

Local Briefs

Business at Fort—George H. Lindley, vice-president of the American National bank, with Marion Hanks, spent yesterday afternoon in the Fort Klamath country transacting business affairs.

Shopping from Chiloquin—Mrs. W. C. Balfour and Mrs. Curtis C. Heldrich, prominent matrons of Chiloquin, were in the city for a short time yesterday to shop and visit with their friends.

Many to Fish—Scores of parties are planning to leave Saturday night for summer homes and cottages on Klamath lakes to spend the week-end enjoying the first fishing week-end this season. The season, with excellent weather, has hurried the opening of many summer homes, especially at Rocky Point, where the roads are in good condition and the fish reported, "biting beautifully."

Visiting from Sisson—Included in the many interesting visitors to the city this week is Mrs. Minnie Henry of Sisson, or Mount Shasta City, accompanied by her son Wilford L. Henry. Mrs. Henry is visiting with Mrs. Gertrude Moore and with other friends here. She is a sister of Mrs. A. J. Voyo and Mrs. Fred Schallock and at present Mrs. Henry and her son are house guests of Mrs. Schallock on Pacific Terrace.

Leaving Monday—Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lamm are planning to leave Monday for the north to attend the annual Rotary convention to be held in Victoria, B. C. April 22 and 23. Lamm, who is president of the Klamath Falls lodge of Rotary, is expected to take an active part in the program. Mr. and Mrs. Lamm will motor to Ashland and take the north bound train to Victoria.

Fishing This Week—Nate Otterbein and Lee Bean are expected to return from Williamson river this evening, where they have been for the past three days fishing in that stream. Otterbein and Bean are scheduled to return with enough fish to feed The Klamath News force when Mrs. Otterbein will entertain them with a dinner early Sunday afternoon.

Work Starts Soon on Library Bldg.

Work on Klamath's metropolitan city library building will get under way just as soon as the necessary time has elapsed for calling bids and complying with the law on a municipal undertaking of this kind. A meeting of the library board last night ironed out all minor details in connection with building plans and the matter will likely come up for definite action before the council at their next meeting. The building equipped is to cost approximately $50,000 and is to be built on the Melhase site donated to the city by the heirs of Henrietta Melhase, at the corner of Fifth and Klamath.

Presbyterians in Successful Meet

With the close of the Presbytery of Southern Oregon, held during the past week in Central Point and attended by scores of ministers and laymen of southern Oregon churches, one of the most successful meetings of the church in this district came to an end.

Malin will be the scene of the next meeting, to be held October 12 and 13, of this year, according to Rev. A. L. Rice, who with Mrs. Rice returned last night from the valley.

Rev. Joseph Miksovsky, pastor of the Malin church, was active in bringing the ministry to Malin to enjoy the presbytery in the southernmost town in Oregon.

"Southern Oregon is also planning to have a conference for young people as the conference held this year only accommodated 100 people. It was held in Hillockburn near Portland, and was most successful. If southern Oregon has a young people's conference it will be held during the week, ending July 4," stated Rev. Rice last night.

Tillamook county will do important construction work on south side of Noakhkanie mountain, Roosevelt highway.

Central Point votes for erecting new school building.

MUST IRRIGATE TREES

If you want your trees to leaf early and be sturdy keep them well moistened until at least July.

This was the message received by the Klamath county chamber of commerce yesterday from the Washington Nursery company of Toppenish, Wash., from whose gardens a number of trees planted in Klamath Falls during the tree planting campaign were purchased.

The letter continued to warn of keeping the roots well watered, stating that placing straw around the base of the tree would assist in holding the moisture.

HOLD FOR 40 CENTS

Sheepmen of Klamath county and Lake county are said to be holding off from offers of eastern wool buyers for 40 cents, according to stories heard on the streets of Klamath Falls yesterday.

According to word received Montana men have been offered 35 cents and they continue to hold off for 40. Forty cents was the price received for wool in Klamath county last year and with the amount of wool on the local market practically the same as that of 1925, local sheepmen are holding out for last summer's price.
