FOX TERROR PREVENTS ROBBERY MASTER'S SAFE

BROOKLYN, June 16.—A fox terrier prevented his master's safe from being robbed by parking himself on the safe top and barking loudly. The prospective crooks departed in a hurry, leaving their tools behind.

Old English Songs Will Be Feature Coming Concert

One of the features of the recital Friday evening given by Hadiana Pazmor, will be a group of old English songs, arranged by Rebecca Clark for voice with violin accompaniment. When Miss Pazmor sang these at the concert of the Loring club (San Francisco's veteran male choral society) two weeks ago, her audience demanded a repetition.

She will also render a song by Louis Aubert, famed modern composer, who was so delighted with Miss Pazmor's singing that he personally coached her in his own songs. Another number will be a composition of H. B. Pasmore, her father, well known teacher, composer and musician.

It is interesting to note that Miss Pazmor will give the entire program except Mr. Borel's accompaniment, playing her own accompaniments. She specializes in this, as she is an accomplished pianist in addition to being a vocal artist.

The concert will be given in the American Legion hall, and this opportunity of hearing an artist of Miss Pazmor's rank and reputation is one which speaks the support of our community. The Harrington grand piano is furnished by courtesy of Earl Shepherd.

Moth Balls Are Shaken Out of N. Y. Garments

NEW YORK, June 16.—(United News)—The camphor balls were shaken out of winter wraps and furs, and furnace fires became popular Wednesday as the temperature here dropped 30 degrees in 18 hours.

The athletic mercury slid to 34 at 7 a. m., giving the day the distinction of being the coldest June 16 in a decade. New Yorkers, beguiled into discarding heavy fashions and other habiliments of winter and spring by the 84 degree temperature Tuesday were caught unawares by the sudden cold snap and shivered on their way to work.
