

Pirates Increase Lead in National League Contest

The Pittsburgh Pirates increased their lead in the National League with a victory over the Giants Tuesday in the opening game of the series at the Polo Grounds, while the Reds were dividing a double-header at Brooklyn.

Songer pitched well for the world's champions, but was touched for two home runs, one by Jackson in the third and another by Lindstrom in the ninth. Ray Kremer relieved him and stopped a rally, the Pirates winning, 4 to 3.

Donahue was hit hard by Brooklyn in the first game, the Robins winning, 6 to 3, while in the second game Carl Mays shut out the home team, 2 to 0.

R. Smith of the Braves and Root of the Cubs had a pitching duel until the last of the ninth, when Boston scored the only run of the game.

Alexander allowed the Phillies 15 hits, but the Cardinals won 9 to 5.

As a result of these games the Pirates now lead the Reds by two games, while the Cards have widened the gap separating them from the Cubs to a game and a half.

The Braves have crept up to within two points of the Phillies. The Giants and Dodgers are tied for fifth.

While their closest rivals, the Indians and Athletics were idle because of rain the Yankees won out in the ninth at St. Louis, beating the Browns, 6 to 5.

Four homers featured the game. Slim Harris, acquired from Philadelphia, shut out the Tigers with five hits, the Red Sox winning, 7 to 0.

With a six run rally in the eighth the Senators beat the White Sox 7 to 2.

for McKinley, that the unsuccessful campaign cost $450,000.

That Samuel Insull, who controls $400,000,000 worth of public utilities in the middle west, unwittingly contributed large sums of money to the campaigns of all three of the principal senatorial candidates.

Another important point which has gone over until later is the refusal of Allen F. Moore, Colonel Smith's manager, to disclose the names of all of the Smith contributors.

Thus far the committee has learned of the following expenditures:

For McKinley, $350,000.

For Smith, $253,000.

For Brennan, $20,000.
