The popular search for an ultimate religion goes on apace. Some new cult is launched every other day. And however novel or fantastic its teaching, there appears to be no lack of people to espouse and propagate the doctrine. Man is incurably religious. The presence of a score or more of ecclesiastical groups in Klamath Falls is a striking suggestion of the fact that folks here, as elsewhere, are genuinely concerned with the great business of finding a religion which meets their needs. On Sunday evening at the Methodist church the incoming pastor speaks on the topic: "Wanted—A Satisfactory Religion." A cordial invitation is extended to the general public. The service begins at 7:20.

MARRIAGE, DIVORCE BUSINESS IS SLOW

The marriage license records at the county courthouse revealed yesterday that only one couple signified their intentions of entering the bonds of wedlock.

They are Ora Phillips, rancher of Jacksonville, Oregon, and Aldrena Caldwell, of Klamath Falls.

Pertinent is word from the circuit court that for the first time in many months, no divorce cases were tried on Thursday, regular day in the local hall of justice. Incidentally, no divorce cases were filed with the clerk of the court yesterday.

Them will be administered to several candidates. Two questions, among others, the pastor will answer Sunday night are, "First, 'Who Made God?'; Second, 'Who Made Satan?'" Follow the crowd and come to the Temple Sunday evening.
