

Sinnott Explains Enactment of O. & C. Land Grant Bill

During Congressman Sinnott's address yesterday at the chamber of commerce forum luncheon he dwelt with the O. & C. Land Grant Bill in which he took an active part.

It appears that much of the work was done by the house committee, that nothing could have gotten anywhere in the senate, without the full endorsement of the house, and that congressional influence had considerable to do in getting the President's final signature to the bill.

HAVANA SUFFERING RESULT HURRICANE

of damage estimated at $3,000,000 and paralyzing communications.

One of several oil tanks belonging to the Beloit Oil company is afire across the bay, more than 200 houses of the cheaper type have collapsed and it is believed that several persons in Havana or environs, have been killed.

The Maine monument, most imposing of the Spanish-American memorials, was blown over and broken into four pieces.

The five story automobile assembling plant built by the Ford company was gutted by the wind. One Ford car was blown from the third story of the building to the street.

Approximately 100 fishing schooners are believed to have been wrecked on the beach.

The gale, which had been predicted Tuesday night struck at 3 a. m. Wednesday, attaining hurricane force at 8:30.

Signs above stores, windows and many smaller structures were demolished before the wind's force began to break at 1 p. m.

Six persons are reported to have been killed and 17 injured in Arroyarjano, 10 miles from Havana, and one person is said to have been killed here.

Telephone communication has been impossible all day and police are having difficulty in checking the number of casualties.

The correspondent saw the side of a small house collapse, exposing three people huddled in a room as the roof collapsed on them.

The first floors of houses on Malecon street were under four feet of water and all business in the city was suspended.

The army and navy was called out to maintain order and many persons were arrested during the afternoon for looting stores. Laborers were pressed into service to guard the stores.

Several tugs sank in the harbor, but it is believed that the crews escaped. The captain of the steamer Thorner, which was anchored in the bay, found that his ship was drifting to sea and succeeded in throwing a line to shore, where his vessel was made safe.

The Parque Central was a mass of uprooted trees and the main streets were strewn with glass from store windows. Seventy-five per cent of the trees in the city were blown over when the storm was at its height.

Damage to crops is believed to be enormous.

HOT PARKER HOUSE ROLLS Take one cup each of milk and water, scald together with two tablespoons of butter or substitute.

Let cool until lukewarm. Add one cake yeast dissolved in one-fourth cup lukewarm water (to which had been added one teaspoon salt and two tablespoons sugar). Add about four or five cups flour and stir up quite a thick sponge.

TEMPTING SALADS MADE 15 MINUTES

The base of these salads is luscious oranges—that means they are delicious as well as healthy. The salts and acids are natural appetizers and digestive acids. They help to nourish complete assimilation of the nutriment from other foods.

Here are four recipes, cut them out and use them. See how good they are and how they save your time.

Orange and Banana Salad Peel oranges, removing all white skin. Cut into one-fourth inch slices. Place two slices on each lettuce-covered salad plate, cover with two lengthwise quarters of banana which have been covered with lemon juice and rolled in finely ground nuts. Top with slices of orange. Garnish with mayonnaise and maraschino cherry.

Orange and Cheese Salad Peel orange and divide into segments, rejecting all white inner skin. Arrange on salad plate covered with lettuce. Garnish with balls of cream cheese which have been rolled in grated orange rind.

Orange and Apple Salad Peel oranges and slice, rejecting all white skin. Cut wedge-shaped slices from red apples, without paring. Arrange on lettuce-covered salad plates using alternate slices of orange and apple.

Orange and Cabbage Salad Peel oranges removing all white skin. Cut into one-fourth inch slices and then into segments. Cover salad plates with finely shredded cabbage. Sprinkle with orange segments. Serve with French dressing.

DRESSING USED IN WALDORF SALAD Mix one can condensed milk, one-half cup vinegar, one teaspoon of mustard, three eggs, salt, pepper and paprika to taste. Beat milk and eggs together well, and add vinegar and seasonings and mustard. Put in pint jar in refrigerator until ready for use. No boiling is necessary.

Pep Rally Today By Students of Klamath High

Brady Montgomery, the tumbling yell leader, and formerly yell leader for Klamath county high school, and later of Oregon Agricultural college, will lead the students of Klamath high school in a pep rally at the school at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The rally is being held in preparation for the Ashland-Klamath Falls game which will be held on the local gridiron Saturday.

Linn Nesmith and several other speakers have promised to appear on the program and all those holding booster tickets are especially welcomed to this rally.

Gilbert Fleet, student yell leader, will also be on hand, the student body president assures, to inspire the students with Klamath's pep that is to be kept up before the big game Saturday.

Another Arrest Is Made in N. J. Murder Mystery

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 20.—(United News)—Mrs. Minna Clark was arrested at her home here last Wednesday by detectives bearing a warrant charging her with complicity in the Hall-Mills murders.

Mrs. Clark was committed to the Somerset jail without bail, pending a hearing before Judge Cleary, Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Clark was prominent in the affairs of the church of St. John the Evangelist when the rector and choir singers were killed more than four years ago and the prosecution has intimated many times that she who early discovered the love affair between the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills.

Her indignation, the state contends, led Mrs. Clark to bear tales to the rector's wife, Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall. But the church worker proved close mouthed when Prosecutor Alex Simpson's aides questioned her several weeks ago and soon afterwards announced that she was suffering from a nervous breakdown, and took to her bed.

DIVORCEE THOUGHT SUICIDE PORTLAND, Oct. 20.—(United News)—Missing from home since Tuesday, Mrs. Beata Withers, a divorcee, was found Wednesday afternoon in an old trunk in the garret of her home here, apparently having been suffocated.

Police believe that she took her own life, as no marks of violence were found on her body.

A FAITHFUL DOG (Hood River Glacier) The faith of a dog, if we but pause sometime and study the devotion of these friends of men, can put us humans to shame.

Not long ago we saw a little boy rescue a fox terrier from other little boys who, not perhaps from a desire to be cruel, but merely animated by thoughtless, spontaneous action of boyhood, were tormenting the little beast.

That pup, lost from its own master, showed appreciation in every wag of his tail and there was a look in his eyes that was as eloquent as well chosen words.

That story of the dog, at Bingen, Wash., which heeded the calls of his little master, and swam to the submerged raft in a Columbia slough and rescued the boy, is all the more interesting when we learn of some of the history of the dog.

All real boys love dogs. The little Playle boy, recently when a stray mongrel appeared at the home of his parents, fed and comforted the stranger. That pup, although his parents were not so keen about the new possession, sent the boy to have been God-sent, a real play-fellow.

And the dog repaid the kindness. Mr. and Mrs. Playle now have a kinder regard for dogs. They, too, say that they thank Providence for sending their little boy a stray dog on which to expend his kindness.

EUGENE DEBS DIES AT ELMHURST, ILL.

Debs was nearly 71 years old. He had lost much of his former vigor—he was completely broken physically—but his ideals remained as real to him as ever.

"I will go to my grave convinced that socialism and socialism alone offers the only remedy for the political and economic troubles of mankind," Debs said in one of his last public addresses.

Ever since Debs' condition became critical the sanitarian telephone was kept busy by countless friends calling to inquire of his condition and to express hope for his recovery.

To these and thousands of others who knew him through the news of his death means the loss of a dear friend and a great leader in a cause that always seemed to fall just short of its goal.

To the rest of the land the rebels mean that the leader of the rebels against the social order of the day is removed.

Few men in public life were more genuinely despised than this "litter giant" of the socialist cause; few men were more feared.

The name of Debs first reached out across the country during the railroad war of the 90s. As the leader of the railroad strike of 1894, which was finally put down by President Cleveland calling out federal troops, Debs was "first page" copy for weeks.

September 14, 1918, he was sentenced to federal penitentiary to serve a ten-year sentence, having been convicted of violation of the espionage act.

But he came out of Atlanta, his eyes still gleaming brightly through the mist of years. The tall frame had grown spare. The bent head and feeble body as he stood on the railroad platform immediately after his release belied the still vigorous intellect.

He had served two years eight months and ten days when he was released by order of President Harding on the morning of December 23, 1922.

Debs was born in Terre Haute, Nov. 5, 1855, the son of Daniel and Margaret Betterich Debs. He received a common school education and then went to work. His education was largely obtained through independent study. He was still as keen a student in his declining years, as in his youth.

Red Grange Will Show at Orpheus For 4 Full Days

The greatest football player of all times—in a great picture! The silver sheet is at last graced by the "Illini Flash," not a brief newsreel, but a full length feature picture, entitled "One Minute to Play" which will be shown at the Orpheus Theatre Saturday next, when it will begin a four-day run.

Admirers of Red Grange and lovers of football will have the treat of their lives when they see the popular idol in a story that is built around football, and one which gives Red a chance to show the stuff that has made him the greatest player the world has ever had.

The climax is a thrilling game through which the "Gridiron Ghost" tears with his unrivalled speed and incomparable technique. The picture was made under the direction of Sam Wood from the original story of Byron Morgan. The cast includes: Mary McAllister, Ben Hendricks, Jr., Lincoln Steadman, Lee Shumway, Charles Ogle, Jay Hunt, Edythe Shapman and George Wilson, the latter the famous All-American half-back.

Probable Decision Today on Pelican Rebuilding Plans

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20.—(United News)—Plans for rebuilding the Klamath Development company's hotel in Klamath Falls, burned to the ground last week, will be discussed at a meeting of the company's officers here Thursday.

T. P. Henderson, Klamath Falls, manager of the company, will meet with other officials of the concern, it was announced today at the company's office.

The first matter to be considered, it was said, will be that of insurance on the destroyed structure. After it has been ascertained what amount will be forthcoming from the underwriters, a new hotel project will be discussed.
