BIG FAIR OPENS TO MULTITUDE PEOPLE

until late yesterday. Many other entries will come in today, in the belief of Mrs. Parker, secretary, who yesterday declared that the poultry exhibits, slack for a while, picked up and exceeded all expectations.

That the livestock buildings will be filled to overflowing, is the prediction of fair officials, who are undaunted by the influx, however, and state that a place will be found for every animal and article which is brought to the fair grounds. A wider interest in the annual fair is apparent this season, and with the success of the 1926 showing already assured, it is the hope of the board to do greater things next fall.

Four Thousand in Awards
The competition for awards, aggregating about $4000 in cash, as well as the various honor ribbons, will be keen, due to the quality of both the livestock and the farm produce. Some of the largest vegetables and finest grains ever produced in the southern Oregon basin, will be spread in a panorama of natural splendor at the fair.

Boys' and Girls' Clubs
The exhibits of over 40 Boys' and Girls' clubs of the county, directed by Frank Sexton, leader, will constitute no small part of the big show. Four canning demonstration teams will compete at the fair to determine which shall go to the state fair. A livestock judging team composed of club members, will also go to the state show. William Bray has offered two purebred Holstein calves as prizes in the Dairy Calf Club work, and rivalry for this award is keen.

The First National bank is offering a prize of $25 for the finest baby beef grown by a club member. Two baby beef yearlings raised by Don West, Mt. Laki club member, will be auctioned off either Thursday or Friday afternoon at the fair. Sexton stated, declaring that he hoped local butchers will jump out to bid on these quality calves and so encourage the youthful club workers.

Flower Exhibit Wonderful
The flower shop, under the direction of Mrs. W. P. Myers and assisted by Mrs. M. S. West and Mrs. H. N. Moe, will be better than ever and will have some very good products of Klamath's beauty.

Mrs. J. Fred Goeller and Mrs. Robert Adams have charge of the Domestic Art division and promise a wonderful display of the handiwork of Klamath's busy women. Mrs. George Humphrey and Mrs. Jennie Hurn have charge of the Culinary department and expect a bountiful display of the art of the housewives of Klamath.

Other superintendents of divisions are: L. A. West and Hugh McNeary, beef cattle; S. P. Dehlinger and C. C. Lewis, dairy cattle; Roy Nelson and Hans Nylander, hogs; Will Hammond, sheep; Dr. F. M. Trout and J. R. Cooper, poultry; T. N. Case, poultry products; Chas. Mack, farm products; Henry Semon, potatoes; Geo. C. Ulrich, fruit; Percy Murray, bee and dairy products.

Rabbits of Great Interest
Another outstanding feature of the fair this year is the rabbit show in charge of H. R. Milner, who expects entries from all over the west. A renowned rabbit judge will be here, Judge John C. Fehr of Indianapolis, Indiana. Judges for the fair will be: Dairy judge, P. T. Fortner, county agent at Lakeview; Farm crops, H. B. Howell, county agent at Grants Pass; Livestock, B. W. Rodenwald of the Oregon Agricultural college; and Home economics, Helen Cowgill, assistant state club leader.
