

RACE HORSES POISONED BY GAMBLER RING

Two Animals Die, Others Drowsy at Post Show Plot on Bookies

AURORA, Ill., May 28.—(United News)—With two thoroughbreds dead, and two others seriously ill as a result of poison given to them in lump sugar, officials are enlisting the aid of police throughout the country in an attempt to find the "brains" of the Aurora race track plot.

His name is said to have been supplied by Earl Leaver of Toronto, Ont., and Charles Davis of Dayton, Ohio, who confessed their part in the poisoning.

According to these confessions the instigator of the plot had planned to "break every bookie in the country" by poisoning the favorites in the Illinois handicap just so that they could run but not win.

Four entries became suspiciously drowsy before post time for the handicap, however, and the race was cancelled.

Elizabeth K., owned by J. Keller of New Orleans, died Friday and Apoloby, another handicap entry died Thursday after the day's racing had closed.

Smuggler Gang Shot By Texas Border Patrol

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., May 28.—(United News)—Ambushed by U. S. mounted customs inspectors, a band of about ten Mexican smugglers were put to rout in a brushy, barren section of Webb county, near Falfourias, late Friday, according to meagre reports here by Ed Cotulla, deputy customs collector.

Five of the Mexicans are believed to have been seriously injured. Blood trails leading to the brush to the Rio Grande river led officers to believe that at least that number were wounded.

The customs inspectors surprised the caravan of tequila runners with a fusillade of rifle shots, causing the smugglers to abandon 1650 bottles of tequila and 19 horses. This is the biggest seizure ever made on the border, officers declare.

That the bandits were expecting to give battle was indicated by a large quantity of ammunition and several American rifles taken with the contraband liquor, Cotulla said.

Friday's seizure brings the total to more than 2,000 bottles of tequila captured by customs agents since Wednesday.

STUFFED HALIBUT

Two one-pound slices of halibut steak, one-half inch thick, three tablespoons butter, one teaspoon salt, a little pepper. Wash the fish dry, skin. Put one slice of fish on the rack of a roaster. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, cover with stuffing, using three-quarters of it. Place the second slice on top, dot with butter and seasonings. Put rest of stuffing on top. Bake in a hot oven for 20 or 25 minutes.

Star of the Rockies

Glen Worthington, freshman at the Utah Agricultural school, is pointed out as one of the greatest athletic prospects produced in the Rocky Mountain district in years. He was a star on the freshman football team last fall, a star center in basketball, a member of the Aggie relay team and his showing in baseball this year is expected to gain him attention of fast minor league scouts.

CROWD PRAYS IN GROVE AWAITING HEAVENLY SIGNS

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 28.—(United News)—Six weary Christians of the northwest, convinced that God will answer their prayers if the prayer service is sufficiently representative of all classes of people, will gather in a poplar grove near Tamarch, Minn., Tuesday to await a sign from heaven.

The unique experiment is to be conducted under the auspices of Vernon Ewing, an eye specialist and a zealous religious worker who has induced others to participate.

Early on the morning of June 1, the Christians will march into the grove and there in the shade of the big trees they will devote one hour to silent prayer.

"We are a group weary of sin and seeking a sign from God," says Ewing. "I cannot promise God will do anything. It is entirely up to Him, but if He does not it will not be because He is not given the chance."

All classes of people are expected to attend the meeting. Ewing says they will not ask for any special manifestation "leaving it to God to do as He pleases."

or was the victim of amnesia, were unfair.

An impassioned, imploring plea to her daughter's followers asked them to continue the search for the body, and to laugh off the insidious propaganda of "atheists and enemies."

Many of the watchers along the beach have been at their posts of duty since Mrs. McPherson disappeared. They are tired and haggard-eyed, and seem to keep alive only through their stimulus of prayer.

BLYTHE, WILSON

special writer in the United States.

A story is told on Blythe while he was in the far east getting material and missing, he was cheated by a Japanese who sold him a supposedly exquisite piece of silk. The bargain had not gone the way Blythe wished and he strode off pounding his cane. He always uses a cane. The native sold the batik for the sum agreed. When the old newspaper man opened the cloth he found a remnant of embroidery even a Kansas tourist would have refused.

Wilson, Blythe and their party are planning to leave for Ashland Sunday morning to continue to Longview, Wash., for a week's stay. Wilson will spend his summer with a friend in the woods near the Oregon-California line. He plans to come again to Klamath Falls.

MONTANA VOTES ON REPEAL FOR STATE DRY LAW

HELENA, Mont., May 28.—At the next general election Montana voters will ballot on an initiative measure which seeks to repeal the state prohibition status. Sufficient petitions have been filed to carry the issue to the polls, it was announced at the state capitol Friday. Montana went dry six months ahead of the greater part of the United States. State officials so far have declined to go on record either for or against the move to repeal the state dry law.

STUFFED CELERY

Wash in cold water the celery which has first been separated from the stalk. Fill the hollow of each stalk with cream cheese to which you have first added a little salt and paprika. The smaller of the celery stalks are more tender and best suited for stuffing on this account.

Quality Cars

Are you looking for that quality car that is just nicely broken in and is every bit as good as new in appearance and stamina, but which the owner has sacrificed for a higher priced car?
