Page Six

Friday, December 3, 1920

AND GIRLS

Write Your Letters

Now To

SANTA CLAUS

THE KLAMATH NEWS

BOYS

First Prize

Vanity, vanity, all is vanity! But what little girl would care to go through life without the pretty things, especially a lovely bracelet watch? With this in mind, Glover's Jewelery Store is offering a bracelet watch to the winner of the First Prize.

Second Prize

Will be a Beautiful Doll, given by Mr. Vannice, of the Golden Rule. The Golden Rule has a beautiful Toy Land and a wonderful selection of Dolls from Santa Claus.

Third Prize

Fairy stories, ghost stories, detective stories-in fact any kind of a story one could wish for, can be found in book form at the Shaw-McRea Stationary Co. Mr. McRea is offering Parker Pen and Pencil Set.

Fourth Prize

Have Mother or Dad Read the Following INSTRUCTIONS

ECEMBER is Santa Claus month and just because he is the most important fellow in the world at this time and because the children of Klamath Falls are all vitally interested in this special friend of theirs, the local merchants are going to help to make this Christmas the jolliest ever. And the Klamath News is going to help Klamath's merchants by co-operating with them and publishing Santa Claus Page once each week beginning Today and continuing on until the Friday before Christmas.

All letters must be in the Klamath News office not later than 6 o'clock Monday night-Dec. 22.

The big game will be a letter writing contest. Any youngster under 12 years of age who has any ideas about what they want Santa to bring, or who wish to write personal letters of admiration or advice to the Old Fellow from the North Pole, has only to do so and address them to the Klamath News and they will be taken care of by Santa Claus' secretary. Write names and addresses plainly. These letters will be published on Santa Claus' Own Page and the ten best letters will be awarded choice prizes from Santa's Christmas pack the day before Christmas.

Sixth Prize

Is to be a balloon tire fast Scooter for some forfortunate little boy or girl. Roberts & Harvey, headquarters for Scooters, Wagons, Trykes and other "boy things," are furnishing this.

Seventh Prize

Goodies, goodies, goodjes! Always carying the finest and best in food stuffs, Chris Barnstable of the Hurry Cash Grocery Store, is giving a Box of Candies, Nuts and Sweets to the child who sends Santa a letconsidered good ter enough for a prize.

Eighth Prize

At the Variety Store Santa Claus has unburdened enough toys to make every boy and girl in Klam-ath Falls look forward to Christmas with keen anticipation. Mrs. Morrison and Miss MacKenzie of the Variety Store are giv-ing a Packard Sport Roadster.

Ninth Prize

To encourage future happiness through thrift some tot will find ir his Christmas stocking Five D. start in the savings account, which will likely put him in a position to become a second Henry Ford. This prize will be given by the American National Bank.

The Claud H. Davis Fur niture Co., overflowing with beautiful and useful gifts for Father, Mother, Sister and Brother, will give a Flexible Flyer -Coaster Wagan, Black Boards.

Fifth Prize

E .

「「「「「「「「「「」」」」

あいたれた

For the manly boy who takes pride in his personal appearance, the Brownsville Woolen Store will give a classy Wool Blazer.

This is a busy time for everybody and the Merchants here will help Santa Claus out by acting as judges for him. the the attracts

Tenth Prize

Christmas, in all its gay dress of holly and evergreens, is particularly evident in Underwood's Pharmacy, where many days have been devoted to building a Christmas fairy land. Sleeping Dolls and Mamma Dolls are found here that would make any girl's heart go flop. Mr. Under-wood is giving a $3 Baby Doll for the letter which is judged tenth best.

