

Attorney Crowe Ready for Probe Of Charge Made

CHICAGO, June 4. — (United News) — State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, outwitted the forces which are attempting to link his name with Chicago's "gun ruled" primary Friday, by making the first move to investigate the charges of election fraud.

Crowe went before Justice Thomas Lynch of the criminal court and obtained writs for a special grand jury which will sift the allegations of County Judge Daniel P. Trude that gunmen, hired by the state's attorney and "Scarface Al" Capone, notorious gangster, established terrorism at the polls.

Judge Lynch gave the special grand jury wide powers to look into the alleged alliance between gangsters and politicians, and named former State Representative Joseph P. Mahoney as a special assistant to conduct the probe.

The jurisdiction of the inquiry will be broad enough to continue investigation of the machine gun murder of Assistant State's Attorney William H. McSwiggin from the point where the special crime quiz has left it unresolved.

Crowe's action goes a step beyond that of Judge Trude, his accuser, as Trude merely demanded a recount of the ballots. Trude was defeated for renomination on the republican ticket by Joseph Savage, one of Crowe's assistants, and claims that armed gangsters were employed by Crowe to see that Savage won.

ALLEGED TAX DODGER KEEPS TO BE PROBED

payment of taxes along with other lands of the district.

Eberlein asked elimination of his lands on two grounds. One that the lands were unfit for agricultural purposes, and the second that he had never been furnished water for them. These two points will be considered at the hearing on Tuesday.

Would Have Intervenor

Yesterday Eberlein and his attorney requested the local irrigation district to appear as intervenor at the hearing on his behalf, it was stated. Officials of the district said that the government was fully competent to handle the hearing, and that they would not appear other than as witnesses.

It is also known that a suit is to be filed against Eberlein shortly by the Enterprise irrigation district. Unpaid taxes of several years' standing appear on the district rolls against the lands owned by Eberlein in this district. This year the district was forced to raise its assessments materially because of the refusal of Eberlein to pay his share of the district burden, so it is said by other members of the district.

HELEN WILLS, TENNIS PLAYER, STRICKEN

NEUILLY, France, June 4. — (United News) — Helen Wills, American tennis champion, is recovering from an operation for appendicitis, which was performed suddenly and successfully at the American hospital here Friday.

There is now no possibility of the California girl meeting Suzanne Lenglin in a return match in France this year.

Miss Wills wept when taken to the hospital, but her tears were those of disappointment because she must miss her chance to turn the tables on the French champion.

JOY WILL ABOUND IN KLAMATH JULY 4

Sabin, George R. Lindley, E. R. Hall and E. H. Balsiger.

District south and west on Main — N. B. Drew, captain; W. J. Kennett, W. H. Lodge, Ted Case and G. Kent.

Lower Sixth street—Everett Hardenbrook, captain; A. May, Hal Ogle, William Bonfield and Cal Crews.

Three American Legion members who are taking a leading part in the proposed celebration, were present, as follows: O. D. Mathews, Ted Case and Hal Ogle. Mathews, who is commander of the legion, made a patriotic talk, in which he pointed out that it was most fitting that a celebration should be held this year by reason of July Fourth being the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. Mathews stated that he was a member of the legion celebration committee, the members of which are pledged to drop all work between now and July 3, with the determination to put over a worthy celebration. The legion will not bother with a celebration at all unless it can be put on right, Mathews said. The pyrotechnical display that is planned will be the greatest in the history of this district, with the cost approximately $1,000.

Merchants present last night seemed enthusiastic over the proposed program as outlined by the American Legion.

CRIME OUTBREAK KEEPS OFFICERS BUSY

Hugo Schwernitz, a 62-year-old guard, occurred in Newark, and so could not be charged against the New York police, but the proximity of the hold-up in conjunction with the day's record for this city gave Commissioner McLaughlin little satisfaction.

Five bandits in a Ford automobile attempted to hold up the pay car of the Public Service Railway company. The men climbed aboard the pay car during the lunch hour, no one paying any attention to them until Schwernitz detected their intentions. As the aged guard drew his revolver he was put out of commission by a shot through the arm.

Men Were Desperate

The intruders opened fire upon Conway, who was at his desk, until his body, riddled with bullets, crashed through a window of the car. Sacks of money totaling $14,000 lay at hand, but when employees, attracted by the shots, came running, the bandits lost their nerve and fled.

Eclipsing in its interest the attempted robbery in Newark, was the story of the arrest of Albert Rosenberg, international mail thief, aboard the United States liner George Washington. Rosenberg was one of five men who escaped in a motor boat from Ellis Island last November, while they were awaiting deportation to Germany.

Woman Rattles Arrested

An accountant's wife, a former college girl, went haughtily to jail Friday when held in $25,000 bail, charged with being the thief who has stolen more than $100,000 in jewels from Fifth avenue jewelers during the past four years.

Brooklyn's "mystery" gunman perpetrated a daring morning hold-up on one of that city's busiest corners, snaking away with $3,000 from a candy store. Although the store doors were locked, the robber suddenly appeared before William J. Moriarity, assistant manager, pointed a revolver, took the $3,000 and vanished as mysteriously as he had come.

Three Women in Contest Estate of Late W. A. Clark

BUTTE, Mont., June 4. — (United News) — Commissioners were appointed by Judge J. J. Lynch in local district court today to take depositions in the W. A. Clark will test case. The court considered nominations made by attorneys for the Clark estate and for three Missouri women claiming to be daughters of the late mining magnate. The commissioners appointed follow:

Los Angeles, L. D. Hefflin; Seattle, G. F. Hannon; De Kalb county, Missouri, Edward G. Robinson; Caldwell county, Missouri, Dorman E. Adams; Denver county, Colorado, E. R. Campbell; Lancaster county, Nebraska, Earl Cline Lincoln; Cleveland, E. C. Miller; Gaddo county, Oklahoma, clerk of the district court, and Noble county, Oklahoma, clerk of the district court.

VISCOUNT ASTOR IS WINNER, OAKS RACE

EPSOM, England, June 4. — Viscount Astor won the Oaks with his highly trained filly Short Story today, the fourth time that this classic race for three-year-old fillies has gone to the former American.

Short Story, joint favorite in the betting with Pillion, paid 5 to 1, with Resplendent, 100 to 6, second, and Gay Bird, 100 to 8, third. Sixteen ran.

The victory of Short Story, which ran the mile and a half in 2:43 3-5, or 41-5 seconds faster than the time made by the derby winner, Coronach, over the same course Wednesday, repaid Lord Astor in a measure for the defeat of the Swift and Sure, his entry in the previous classic.

COZAD ENCOUNTERS FORMER TRAIL MATE

When Gerry Cozad, constable of the Linkville district, spied a youth on the street yesterday whom he formerly knew as W. C. Thompson, he did not make an arrest. On the other hand he grasped his old comrade and extended a hearty greeting, and took Thompson under his wing with the ultimatum that the visitor must prolong his visit one week in Klamath Falls.

Cozad and Thompson were pals and trail mates of many years' standing when many sections of this state were almost inaccessible. It was their first meeting in a decade, and the two are now renewing by memory old scenes and happenings of the days of old.

"Thompson will soon become a real citizen of Klamath Falls," remarked Cozad. "I know my stuff and if he stays the week as promised then he will have become acclimated, and you could not drive him away."

PELICAN SQUAWKS

According to present plans, Rip King is taking his brood of Pelicans to Ashland on the early ferry Sunday morning to enable the players to attend early devotional exercises at the various churches in the good city.

Duback has agreed to lay off the "fine cut" during the services. If the age limit interferes, Freddie Baynes will attend Sunday school.

Bert Cook has promised to step into the pulpit if the regular padre bugs down. Bert says he can shoot the congregation a line that will help the gate at the ball park.

Russel Sage may be called upon to face the carbonated Lithians in next Sunday's quarrel. The elongated boy has already proved his high delivery works good in the low altitude of the Rogue river valley.

One of the directors of the Pelican ball club tried to sell his job to Tom Watters this week. Watters, who dabbles in real estate when he is not umpiring, took the regulation earnest money payment to bind the deal, but the director was not permitted to resign. A suit may result in Emmitt's court to quiet title to the five bucks.

At least 200 Klamath fans are expected to make the trip to Ashland Sunday. With a week to polish up their team work the new Lithia club should give the Pelicans a battle royal for honors on their home lot.

RALPH JUUL SIGNS UP MELODY PLAYERS

During the summer months, when everyone dances more or less, a new orchestra, under the direction of Ralph Juul will be heard in Alameda auditorium every Saturday night. There may be mid-week dances if plans of Juul do not miscarry. Juul is assisted by seven master musicians who have been heard in Klamath Falls before.

The personnel of Juul's melody men include R. G. Tester, trumpet; R. W. Juul, trombone; Eugene Morningstar, saxophone and clarinet; H. E. Johnson, banjo, Art Roberts, saxophone, and clarinet; Dave Trech, piano and Clair Giffett, drums.

GRANGERS TO MEET AT CORVALLIS 1927

BAKELT, Ore., June 4. — (United News) — The Oregon state grange meeting here in annual convention, went on record Friday as favoring the state development and ownership of state and municipal hydro-electric projects.

Corvallis was chosen by the grangers for the 1927 state convention late Thursday by the grange. Scores of telegrams from business men and civic organizations from Corvallis flooded the committee. Corvallis has been campaigning since early in the week.

Eugene Morningstar can also be heard in a number of hot saxophone and clarinet solos at the Alameda Saturday night.
