

City to Consider Expert's Plans of New Sewer System

A comprehensive report on the sewer situation in Klamath Falls and an outline of recommendations for adequate sewer facilities here, was received yesterday by the city clerk from Clyde C. Kennedy, consulting engineer from San Francisco, who made an exhaustive survey of the situation here last spring.

In his detailed report to the city Kennedy recommends a modern sewerage system costing $441,565.00, which will take care of the city's needs for all time. The engineer's findings will probably be considered by the city council in the near future.

In presenting his data and specifications, Kennedy stated: "Existing conditions at Klamath Falls, with its unprecedented growth, and existing inadequate sewerage facilities, vitally affect the health and economic welfare of the community and demand that immediate action be taken toward the installation of an adequate system."

The consulting engineer advises the installation of one large isolated treatment plant, in preference to several smaller plants, and names as the best location a site on the westerly shore of Lake Ewauna, about one mile south of the city limits. The report deals with the collection and conveyance of sewage as well as with the problem of sewage treatment.

Kennedy advocates a collection and conveyance system concentrating sewage from all tributary areas at a single location near Link River and the Main street bridge, to be pumped from there through an outfall line under low pressure to the treating plant on the west side of the lake.

CLAIMS HE CHASED A BEAR RIGHT ON STREETS OF CITY

Klamath isn't as civilized as it thinks when bears wander around in the wee sma' hours of the morning, putting paws in milk bottles.

Anyway, A. L. Harrison of 1429 Wilford avenue swears he was in the right mood when he started down town at 4 o'clock yesterday morning to buy groceries. As he started across the canal bridge on Lincoln street, he saw a huge, fluffy animal putting lumbering paws off the bridge to the pavement. Harrison's footsteps on the bridge caused Sir Bruin to turn and the full benefit of bear, ears and all, was obtained by Harrison.

According to the early morning riser, he chased the bear to the R. C. Groesbeck house on Ninth and Lincoln, and there lost sight of him.

If anyone sees a strange bear wandering about the vicinity of Ninth street and Lincoln, they may return him to A. L. Harrison, for he is his by right of conquest and first sight.

Klamath Highways Need More Oil by Reason of Traffic

Klamath county, that section of the county wherein the heavily travelled state highways run, is experiencing a new fling in traffic as the result of figures produced by the state highway office taken Sunday on the different arteries over which traffic passes.

Following the count, it became evident to those interested in the upkeep of Klamath's roads, that it will be necessary to oil the highways if they are to stand up under the terrific strain of tourist traffic next spring and summer.

Following is the check of travel on county roads taken by the department:

The Dalles-California highway at Lakeview junction, 2,165; The Dalles-California highway at Pelican City, 1,623; The Dalles-California highway between Fort Klamath junction and the junction of the Chiloquin market road, 373; The Dalles-California highway between Fort Klamath junction and Sand Creek, 188; Carter Lake highway between Fort Klamath junction and Crater Lake boundary, 297; Ashland-Klamath Falls highway from Keno west to the Jackson county line, 850; Dorris road, 225; Lakeview state highway from junction of highway with The Dalles-California highway to Olene, 827; Lakeview highway from junction of Yonna Valley market road west to Olene, 253; Lakeview highway from junction of Yonna Valley market road east to Bonanza, 194; Yonna Valley market road, 86; Chiloquin market road, 455.

FEDERAL INSPECTOR HERE OFFICIALLY

Here to inspect the merits of the Klamath sheep, J. C. Exline of Olympia, Washington, federal sheep inspector, arrived in Klamath Falls yesterday from the north.

"I just got in," Exline stated, "but I am going out to the Merrill and Mallu countries this morning to look into the sheep conditions there."

IRRIGATION BOARD TO HEAR COMPLAINTS

Only two complaints relative to operation and maintenance charges in the Klamath District under the project, had been filed with E. V. Hillius, secretary of the Klamath Irrigation district, up to closing hours yesterday.

Directors of the irrigation district will sit as a board of equalization at 10 a. m. to day, to hear protests from water users on the project. All farmers who have complaints about charges for water on their land are expected to appear before the board and voice their dissatisfaction.

Altamont School To Be Dedicated Friday, Oct. 29

October 29 is the date set for the dedication exercises at the new Altamont school, when an appropriate program in charge of the Parent-Teachers association will be presented.

This is according to Mrs. James Ezell, principal at the Altamont school, who says the public and all candidates are cordially invited to attend the dedication ceremony.

A program of surpassing interest is ready for launching, and a further attraction for Klamath Falls citizens will be the well planned refreshments which are to close the event.

PONCE DE LEON

didn't have Kuppenheimer in his party

That's why Youth escaped him!

Ponce de Leon went forth to find the fountain of youth . . . but he only discovered the real estate in Florida. He failed to realize that youth is simply a state of mind and a state of appearance.

The grandmother who dresses like a flapper and bobs her hair has the only real youth-formula. She knows that youth is kept perennial by young thoughts and young clothes.

The House of Kuppenheimer, this Fall, is fifty years old . . . and feeling like a colt.

For in fifty years, Kuppenheimer has made only one kind of clothing . . . young men's . . . for men from sixteen to sixty . . . and in serving youth it has preserved youth.

As an excellent youth- tonic for Fall, come take a peek at the spirited Kuppenheimer suit and overcoat models for the new season . . . now at this store. Their virile sprightly lines will take the wrinkles out of both your mind and appearance.

See THE CHARLESTON—in Banff Blues

A blue suit is like gold currency. It never goes out of style. But there are blues and blues . . . the most delightful of which are the new Kuppenheimer blues—which range in tone from the dark sonorous blue of an Irish lassie's eye to the green blue of the sea . . . Banff Blues are especially smart, tailored in the new Charleston Sack . . . as shown on the young man above.
