax, Mrs. H. E. Simpson and Mrs. H. Murdoch.

High score on Tuesday was given to Mrs. Don Zumwalt, second high to Mrs. G. A. Krause and consolation to Mrs. C. P. Mason.

On Thursday Mrs. George Stevenson received high score, second high to Mrs. Alfred Collier and low to Miss Agnes McCornack.

Mrs. H. E. Hauger received high score on Friday, with second high going to Mrs. Warren Hunt and low to Mrs. O. Peyton.

ATHENS SUBJECT OF DELPHIAN MEETING

Athens will be the topic studied and reported Tuesday afternoon, March 23, in the sun room of the White Pelican hotel when members of Delta Gamma chapter of the Delphian club will hold their March meeting.

The program will be opened by a vocal solo, "La Golondrina," by Mrs. P. A. Albertson. Courtesy hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. Karl G. Cummings.

TEA CUP CLUB MEETING THURSDAY

Members of the Tea Cup club of the Methodist Episcopal church enjoyed a social hour Thursday afternoon at the H. D. Newell home, when Mrs. Newell, Mrs. F. H. Cofer and Mrs. E. M. Chilcote were hostesses for the afternoon.

During the afternoon hours Miss Lydia Von Berthelsdorf gave several interesting piano numbers.

Those present at the Tea Cup club meeting included Mesdames S. A. Falquartz, S. R. Berry, T. D. Yarnes, F. Hill Hunter, M. E. Mom-ver, James Robinson, Fred Hahn, E. T. Higginson, C. G. Winters, Mollie Belding, F. W. Bechtel, John C. Yaden, Zeno Weiss, Homer Leo West, T. R. Skiffington, Hallie Kendall, H. E. Peltz, W. J. Steinmetz, W. J. Helder, H. K. Smith, Charles T. Price, F. C. Schultz, J. R. Lake, Everett O. Nord, E. L. Hill, J. N. Gurthrie, E. McDonald, W. A. Levings, M. W. Cosboom, C. Maier, Dora Cook, Mattie Burchett, J. Gysbers, Chris Barnstable, E. C. Stucke and Miss O. Matthews.

About sixteen members of St. Paul Guild met at the home of Mrs. Walter West on South Riverside Thursday afternoon and enjoyed a Lenten talk by Rev. Thomas, Episcopal minister, and a solo by Mrs. J. L. Johnson, after which Mrs. A. R. Morrison and Mrs. Del Kuykendall served light refreshments.

MISS HOUSTON'S ENGAGEMENT TOLD

At one of the prettiest afternoon affairs of the season the engagement of Miss Vera Houston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Houston, to Frank Moser, was told to a group of intimate friends at the home of Mrs. Fred Houston, 529 North Fifth street, on Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock tea.

Mrs. Fred Houston, Mrs. John Houston and Mrs. G. W. Houston were hostesses for the afternoon. Table decorations were carried out in pink roses and green carnations. The betrothal of Miss Houston to Mr. Moser was told on miniature cards bearing the announcement. The cards were attached to shamrocks and served as place cards for the guests.

During the afternoon Mrs. Francis E. Olds sang "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," and "Little Bit of Heaven," both composed by Hall. She was accompanied by Mrs. George McIntyre, who also sang two beautiful vocal solos.

Although the date has not been set, the wedding will be an event of early summer.

Miss Houston is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Houston of 421 Washington street. She is county treasurer and for the past few years has held responsible positions in the city. Miss Houston attended the University of Oregon for several years and is affiliated with Alpha Delta Pi.

Moser is the son of Fred Moser of Chiloquin, county seat of Coos. He is affiliated with Alpha Pi Delta on the Oregon agricultural campus and at present is connected with the Klamath Falls creamery.

LOVELY LINGERIE IS SPRING KEYNOTE

Women, as a majority, express their innermost "wardrobe thoughts" in the choice of their lingerie. A Parisian designer lays down these rules for the fastidious woman.

Printed georgettes and chiffons are approved for spring in both medium and high priced lingerie and exclusive specialty shops report a demand for these prints for southern resort lingerie.

The costume slip registers strongly for spring, especially in models with bottom and top trimming. Wrap-around skirt treatments are more popular than side-pleated fullness with an occasional circular slip.

Separate French drawers are another item of exceptional importance. Large lines of them are shown in every wholesale collection and it is noted that the vest is conspicuously absent. In some quarters it is said that the andean is worn with the drawers and other manufacturers feel that the costume slip and French drawers will prove a popular minimum of underclothing.

Although crepe de chine and crepe satin continue important increasing emphasis is placed on georgette, either in very fancy versions or in tailored styles made of double georgette in two tones.

Applied trimmings are well liked on tailored garments whether in contrasting color or in self fabric on net or georgette yokes.

Pajamas of novelty cotton and cotton and rayon mixtures are much in evidence, usually in vividly printed patterns of modernistic inspiration or in striped effects.

NEW YORK PLAYS CONTINUE POOR

None of the New arrivals on the New York stage this week was greeted with any particular enthusiasm.

Six productions made their appearance and apparently all are doomed to short lives on Broadway's boards.

The influence of St. Patrick's day produced the best attendance for "Juno and the Paycock," a wan little play from the Abbey theatre, Dublin, the work of Sean O'Casey. It can be styled either a gloomy comedy or a comical tragedy, and certainly the parts where laughter was permitted were the best of the evening at the Mayfair theatre. The play is by no means up to the high standard of the Abbey stage.

"The Paycock"—which is Gaelic for peacock—is captain Jack Boyle, who would rather drink than work. "Juno" is the long suffering and indulgent wife. There is a daughter who has "gotten into trouble with a boy," and a son Johnny, an hysterical republican. The Boyle family is full of trouble until left $10,000 in a will. Then they rejoice, buy furniture and new clothes on the installment plan and even the neighbors who know them lend them money. Overshadowing the comedy is the sordid atmosphere of the Irish rebellion.

Then it develops that there was some mistake about the will and that the Boyles aren't to get the money after all, and the furniture men come and the bailiffs, who take away even Captain Jack's unpaid for trousers.

"Ghosts" Returns. Ishen's "Ghosts" returned to haunt the Actors' theatre, adding to this author's truly impressive list of plays appearing currently on the New York stage. "Ghosts," which needs no introduction and brooks no apology, is some how the least popular of them all.

"Nifty Horse Power" at the Ritz falls to live up to its advertised voltage. It is about "Old Sunny Jim" Smith, a war hero, who is discovered in the role of chauffeur to a long island millionaire, but who is in reality a clever inventor, which makes everything come out all right.

Allyn King and some pretty girls and gang looking young men help matters out.

Triple Bill

There is a triple bill at the Neighborhood playhouse. The first play is entitled "A Burmese Pwe" and is as intelligible as its title. A "pwe" as every one knows, is a troubadour, which is as much as any one need be told about this particular fantasy.

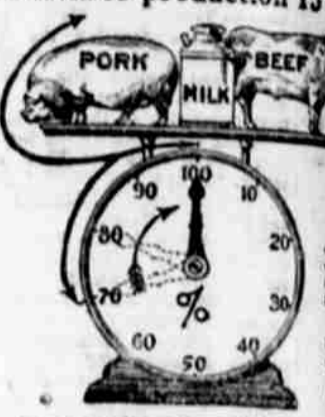

Then came "The Apothecary," which is what they used to call druggists before the days of chocolate ice cream sodas and "doctors' prescriptions." It is from the German and mildly amusing.

Last and least is "Kwan Yin," a Chinese fantasy, presented in Chinese.
