

Business Women Elect Officers Coming Year

Mrs. Irma Dixon was re-elected president of the Business and Professional Women's club of Klamath Falls following the July dinner of the group held at Linkhaven last night.

Mrs. Dixon has served for the past six months and recently, to conform with the plans of the state federation, the Klamath Falls club changed their fiscal year.

Twenty women were guests at Linkhaven last night at one of the most interesting meetings of the year. Mrs. Dixon, president, reported on the annual state meeting held in Astoria during the past month which she attended as a delegate from the Klamath Falls group.

Plans were made for a picnic and swimming party to be held within a fortnight at Wul-kse on Upper Klamath lake.

DISTRICTS FAVORING NEW HIGH BUILDING

yesterday in discussing the proposed building.

Although a site has not yet been purchased, nor definitely designated, it is understood from the school superintendent's office that an option has been taken on the Hot Springs court house site for the school.

Civic Societies Active

A committee from the chamber of commerce, Rotary and Kiwanis clubs worked out the temporary plans following pressing demand from the high school heads as well as students that affairs in the building now used were far from safe or practical.

Court House Site Favored

In discussing the court house site Peterson stated that a number of committees had been in touch with the Fleischacker interests of San Francisco, owners of the property. It is possible, according to the superintendent, that the old building may be used.

"If the engineers see fit to use the old building and with the addition of several wings, the court house will be completed and turned into a high school," stated Peterson.

According to J. E. Tourtelotte, prominent Portland architect, "the building is wonderful in perspective and the most magnificent construction of a building in the entire Pacific Northwest."

Options on the old Modoc park, have been obtained to be used, with additional ground, as an athletic field.

Must Use Old School

The county court explained yesterday that should the county or districts, submit to the building of the necessary high school that the building now in use must be kept for the coming year, but that work would start immediately should there be no remonstrances and the actual process of construction start within three months following the drawing up of plans. It is expected to have the high school in readiness for use for the school year of 1927-28.

The union high school plans for Klamath Falls and vicinity was enthusiastically endorsed by the state superintendent of schools, J. A. Churchill, during a recent visit here.

Although the maintenance of all Klamath county high schools will still be country-wide as it is at present, this plan, now presented to the district boundary board or county court, will merely provide each community with a high school building. This will be the second union high school in the county as Malin has one at the present time.

Third of Million Elks Invade City On Great Lakes

CHICAGO, July 12.—(United News)—Gunfire resounded through the lobbies of loop hotels here as the annual convention of the B. P. O. E. began their four-day session with a fusillade of blank cartridges.

After the novelty of "shooting up the town" had worn off, the Elks settled down to a business meeting and heard reports of a "glorious record of achievement" during the past year.

Welfare committees of the order have healed thousands of crippled children, erected a home for the blind, and extended aid to Hawaiian volcano sufferers, according to the report of John P. Sullivan of New Orleans.

The outstanding event of the program is to be the dedication of the Elks' memorial headquarters building Wednesday. The building was erected as a memorial to the Elk war dead.

Convention officials estimated 300,000 Elks were in the city when the first formal meeting opened at 8 p. m. Monday.

Many are from Pennsylvania, which is a Lutheran stronghold, as well as the scene of the three million dollar primary. Adoption of the resolution was in accordance with recommendations made by A. A. Grossman of Fort Wayne, Ind., who said "the events in Pennsylvania have shown a disheartening tendency to corrupt the political activities of all nations through the corrupt use of money."

Portland Realtor Thinks Klamath To Enjoy Boom

With the opening of the Naton Cut-Off, placing the Klamath Falls district in a more direct line of communication with Portland and the Willamette Valley, and eventually the city itself on the main line of the Southern Pacific, a real estate boom there is imminent, according to Leon H. Bullier, Portland realtor of Bullier & Reed, who was in this section last week.

"The general opinion of the people is that Klamath Falls is on the verge of a real estate boom," he said in an interview with the Portland Journal. "They are optimistic over their new rail facilities, and predict that the city will double in population within the next 12 months."

"In the downtown district real estate values range from $500 to $1000 per front foot, and I was surprised to learn that several small shops were paying as high as $250 a month rent. I mean by a small shop, a space from 20 to 30 feet to 20 by 50 feet."

"The Naton Cut-Off will put Klamath Falls in direct touch with Portland and all cities in the north, while the Oregon Trunk will furnish a direct outlet to Eastern markets without having to send traffic through Portland or San Francisco. In other words, this rail development will have a tendency to un-bottle this fertile and resourceful district which has heretofore been forced to reach all markets through California. This access to other markets than California means California will find competition and will be forced to meet the market price for commodities of the Klamath Falls district."

"All of this will mean the development of the country around Klamath lake, the center of which is Klamath Falls, through a broadening of the market. Naturally such a development means much for the city, and it is bound to profit by the increase in commerce."

"In turn this will benefit Portland and all of the cities of Western Oregon by causing land settlement and production to be expedited for the new markets created by the increase of population in the Klamath Falls region."

"The development in Klamath Falls will help the entire state. This is what is most needed. For the proper growth of Portland and the back-country must be developed, and the population of the up-state regions increased. The present state of affairs, with one-third of the population of the state living in Portland, is not conducive to

Rebuilding Navy Ammunition Plant Causes Dissension

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(United News)—A flare-up is likely in congress over rebuilding the navy's ammunition depot at Lake Denmark, N. J., as a result of the explosion which caused damage for miles around and took a heavy toll of life.

The contention of Senator Edge of New Jersey that such depots should not be built near thickly populated centers is expected to be taken up at the next session of congress, when it is called upon to appropriate money for reconstructing the giant magazine. The navy department, it appears, will combat such a move, holding that an ammunition depot is necessary at that point for loading at New York, that the section is isolated from thickly populated areas, that only one fatality occurred outside of the area and that the explosion was the type of accident which occurs despite every precaution. At a conference today several navy department officials discussed replacement of the depot but did not reach any conclusion. There seemed to be no doubt that re-building would be urged upon congress.
