

Alaska Johnson Peels Off Cash to Get Freedom

John "Alaska" Johnson, caught dispensing liquor at a rooming house on Main street for the second time in the past two weeks, yesterday was sentenced to pay a $500 fine and to serve in the county jail for sixty days. He previously paid a $500 fine.

Johnson said he had a lot of unfinished business on hand and "wouldn't Justice Emmitt let him look after it for a few days before issuing the commitment?" Justice Emmitt was willing to oblige, if Johnson had an extra $500 on his person for bail. Johnson peeled off another $500, and is now transacting his business.

THREE HENRYS ARE NEWEST BENEDICTS

And again, June brides! And three Henrys entered the role of Benedict.

Four marriage licenses were issued by County Clerk D. R. DeLap late Saturday afternoon and yesterday to Klamath county residents. Two couples were from Klamath Falls, one from Malin and one from Chiloquin.

"BLOOD AND STEEL" ORPHEUS HEADLINER

"Blood and Steel" is the title of the film, starring William Desmond and Helen Holmes, which will be shown at the Orpheus theatre today and Wednesday, according to G. G. McPherson, manager. The film said to have plenty of action of the most interesting sort. Besides the feature film, the comedy "One Glorious Fourth," and the "Web-Foot Weekly," Portland Journal special news reel, will be shown.

Manager McPherson expressed himself yesterday as highly pleased with the attendance during the opening days of the theatre's run. In spite of baseball, dances, fishing, and other attractions over the week-end, the Saturday and Sunday attendance was excellent, he declared. Within a short time McPherson expects to announce his program for the next several months.

the Main street underground crossing, but when it was explained to him that consideration of the bond issue for it would in nowise interfere with the Sixth street viaduct he withdrew his objections.

S. P. Not Obligated

The Southern Pacific has not obligated itself to pay half the cost of the Main street underground crossing as it has in the case of the Sixth street viaduct. But Givan and J. W. Fitzgerald, superintendent of the Shasta division, both stated that while the same necessity did not exist in each instance, for the reason that Sixth street would be blocked by trains in the yards, that it was the policy of the railroad to eliminate all dangerous or bothersome crossings wherever practical.

LONG-BELL ANSWERS SUIT OVER CHARTER

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., June 7.—Attorneys for the Long-Bell Lumber company today filed an answer and return in the supreme court to the quo warranto suit instituted by attorney General Gentry to revoke the company's charter for its promotion of Longview, Wash.

The answer declared that none of the activities complained of by the attorney general were harmful or injurious, but that they were in accord with the settled practice in Missouri. On the contrary, the answer claimed they were in accord with the public good.

Gas Explosion Jars Buildings on Sixth Street

Explosion of a gasoline tank, holding 20 gallons, created considerable excitement on North Sixth street yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, and a number of people feared that a bomb had been set off with a view of destroying buildings in that vicinity.

Sam Konnie, employee of the Lorenz company, was slightly injured on the right leg when the explosion occurred as a result of the gas fumes igniting. Examination at the Klamath Valley hospital disclosed a painful bruise.

Engine No. 1 of the fire department was rushed to the scene of the explosion, but its services were not needed.

Lady Boss Says Seattle Will Be Real Clean City

SEATTLE, June 7.—(United News)—Mrs. Bertha K. Landes was ready to go to work on the first day of her administration as Seattle's new mayor—but she didn't have much chance.

She sat down at the mayor's desk Monday and delivered her message to the city council by way of formality. But there was too much hubbub to permit her to take up routine matters.

Mrs. Landes was satisfied with all this and she told late comers who entered her newly painted office: "I'm not getting anything done today but my new police chief is."

"I'm not promising 100 per cent law enforcement, but I am promising an honest and vigorous attempt to enforce the laws."
