

Shell Shocked Veteran Never To Face Charge

John Howard, shell-shocked ex-service man, will never have to answer charges of bogus check operations.

The charges against the former doughboy, pending since last February, were formally dismissed by Circuit Judge A. L. Leavitt yesterday, following a report from the Veterans' Bureau hospital at Boise, Idaho, where Howard is a patient. County Physician G. S. Newsom interpreted the diagnosis as meaning Howard is a mental incompetent.

Howard is at present under the care of psychiatrists at the Veterans' Bureau hospital, suffering from extreme mental disorder resulting from the concussion of high explosives during the World War. The ex-soldier was placed under arrest here last February after he had issued a series of alleged spurious checks, all of which were of small denomination. Howard showed traces of mental derangement at the time, and was held in jail for a time. His case drew the attention of the local American Legion post, and Dr. Newsom was requested to investigate the surroundings.

Dr. Newsom's diagnosis indicated traces of serious mental trouble in Howard and at the former's request Judge Leavitt paroled the ex-service man to the care of Dr. Newsom. Howard was taken to the Veterans' hospital for examination on several different occasions, and as his mental aberration progressed to a more noticeable degree, he was removed to the Veterans' Bureau hospital at Boise where he has since been confined.

Dr. Newsom is in receipt of a letter from Howard which indicates the condition of the man's mind and his instability of reason.

"Please get the charges against me removed if you can, for they worry me so much I don't think I shall ever get well," the letter reads. Howard writes to Dr. Newsom for advice quite frequently.

"Indeed I have taken a fatherly interest in the boy," Dr. Newsom said, "not only because of his splendid war record, but because I realized that he was the victim of circumstance and needed help and understanding instead of prosecution. He had no idea of right or wrong when he floated the worthless checks and his service to his country during the trying years of the war has earned him a place under Uncle Sam's wing for the rest of his life."

Howard is said to be on the verge of absolute insanity and probably will be a life-long ward of the government.
