The young man will be christened Darrell Lee Hallock and already the many friends of the family have called upon him, wishing him success in his new world.

GOOD FOOD SOLD CHEAP

Saturday afternoon members of the Ladies Aid of the First Presbyterian church conducted a successful cooked food and apron sale which netted them more than $70 when the money was counted by committees yesterday. This is one of the many spring sales being sponsored by women's organizations of churches throughout the city.

PERMITS GO OUT

Building permits aggregating $7450, were issued from the city clerk yesterday. Included in the permits are three for new houses, addition to a church building, addition to home and a garage.

R. S. Grigsby was given permit to make addition to Emmanuel Baptist between Main and Pine.

"We feel that the increase in the Sunday school warrants this addition to our church," said Grigsby yesterday.

T. H. Allen will build a $2500 house on Second street, C. W. Allen, $1300 house on Hollibird street and V. G. Barnhouse, $2500 house on Sargent street.

Other permits include a $50 garage by S. E. Hart on Prescott, $200 repairs to business building on Main street by John H. Shannon.

WORTH WHILE TRIP

Klamath Falls fans provided the major portion of the noise made at the baseball game between Grants Pass and Klamath Falls at Grants Pass Sunday. Included in the fans seen at the game were Mr. and Mrs. Otto Lorenz, Leonard Compton, Mrs. Paul Noel, Austin Hayden, Glenn Jester, Miss Frances Clark, Bill Bonfield, Lloyd Low, Mrs. Joe Brett, Mrs. M. P. Lavenik and Phil Hood.

HORSE SHOE

Klamath Falls team had all the luck on the ball field with Grants Pass Sunday but one of their supporters in the crowd had the real hard luck of the day.

With others he was trying hard to bet the Grants Pass boosters off their feet and he worked hard on a talkative chap with a big hat who was rooting for the opposition.

"Keep your money in your pocket, sonny," said Big Hat. "I am sheriff over here."

Finish To Weed Road Is Rushed

County Court Calls Bids Completing Four-Mile Gap.

The county court yesterday called for bids on the work of finishing the remaining link of the Midland to the state line county road, which gives Klamath county a direct route to Weed, Siskiyou county is now being urged to take care of its end of the construction.

About 3.3 miles remain to be completed. The work is to be rushed in order that a number of blind crossings may be eliminated by the time the through trains are running over the Natron cut-off.

According to County Engineer Joseph Jensen it will hardly be possible to work across Miller's lake until July, but the rest of the work is to be undertaken as soon as possible.

Ladies, Be Thin Leave Candy To Male Sweet Tooth

CHICAGO, May 24.—(United News)—American men are the real candy eaters, women falling far behind in the national candy consumption, statistics announced at the convention here of the Associated Retail Confectioners of the United States.

The plump spinster, nibbling at her sweets is no longer the principal asset of the candy merchant, according to William D. Blatner, secretary of the association.

"Close observation has established that men not only do most of the buying, but most of the eating also," Blatner said. "Women, especially in this country, are trying so hard to reduce that they won't eat a thing they believe to be fattening. As a matter of fact candy is a real food and is not likely to make one fat if one does not overeat."

Candy Safe

The convention adopted a program to make the candy store safe for the male. All clerks must be as sweet as their wares, but must not flirt. One delegate recommended placing a large dish of free samples near the door of the confection store as a lure for customers.

Mrs. Ora H. Snyder, a Chicago retailer, explained the origin of the chocolate drop. She said the craze for this delicacy started in Central America, where the natives once used the cacao bean for currency. Men were the first to eat it, she said, dubbing it "theobroma," or "a food for the gods."

BALLOT COUNTS SHOW NO CHANGE

According to totals obtained up to last night at the county clerk's office in the official re-count of ballots for the primary election May 21, W. M. Duncan is winner over E. B. Ashurst in the race for the nomination for district attorney on the democratic ticket by 26 votes.

The county ballot boxes containing the tally sheets securely locked inside, were opened by order of the court yesterday, but in these precincts Ashurst gained but four votes over Duncan, which was not enough to materially affect the outcome of this neck and neck race.

In these five precincts Goddard received 64, Bunnell 64, and Baker 26 for republican nomination for county judge.

The official count will be completed by today noon, according to County Clerk DeLap.

Memorial Day and Veterans' Building Dedication Joined On Sunday Morn

The American Legion of Klamath Falls will observe Memorial Day in its true spirit Sunday morning, May 30 and in that spirit will dedicate their new Veteran's Memorial building at the same service.

Selections of patriotic music will be rendered by the Klamath Falls band of which Fred Selack is conductor. Then the Rev. Arthur L. Rice, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will deliver the invocation. Two solos by E. E. Valente, baritone, and member of the Legion are following numbers, and his rich tones will flow from the balcony.

Dedication

Dedication of the building and the Memorial Day address is the principle feature of the program and for this Dr. E. B. Stewart of Roseburg will come here. Dr. Stewart is the highest ranking officer of the American Legion in the state of Oregon and in addition he is known for the nobility of his thought and his impressive style of speaking.

Mrs. Marjorie McClure Olds, soprano will sing two solo numbers at this point her position being in the balcony which has been found splendidly advantageous for delivery of song numbers. She is president of the ladies auxiliary of the legion here.

Benediction will be by the Rev. J. Henry Thomas of St. Paul's Episcopal church.

Arrangements for seating more than 500 have been perfected by John M. Glover, chairman of the Memorial and Dedication committee, and he has also secured the consent of Klamath Falls churches to dismiss the congregations in time for the 11:30 o'clock start of the services.

The Argentine hydroplane, bearing Bernardo Duggan and two companions on their New York Argentine flight, was forced down into Assateague bay Monday afternoon as it was nearing the Virginia capes, because of engine trouble.

Big Lakes Takes New Mill Site

Crowded Out By Rail Yard Expansion; Must Move.

Congestion and expansion doubly brought on by the Southern Pacific terminal installation in Klamath Falls has forced the Big Lakes company to seek a new site for their factory. It is now located just south of the Sixth street crossing over the S. P. main line. Now it is proposed to move the factory into the industrial district bordering Oak street along the mythical line of Third street where that thoroughfare traverses the marsh land parallel to the shore of Ewan lake. This was released by Judge D. V. Kuykendall last night before the city council when he presented a petition for the vacation of certain streets and alleys inside the big property owned by the Big Lakes company, 13 blocks in extent, bordering Third street from Oak to Pacific, then three blocks jutting out to Fifth.

Petition Granted. It was moved and passed that the petition be granted and June 25 was designated as the day for hearing remonstrances on the action of the council.

While Judge Kuykendall made no public statement of intent on the part of the mill company, it is considered likely that the new Big Lakes factory will be located adjacent to the Klamath Heating company plant, where the sawdust and waste fuel from the box factory can be carried by blow pipe directly to the heating plant bins. The new arrangement would also greatly simplify the movement and stacking of lumber from the Big Lakes sawmill located on the lake shore. Owing to the distance from the sawmill to the box factory the present operations are subject to greater cost than would be the case under the new arrangement, it is believed.

Sewer Bids Let. Other matters taken up and disposed of by the council last night was the granting of the installation of the eighth sewer unit located in Fairview to the W. D. Miller Co., the lowest responsible bidder. (Continued on Page Six)

One Church Takes Stand Religion Is Unhurt By Science

BOSTON, May 24.—(United News)—The laymen's league of the Unitarian church took its stand for the advancement of evolution and science at its annual meeting here Monday night. Charges that publishers are eliminating the theory of evolution and the facts of geology and comparative anatomy from text books and anti-scientists are demanding the exclusion of biology in general from the schools, were made by the principal speaker, Dr. Edwin E. Slosson, director of science service, Washington.

The league will send its retiring president, Charles H. Strong of New York, to Nashville next week to participate in the oral argument before the Tennessee supreme court on the appeal of John T. Scopes from his conviction for violation of the anti-evolution law.

Marriage of State and Nation Prohib Is Held Unnatural

LOS ANGELES, May 24.—(United News)—Regardless of opposition from sheriff and police officers, Prohibition Administrator Robert E. Frith announced late Monday that he would compel all city and county peace officials to become federal officers as well.

Frith has summoned sheriffs from counties south of the Tehachapi mountains to gather here in a week to discuss the necessary procedure.

Sheriffs of the northern counties have been requested to meet in Fresno on June 14.

Local peace officials declared they would oppose every move made by Frith in his plans to federalize officers under their control.

EMMITT FINES AND COLLECTS

YESTERDAY was a busy day in Judge Emmitt's court.

Louis Epen was fined $125 for possession and $125 for sale of liquor, which double fine he paid promptly and was released.

Vernon Webster was fined $25 for possession of a hip pocket flask of moon.

R. F. McDonald was fined $150 for possession of a wholesale supply of illicit liquor. He paid his fine.

George Knox was fined $10 for changing an auto license plate. The Jackson County Creamery lost their $150 suit with H. H. Jenkins over alleged non-payment for supplies some six years ago. A jury of five men in this case brought in a verdict for Jenkins.

"Mandy" Is Dead; Woodsmen Mourn Her Kind Hands In Hurt and Ill

Mrs. Amanda Pecholt, familiarly known as "Mandy" to hundreds of loggers of the pine country, died in a hospital here at midnight Sunday night, following an operation.

She bore a wide reputation as a highly skilled nurse. During the San Francisco disaster she labored tirelessly for weeks in the handling of maternity cases. Then came the "flu" epidemic when hundreds lay helpless and again she did her "bit." Local doctors say that Mrs. Pecholt was ever ready to assist in a difficult case. Her services were voluntary.

Friend to Sick. It was the loggers, however, whom "Mandy" watched over. When they were sick, or down and out, she was always ready to render assistance. Many of them she buried, often paying the expenses from her own pocket when the lumberjacks were short of change. It was many a royal burial that a poor jack was given by her.

Many of the lumberjacks made their home at the Pecholt establishment in Main street, known as the Country Club.

Mrs. Pecholt was born in France in 1877.

She is to be buried this morning from the Clarke and Towey mortuary. The cortege will leave from the Sacred Heart church at 10:15 o'clock where the requiem high mass will be celebrated. Interment will take place in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

CAPT. WILKINS HAS ENGINES IN PLANES BUT THEY WON'T FLY

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, May 24.—(United News)—Engine trouble again has interfered with Captain George H. Wilkins' plans to fly out over the Arctic from Point Barrow. In warming up the triple motored monoplane Detroit, the crown of the center engine was broken and necessary repairs will delay further flights for several days.

Wilkins had intended to take off from Barrow Sunday night, members of the Detroit Arctic expedition here said Monday after the receipt of radio messages from the north. Conditions at Point Barrow now allow for night flying, as sunlight prevails during all hours of the day.

Members of the Wilkins party are going on whaling expeditions when not engaged in work on the big plane.

Matter of Days Till Dirt Flies In Great Terminal Schemes

Southern Pacific Bent on Rushing Work Once Started, to Prompt Finish; Bids on Contracting May Favor Residents of City, But Utah Construction Likely Move in Steam Shovels.

It is a matter of days now until dirt starts flying in the construction of Klamath Falls' new million dollar terminal yard. On May 18 bids were opened by the Southern Pacific company at San Francisco, for the moving of 160,000 yards of dirt where the new yard switches will dip under the proposed $124,000 viaduct over Sixth street, this was the cryptic statement of J. E. Given, resident engineer of the S. P. at the city hall during a regular meeting of the council last night.

While it will be the policy of the S. P. to encourage local bidders on the $124,000 viaduct job, in the yard excavation project only big railroad contractors with unlimited equipment were considered owing to time making it mandatory that there be no hitch in rushing the job to completion in 60 days.

Miracles of Lost Leader Puts Bath Suits in Her Auto, Her Dress in Room

LOS ANGELES, May 24.—(United News)—Deep, inexplicable mystery was added to the disappearance of Aimee Semple McPherson late Monday when deputy sheriffs announced the discovery of the famous evangelist's bathing equipment in her car.

According to Deputy Sheriff Frank Dewar he found the bathing suit, green rubber cap, silk stockings and red rubber bathing slippers used by Mrs. McPherson when she stepped into the surf at Venice last Tuesday.

The evangelist's Bible and several notes of a sermon she was to have delivered were also found in the automobile.

Police Forget. Mrs. McPherson's car was pushed into a garage near the beach shortly after the search for her started, and how it was possible for the score or more police to miss seeing the swimming suit mystified all concerned in the case.

The find strengthens the belief which police never abandoned, that the evangelist was the victim of an amnesia spell and that she wandered off.

One Thing Clear. There is no doubt that the costume belongs to Mrs. McPherson. It answers exactly to the description given by Miss Emma Schaffer, Mrs. McPherson's companion at the time of her disappearance. Although the drowning theory still has its adherents among the evangelist's thousands of followers, police admitted late Monday that they were going to renew their search of the surrounding canyons and hills for traces of her.

Back to Hills. It is possible, it is admitted, that she lost her mind while swimming. (Continued on Page Six)

Police Will Take Leader's Body If Found by Faithful

VENICE, Cal., May 24.—(United News)—Search for the body of Aimee Semple McPherson continued unabated late Monday night, with scores of her followers carrying white bed sheets, which they plan to wrap about her semi-nude form when it is cast up by the sea.

Police learned Monday that Mrs. McPherson's disconsolate cohorts plotted to splint away the body as soon as it was found, so that it might not be "exposed to the scrutiny of morbid curiosity seekers."

D. V. Alderman, an officer of Mrs. McPherson's Angelus temple, admitted that such a plan had been proposed, but he assured officers that his patrols would be instructed to hold the body for the police.

The evangelist's thousands of followers sat huddled on the beach in little groups, tired from their all night scanning of the sea for their missing leader.
