

Wholesale Arrests in Rumanian Plot to Foment Revolt

VIENNA, Nov. 19.—(United Press)—A dispatch from Bucharest to Alleghenian Zeitung today said wholesale arrests had followed the discovery of a plot to smuggle former Crown Prince Carol of Rumania to Bucharest as the prelude to a revolution.

King Ferdinand would have been compelled to abdicate and Carol would have been enthroned, according to the dispatch.

Former Crown Prince Carol was believed to be in Paris today. After his disappearance last December Carol was found in the company of Mme. Magda Lupescu, a blonde, in Milan, Italy.

Subsequently they went to Paris, where Carol and Magda have continued to live.

MEDFORD SUCREST CO. LONES COURT ACTION

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—(U. P.)—The United States government today won a verdict in the suit filed against it by the Suncrest Orchard company of Medford, which alleged that government officials had "wantonly confiscated a large quantity of fruit owned by the Suncrest company," because the fruit bore too much arsenate of lead.

The fruit company contended that the lead was used for killing insects and was a necessity which, in the quantity used, was not harmful.

SIGHTSEERS EXPERIENCE NOVELTY OF SNOWBOUND

PORTLAND, Nov. 20.—(U. P.)—Snowbound by a blizzard that swept upon them suddenly, and held them beyond Bennett pass, the high line of Mount Hood, a party of sightseers was at the mercy of the storm from early afternoon to dusk Friday.

The party, all Tirrell bus passengers, were rescued at dusk and taken to the government camp, where they spent the night.

IDAHO UNIVERSITY LOSE CLOSE GAME TO U. OF S. C.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 20.—(United Press)—A sensational forward pass attack, together with the brilliant running of Howard Elliott, substitute quarterback, gave the university of Southern California a 28 to 6 victory over Idaho university here this afternoon.

The most startling play of the afternoon, a pass, Jacoby to Owings, brought Idaho's only score. Owings took the ten yard pass with his finger tips and sprinted 50 yards to the goal line. He failed to convert.

A MOUNTAIN STORY

The following is taken from a column in the Gastonia Gazette called "Through the Keyhole."

The gaunt and gray old mountaineer lay on his deathbed. His eyes were half closed and he breathed slowly and hard. His face was haggard and his hands white and blue-veined.

By his side sat his eldest daughter, a sharp-faced woman of 35, and she fanned him with a newspaper as she calmly dipped snuff with the free hand. Now and then a fly lazily buzzed around the grey head of the old man as he moved. He was near death's door, his feeble body had about run its course and his eyes were dim, with a far-away look.

His nostrils began to quiver almost imperceptibly. He took a whiff of the air with a feeble effort, rolled his eyes around and spoke: "Evvie, Evvie, ain't that ham I smell a-cookin'?"

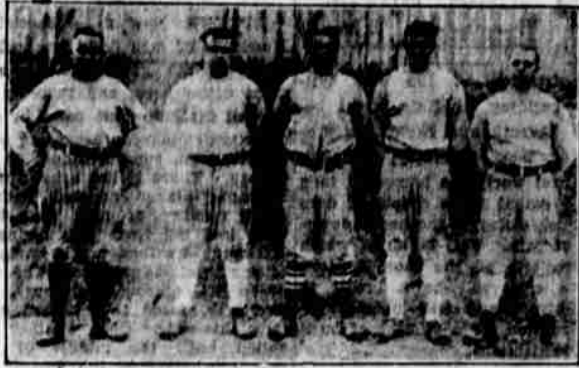

"Yes, Pap. What y' wantin' now?" "Evvie, I wuz jes' thinkin' if I could have a nice slice o' that ham and a pone o' cornbread."

CREAM PUFFS

Use one cup hot water, one-half cup butter, one cup pastry flour, four eggs. Heat the butter and water until the water comes to a boil. Add the flour all at once and mix thoroughly. Cook, stirring constantly, until mass leaves the sides of the pan in a smooth ball of dough. Beat until thoroughly mixed. Drop by tablespoonfuls on buttered baking sheets and bake for thirty-five or forty minutes (according to size). When cool, fill with whipped cream, sweetened and flavored with cream filling. Cover puff with butter cream icing or any icing desired. Be careful about the heat of your oven. Have it rather slow at first and then increase. If you have it too hot at first the puffs will rise up and then fall.

They Whip Oregon Aggie Players Into Condition

BELL FIELD, Corvallis, Nov. 20.

(United Press)—Playing on a rain soaked field before a record crowd the Oregon Aggies' football squad made Pacific northwest football history here this afternoon by defeating Oregon 16 to 0.

The victory marked the first time the Aggies have defeated Oregon two years in succession. It was the first homecoming victory the Aggies ever registered over Oregon on Bell field.

All scoring was done in the final half, the first tallies being registered in the third quarter, when Schulmerich's toe sent the ball sailing between the goalposts.

The first touchdown was in the final period after one of Wetzel's punts had been partly blocked. Jarvis picked up the ball and raced to the two yard line before he was downed. Schulmerich hit the line for one yard and Howard Maple, who got out of the hospital shortly before the game, and who had relieved Denman, rilled off would-be tacklers and went over the line. Schulmerich failed to convert.

The second touchdown also was carried over by Maple, who intercepted a pass thrown by Wetzell. He eluded half a dozen tacklers and raced down the field for a touchdown. Schulmerich converted.

During the first half the Web-footers of Oregon met the heavier Aggies and battled on even terms, threatening to score several times.

HOOTCH TO BE SOLD BY STATUTE IS PLAN

ply from now on for medicinal spirits.

"This corporation would provide for replenishment and, under government regulation, distribute medicinal spirits direct to the retail druggist by American Railway express. This corporation would buy for immediate delivery in bottles, labeled, sealed and cased, all the privately owned stocks; and six or eight distillery warehouses suitably located for distribution.

"The purchase price paid by the corporation and the sales price to the purchaser at the drug store would be based on prevailing prices during the six months immediately preceding November 1, 1926.

Financing is Considered

"The method of financing the corporation is yet under discussion in an endeavor to accomplish the object without government financial support. The suggestion is that the government will name the initial board of directors. It is proposed to select as directors outstanding citizens whose experience will assure proper management—wholesale druggists, bankers, physicians, life insurance executives, etc.

"The government would audit the accounts of the corporation from time to time and earnings would be limited to assure a reasonable cost to the public."

When Andrews' proposal was made public tonight it was emphasized that the government was not going into the liquor business. The corporation is to be absolutely private, but under close federal supervision.

Pure Whiskey Assured

Andrews said the plan would save $1,000,000 annually in enforcement, it will insure pure whiskey to the sick at reasonable cost and takes medical liquor out of the competitive market, he said.

The corporation, it was explained, probably will be financed by the sale of stocks and bonds. Aside from close supervision by the prohibition organization it would function virtually the same as any other commercial business.

With only fifteen million gallons of liquor left in bond and medicinal whiskey being consumed at the rate of about three million gallons annually the need for replenishing the supply is acute, Andrews said.

The proposed legislation will authorize replenishment of medicine liquors without introducing political conditions and without opening further avenues for diversion.

Only two distilleries will be operated by the corporation.
