How Sarah Bernhardt kept YOUNG

At seventy, Sarah Bernhardt was still one of the greatest actresses in the world.

Once she was asked how she kept young enough to continue on the stage.

"Oh," she said, "youth is not a question of birthdays, it is a question of keeping the mind young."

The fuss and worry of home washing do not help to "keep the mind young."

And hundreds of women have found a way to longer youth and added charm by forgetting that such a thing as "washday" ever existed. They use our "Finished Service"—a finer laundry service, dainty and complete in every detail—that returns everything carefully washed, beautifully ironed, looking as if your own careful hands had done the work. It is the finest of laundry services—an investment in leisure and in youth.
