THE RONDEAU

A trifling rhyme; you do not share
The garb which proper lyrics wear,
Not yours the ode's embroidered net,
The stately sonnet's minutest,
The ballad's antique-maiden air.

But be you bilble and debaucher
Whether the critics smile, or stare
And call you light, a vain coquette,
A trifling rhyme.

What of their scorn? You need not care
Was ever maid by all deemed fair?
Why should their coldness cause
A trifling rhyme?

Some eyes can see and not forget;
Some hearts full deeply graven bear
A trifling rhyme.

SONGS OF TRAVEL

I will make you brooches and toys
For your delight
Of bird-song at morning and star-shine at night
I will make a palace fit for you and me
Of green days in forests and blue days at sea.

I will make my kitchen, and you shall keep your room, Where white flows the river and bright flows the broom,
And you shall wash your linen and keep your body white
In rainfall at morning and dewfall at night
And this shall be for music when the one else is near The fine song for singing, the rare song to hear!

That only I remember, that only
you admire,
Of the broad road that stretches and the roadside fire.

—Stevenson.

The WAVE that LASTS and LASTS and LASTS...

It must be applied with an exceptionally hot iron—yet not too hot.

It must be uniformly and carefully done, so that in a week's time it will still fall artistically.

That is the kind of a wave—hot weather or no hot weather—that the attendants in this shop give you—an artistic wave that will last!
