

Boston Has Pugs Who Strive for Higher Honors

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(United News)—It appears that Boston, once the home of the world's greatest heavyweight of all time, now has two big fellows, either of whom may eventually succeed to the championship which John L. Sullivan won on the green lawn amid the magnolias at Mississippi City.

When Jack Sharkey knocked all the championship aspirations out of Harry Wills at Ebbett's field on Columbus Day, he was acknowledged as a likely contender for the heavyweight title, some day, provided he made friends with Tex Rickard.

Sharkey, a Lithuanian with an unpronounceable name, asked to be called the "New Boston Strong Boy" and hurled defiance at Gene Tunney.

But before Sharkey convinces us that he is indeed the "New Boston Strong Boy" and a worthy successor to the one and only John L., he must dispose his fellow-townsmen, Jimmy Maloney. The latter proved his worth last week when he knocked out Arturo De Kuh in two rounds during a heavyweight show at Madison Square Garden. The manner of Maloney's victory left no doubt as to his ability.

Boston, once the home of great fighters, now should find out which of these two youngsters is the greater and send him steadily ahead on the road to the heavyweight championship.

Sharkey and Maloney have fought three times according to the record books. Maloney won the decision in a ten round encounter in 1924. He lost to Sharkey on a foul in nine rounds on June 5, 1925, and was outpointed by the Lithuanian Dec. 11, 1925, in a ten round bout. During one of these affairs, however, Maloney caused Sharkey to kiss the canvas no fewer than seven times.

The way Maloney went to work on De Kuh the other night impressed the experts. He got in close and flattened the over-rated Italian eight times before the referee wisely stopped the slaughter. De Kuh, of course, lacked experience and had been rushed along too fast. But he had made a fair showing against some second raters and Maloney's victory should not be discounted too heavily.

Sharkey made an excellent showing against Wills. He subdued the erstwhile Black Panther before the negro took the easy way out and fouled.

RUMORS IN BAY CITY FORECAST ROAD DOOM

that while the matter had been discussed for the last six years, "a workable plan for consolidation has not yet been developed and probably some amendment of the transportation act will be necessary before anything definite can be accomplished."

"Personally I have always been in favor of a greater unification of the three roads, believing that such unification will make of them a railroad system that will be of greater service to the growing west and northwest than is the present arrangement, and will in time produce savings that would be very helpful to the important part of the United States served by these railroads and also the owners of the securities in this section," Elliott said.

"No one can say today what the position of the interstate commerce commission is nor how rapidly any greater unification than exists today can be made effective."

WOMAN'S FEATHERED BONNET SHOT OFF HEAD BY HUNTER

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Nov. 10.—Mrs. Hazel Cornelissen decided to wear her new feathered hat when she went to call on a friend who lived a short distance down a country road. She was about half way there when a hunter rose out of the brush and excitedly emptied both barrels at the feathers. "Looked just like a partridge ma'am," was his apology. All the lady lost was her hat.

Coast League to Have 27 Weeks of Ball Next Season

PORTLAND, Nov. 10.—(United News)—Repealing their previous action, directors of the Pacific Coast baseball league in session here yesterday voted in favor of a 27-week schedule for next year, and at the same time decided to open the season one week earlier and close two weeks earlier.

The earlier opening and closing date was selected to avoid conflict with the Pacific coast intercollegiate conference.

Following are the series decided upon for the first four weeks:

March 29—Portland at San Francisco, Seattle at Los Angeles, Mission at Oakland, and Hollywood at Sacramento.

April 5—Portland at Oakland, Seattle at Sacramento, Los Angeles at Hollywood, and San Francisco at Mission.

April 12—Hollywood at Portland; Mission at Seattle; Sacramento at San Francisco, and Oakland at Los Angeles.

April 19—Mission at Portland; Hollywood at Seattle; Sacramento at Los Angeles and Oakland at San Francisco.

The new schedule was a compromise between proposals for opening the season earlier.

ELECTION FRAUD

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Nov. 10.—(United News)—The election scandal here concerns the report that an enthusiastic worker, unable to find Nicholas Tuzza's father, took Nicholas, a 22-year old deaf mute to the polls and voted him under the parent's name. Tuzza was unaware of the fraud.

Sportsmanship Is Included In Code Of Big University

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(United News)—The University of Illinois, host to the University of Pennsylvania in one of Saturday's big intercollegiate football contests, has announced its code of sportsmanship.

While the heat of conflict and the inevitable desire to win occasionally produce lapses of self-discipline, the code of the Illinois is observed at Urbana, and might be copied by many institutions to their immediate improvement.

The code is unnecessarily verbose, but with football approaching the days of big games and rabid partisanship, it is worth repeating:

1. I accept the proposition that my athletic opponents are my guests. I will always cheer the arrival of the opposing team upon the field, reward by applause an opponent who makes a good play and keep silent when an opponent is penalized.
 2. I will never deride any official of the game; neither will I ridicule an opponent or his coach or shout discourteous and brutal remarks.
 3. I will not cheer any member of the home team who is taken out of the game for unsportsmanlike conduct nor manifest approval of viciousness, brutality, unnecessary roughness or unfair trickery.
 4. I never will allow a heated team to leave the home or foreign field without an honest cheer for its pluck.
 5. I do not believe that it is good sportsmanship to harass an opponent by shouting, whistling, hissing or booing when he is calling signals or attempting to complete any act of skill.
 6. I do not believe I am being fair when I give my cheers only to the man who profits most from the hard work of others, realizing that a halfback must have good interference and a strong line.
 7. I will always cheer an opponent who has been hurt in the game.
- There are a couple of other clauses to the Illinois code, but they are repetitious. The idea behind the code is good. Certainly the Illinois take the duties of their cheering section seriously.

CHILD IS TREATED IN BRUTAL MANNER

PORTLAND, Nov. 10.—(United News)—Dorothy Tefferteller, a tiny tot of four years, was in the hospital here today suffering from burns and bruises inflicted during one of the most brutal beatings ever to come to the attention of humane society officials. A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Mrs. Ruth Carroll, the child's stepmother.

The condition of the child was learned when a probation officer visited the home, as the baby had been listed as a "dependent" following separation of its father and mother. Bruises and burns are thick on the child's body. Her eyes were blackened and both lips cut. It was reported that Mrs. Carroll had been in difficulty before in regard to her treatment of children.

Mother Kills Two Children; Slashes Husband, Suicides

LUTHER, Iowa, Nov. 10.—(United News)—Lethargy which he could not shake off brought death Wednesday to three members of the family of Frank Clark, and serious injuries to the other two.

While he dozed after watching his wife during the early part of Tuesday night, Mrs. Frank Clark, 37, killed two of her three children with a razor, slashed her husband and the other child, and committed suicide by drinking poison.

Her peculiar actions had aroused Clark's suspicions, and he had determined to remain awake all night. After midnight, however, he fell asleep in his chair and Mrs. Clark, with insane cunning, seized the razor, slashed him and went after the children.

CLARK'S SUSPICIONS.—The mayor in his Armistice Proclamation says: "It is fitting and proper that all good American citizens should revere and honor the memory of our sacred dead."

With this end in view, a simple service of Remembrance will be held in the Episcopal church on the morning of Armistice Day at 11:00 a. m. and concluding before 12:00 p. m. Mrs. Marjorie Olds will sing "The Reconciliation." The rector will lead the devotions and the address will be exceedingly simple and short.

Minor Leaguer is Drawn as Manager of Pirate Team

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(United News)—The Cubs went to the minors for a manager last year and drew a cracker-jack. The Pirates will try out the same thing in 1927.

Handling a major league ball club is no new thing to "Donie" Bush, for the new and scrappy manager elected by Barney Dreyfus to lead the Buccaneers was once before in a similar role at Washington.

Owen J. Bush, to give the peppery Indianapolis youth his full name, also was a big league shortstop and lead off man for the Detroit Tigers for many years.

Since his release by Clark Griffith after the 1923 season, however, Bush has been known as a minor league manager in his own home town, and a successful one at that. Few figured him when the Pirates were groping around for a new pilot, but few doubt his ability to do the Pittsburgh ball club a lot of good.

There will be a contrast between the way Bush handles the Corsairs and the methods of Bill McKechnie, "Donie" is inclined to swing on the offending player's jaw first and remonstrate afterwards. His way may have a salutary effect upon the Pirates.

Bush has a one-year contract. He is going in with carte blanche from Dreyfus to see what he can make of the club. It is make good, or get out.

ASTORIA, Nov. 10.—(United News)—Injuries he received when the automobile in which he was riding was struck by an S. P. and S. train proved fatal late last night to William F. McGregor, 67, president of the First National bank and of the Astoria Box company.

FLUE FIRE NEGLIGIBLE.—A flue fire in the Eleventh street residence of Horace Manning, resulted in a quick run for the local fire department about nine-thirty last night. Damage was said to be negligible.
