

HOORAY, BOYS! CIRCUS COMES TO TOWN SOON

Elephants and Bears and All Sorts of Monkeys Show for Kiddies

"Prohibition doesn't worry us, so long as we can get lots of 'aqua pura.' trumpet those thirsty elephants coming to Klamath Falls, Monday, May 10, with the Al G. Barnes big 4-ring circus.

"Wonder how many brackets the darn big things will want this year?" is the question every small boy, who looks forward to earning his way into the big show, wants to know.

Barnes has made it a whole lot easier for the lads this year, however, by employing water-tank wagons to tote the "aqua pura" to the pachyderms.

In addition to the elephants, the small boys may also have to carry water for Lotus, the largest and only blood-sweating performing hippopotamus in the world; after which they will have an opportunity of seeing the gigantic and newest circus feature, "Pocahontas at the Court of Queen Anne," the extravaganza that opens the big program this year. Three tribes of American Indians will be included in the cast, in addition to more than a hundred pretty girls from sun-kissed California, all of whom have appeared in some of the latest motion picture productions of the season.

And last, but not least, there will be the giant gorilla man—Joe Martin, himself.

It's the show that's different every year.

Black and White Motif's Popular

The frock pictured is black satin combined with white—a favorite color motif this season—and is trimmed with moiré. Choker collar, long jumper blouse, new length skirt and full length sleeves are featured.

Army Plans to Raise Funds in Giving Relief

A rummage sale of unusual proportions is being planned by the local unit of the Salvation Army, according to Captain Wm. E. Hopper, who, with Mrs. Hopper, is in charge of the work of the Army. It is planned to hold the sale about the fifteenth day of May.

Goods and articles of every variety and description are to be offered in the coming sale, according to Captain Hopper. At a similar sale recently by a ladies' club in Grants Pass, hardware, furniture, clothing, farm implements, antiques, dry goods and a hundred other things were offered for sale. People afoot, on horseback, and in expensive motor cars came and bought, and the proceeds were over $900. Much of the material offered for sale had never been used, being stock of which merchants had carried for some time and were glad to clear from their shelves to make way for new, although otherwise perfectly useful and desirable.

Summarizing the work of the unit here from May 1, 1925, to December 30, 1926, Captain Hopper stated that the following relief had been given:

- No. of meals purchased$93
No. of garments given940
No. of shoes given290
No. of beds paid for410
No. of work applicants209
No. placed in positions129
No. interviewed and advised310
No. given medical aid15
No. of families relieved130
No. of persons relieved615
Total afforded temporary relief911
Cost of all relief given$945.67
Visitation of sick and poor, 920 hours put in and 1495 families visited.

The above relief work does not include the considerable amount of work done by the Salvation Army at Christmas time, said Captain Hopper. Besides this relief work, the Army is sponsor for the work of the Red Shield club for underprivileged boys, which now includes 25 youngsters. One of the requirements of this club is that its members must attend some Sunday school, the other main activities of club members centering around the use of the gymnasium facilities afforded by the Army. The Salvation Army in Klamath Falls has 38 members, practically all of whom are employed in the city, and who give their services to the Army free of charge. The rummage sale planned by the Army is to permit the financing of the work without direct solicitation of funds until the regular drive which is held late in August.

Sacramento, which two days ago led the field, dropped out of the first division, into a tie with Mission for fifth place. The Senators were defeated by Hollywood 2 to 0, Shellenback allowing only five hits.

San Agnew's home run in the ninth inning tied up the Seals-Portland game at five all. Both teams scored in the 12th and the Beavers won out 7 to 6 when E. Smith crashed out a home run in the 16th.

Oregon Waking and Goes Past Her Neighbors

Oregon right now is waking up and going ahead faster than Washington, according to Bert Hall, who returned yesterday from a month's pleasure trip throughout Washington and British Columbia.

"Small towns up and down the coast are growing rapidly, Portland is spreading, but Klamath seems to be making greater strides than any of the cities we passed on our way north," said Hall yesterday.

There is building activity in both Oregon and Washington, but when I came home yesterday Klamath Falls seemed to leave little undone in building. There is money in Washington, however, and I was certainly astonished to see the dairy ranches between Olympia and the Canadian border.

Hall attended the international Rotary convention held in Victoria. With Mrs. Hall he returned this week and stopped in Portland for a short time.

"We thought Klamath was well represented in Victoria," Hall mused yesterday, "but by golly, you should have seen the reunion of Klamath people in the lobby of the Imperial Hotel in Portland yesterday. There was Charley Riley, Bob Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Bellman, Lloyd Low, Mrs. Percy Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Houston, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Underwood, H. E. Hauger, H. I. McKim, Bill Stevenson, Mrs. Hall and myself"

UPSETS MARK DAY IN COAST LEAGUE

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30.—(United News)—The Seattle Indians climbed into first place in the Pacific Coast league Friday by defeating Los Angeles, while Oakland was losing to Mission.

The Angel-Indian game was a torrid affair, Seattle winning by putting over two runs in the ninth inning. Los Angeles tried to rally in its half but fell one short of tying the score, losing 6 to 5.

Oakland was dumped out of a tie for first into a tie with Los Angeles for second. The Oaks made three errors and let Missions' nine hits go for seven runs, while Oakland got eight hits, but only two runs.

HOBOES FEEL ABOVE TRAMPS

SACRAMENTO, April 30.—(United News)—"Uncertain freight train schedules" have kept the attendance at the convention of hoboes here to only a few hundred, but the first official gesture of the three-day meeting was to draw a sharp distinction between "hoboes" and "tramps."

"We will be occupied with discussing the problems of the man who packs a blanket on the road," said Max Hirschberg, national president of the international brotherhood welfare association, in his opening address. "We have no sympathy with the tramp, the person who actually refuses to work, but we do believe in protecting the hobo who is a migratory or casual worker."

Hirschberg, a student at the University of California, insisted that the organization was not "radical." J. Eads Howe, "millionaire hobo" of Los Angeles, is here and will have a principal part in the convention.

"Klamath Falls looked good to me after being in Portland during one of her hottest spells," said Leslie Rogers, cashier of the First National bank, who yesterday returned from Portland with Mrs. Rogers. Rogers was called north to serve as a witness in a case in Portland courts last week.
