

Construction on Viaduct Starts Tuesday Morning

Preliminary excavation for the Sixth street viaduct which is to be erected jointly by the city of Klamath Falls and the Southern Pacific Railway company, will commence Tuesday morning, according to W. M. H. Fiegenson, Portland, member of the firm of Lindstrom & Fiegenson, successful bidders on the project, who arrived here yesterday.

Fiegenson, who was accompanied here by his partner, Lindstrom, was unable to state at a late hour last night, just how many men will be put to work on the job. A small crew will no doubt get the structure under way. There will be no steam shovel excavation, the contractor stated, declaring that materials are en route here from Portland, and will be on hand when needed.

Once launched, the viaduct will be pushed to completion with all possible speed. In accordance with a decision reached some time ago at a meeting of the city council, Sixth street will be closed to traffic when work on the viaduct commences.

Lindstrom & Fiegenson won the construction contract on a bid of $75,631.60, not including material for the steel trusses, expected to cost an additional $39,000. Cost of the project is to be borne fifty-fifty by the city and Southern Pacific.

Maytag Washing Machines Coming By Big Trainload

When the local Maytag Shop announced a month ago that its company had purchased a solid trainload of washing machines, it was regarded as a record accomplishment, but no one dreamed that they would go so far as to sell all those machines and order another solid trainload in thirty days. But that is exactly what they have done.

The first trainload was received with great celebrations August 1. The order for the second trainload was placed shortly after the middle of August and has already arrived. This is said to be the most remarkable selling accomplishment ever known in any line of industry and speaks more highly than anything possibly could for the buying power of the Pacific Northwest.

This is the greatest number of washing machines sold by one distributor in one month's time anywhere in the world. In fact it is claimed that it is almost double what any distributor has ever done before.

This is not only a great tribute to the outstanding superiority of the Maytag washing machine and the Maytag Pacific organization, but it is also a tribute to the buying power and prosperity of this territory, to the progressiveness of its citizens and to the advertising value of its newspapers.

This first trainload was heavily advertised in local newspapers with page ads and the response was great. The Maytag company enjoys the distinction of being the fifth largest newspaper advertiser in the country and enjoys the further distinction of concentrating all of its advertising in newspapers. This, more than ever, is a tribute to the value of newspaper advertising.

To celebrate the great accomplishment of two trainloads in thirty days, the Maytag Pacific company held an all-day celebration at Portland, Oregon, September 6, and the entire local organization from this city attended.

Among the Klamath Falls Maytag representatives who attended the celebration were Mrs. A. E. Fugate, Jack Fugate, Martin Tengo, J. C. O'Connor, R. W. Anderson, Jack O'Brien and H. D. Smith.

Mr. F. L. Maytag, president of the Maytag company of Newton, Iowa, in recognition of the accomplishment of the Maytag Pacific, made a special trip to Portland to preside over this big celebration, which was one of the big events of Labor Day in that city.

The men returning from it are enthusiastic over it and over the great possibilities in the future for the Maytag machine in this territory. Mr. Maytag said many complimentary things about the progressiveness of this territory and his sales organization here.

Mr. Maytag was accompanied upon his trip by F. G. Cramer, president of the Cramer-Krasselt Advertising company, who handle and place all of the Maytag advertising.

These two men, with Walter G. Sloat, president of the Maytag Pacific, Inc., presided over the monster celebration and the sales meeting which followed.

"Kinnie" Wagner Gives Self Up to Woman Sheriff

Karl "Kinnie" Wagner, 23-year-old Arkansas desperado whose exploits have become near-classics, gave himself up to the woman Sheriff of Miller County with the explanation, "I'm tired of being hunted. I don't want to dodge people any more." He has once escaped the electric chair and is held responsible for many killings, most of which he admits freely, boasting that he has never been arrested for any other crime than murder.

ROBERT SWINDLER TAKES KLAMATH GIRL AS BRIDE

Charles Robert Swindler, 27, and Miss Alice Scholes, 21, were married shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Justice R. A. Emmitt, after they had obtained the only license issued during the day from the office of County Clerk C. R. DeLap.

Swindler, a resident of Olene, gave his occupation as a logger. His bride, makes her home in Klamath Falls.

BENTLEY PARTY GETS THE LIMIT OF BUCKS

Among those to return to this city last night with fine deer to show for hunting effort expended during the past two days, were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bentley and party, who drove to the Jenny Creek region last Thursday.

The two men in the party each got the limit and upon returning here proudly exhibited four fine bucks.

Hunters Warned to Be Cautious When Enjoying Outing

"While conditions in the woods generally are quiet now, the forest fire season is not over yet and when hunters started in the tall timber after game another outbreak of fires may be expected, forestry officials said yesterday when they issued their weekly fire bulletin.

This shows that the weather generally is still cool and damp in many places and that no serious fires are burning. Another week of sunny weather, however, may alter the situation enough to make possible further outbreaks when the hunting season starts.

With hundreds of hunters invading the woods some fires are sure to break out, it is believed. How serious they will be will depend on the weather during the next ten days.

Monument to Ezra Meeker, Pioneer, To Be Dedicated

PUYALLUP, Wash., Sept. 11.—(United Press)—Unveiling of a monument to Ezra Meeker, "America's greatest living pioneer," will be an important feature of the western Washington fair, which opens here tomorrow.

The memorial, a statue by Alonzo Victor Lewis, will be presented to the Washington State Historical Society. The society will in turn present it to the city of Puyallup for safe keeping.

The venerable northwest trail blazer will participate in the ceremonies which will take place Tuesday, pioneer day.

Boy Sixteen in Jealous Mood Shoots Rival

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 11.—(United Press)—In the same brickyard where more than 15 hours before he had shot and perhaps fatally wounded John Gusman, 20, a rival for the affections of a 15-year-old girl, Cipriano Baupista, 16, was taken into custody tonight. His capture followed a search by more than 50 deputies.

The shooting followed a feud between the two over the girl. Witnesses to the shooting say that Baupista emerged from the underbrush an fired one shot, which took effect in his rival's back. He then disappeared.

At the hospital Gusman's condition is said to be critical.

TWO DIVORCE SUITS FILED IN ONE DAY

Suit for divorce against his wife, Clara Kyler, was brought in the office of the circuit court clerk yesterday by Edgar Kyler. The plaintiff alleges that his wife has deserted him and that during their married life she has caused him much mental anguish and unhappiness by refusing to cook or attend to her household duties.

Mrs. Violet Thompson filed action for divorce against Ray Thompson yesterday morning, basing her suit on cruel and inhuman treatment. She asks for the return of her maiden name, Violet Jane Stevenson.

MISS DEVORE HAS NOT JUMPED BOND

That Miss Gertrude DeVore had left her bondsmen in the lurch and skipped Klamath Falls following a charge of intoxicating liquor is all bunk, according to Miss DeVore, who appeared in Justice R. A. Emmitt's court yesterday, to run down circulated reports that she had jumped her $500 bail money.

Miss DeVore stated to the court that when she was wanted she would appear and "my bondsmen won't worry about me either," she said.

TWO MALE DEER IS LIMIT FOR SEASON

Two male deer with horns is the limit any hunter can bag during the open season, September 10 to October 29. This announcement was made yesterday at local sporting goods stores as a move to inform all game followers.

Much confusion exists concerning the bag limit, it is reported. The game restrictions point out that the season is open only for male deer with horns and only two of these can be bagged during the season.

Excellent Crops Assure Traffic Big Railroads

PORTLAND, Sept. 11.—(United Press)—Excellent crops throughout the West assure heavy traffic for transcontinental railroads this fall, according to Carl R. Gray, president of the Union Pacific, who arrived today on an inspection of physical properties in the West, with directors and chief officials of the company.

Aside from reporting good business prospects Gray had little railroad news to contribute, as he started on his western tour six hours after returning from his summer vacation.

The tour was organized to give C. B. Seger, chairman of the Union Pacific finance committee, and R. A. Lovett, director, New York, opportunity to see the western lines.

Seger, in addition to being head of the finance group of the company, is president of the United States Rubber company. Lovett is a member of the international bond firm of Brown Brothers, and a son of Robert Lovett, president of the Union Pacific for many years, and now chairman of the board.

Other executives with the party are E. E. Calvin, vice-president in charge of traffic; J. L. Haugh and E. E. Adams, assistants to the president, and F. W. Robinson, freight traffic manager.

The party will leave Monday on a visit to Puget Sound territory.
