

LaBarba Fights Clark on Friday

NEW YORK, Jan. 20. (U.N.)—Fidel La Barba, swarthy little fly-weight champion of the world, will enter the ring at Madison Square Garden Friday night a two to one favorite, over Elky Clark, Scottish challenger.

The titleholder has come through a period of intensive training, is in the pink of condition and is confident of his ability to defeat the ragged little Scot in their 12-round bout, which will be the first championship fight of the New Year.

It will be the first title fight with an international flavor in many moons and all Scotland is excited over the possibility of the championship going back to the old country, where it once was held, and ably defended by Jimmy Wilde.

An evidence of Scotch interest is the fact that the Scotland Times is using the long distance telephone to interview Elky on the eve of battle and to send him—at a cost of $75 for three minutes—the good wishes of his countrymen.

"Every man and woman in Scotland is convinced you are going to win," telephoned the editor of the Times Thursday.

LEO ROBERTS FOUND GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

DALLAS, Ore., Jan. 20. (U.N.)—After being out only five hours, the jury in the trial of Leo Roberts, accused of killing John McComber, returned a verdict of manslaughter, with a recommendation for leniency. Sentence will be passed Saturday at 10 a. m.

Roberts and McComber engaged in a heated argument at the former's home here over the alleged theft of a child's umbrella on the night of January 4. McComber was shot in the back and killed by Roberts as he was leaving the house after administering a severe beating to Roberts.

YAQUI INDIANS OFFER TO FIGHT FOR COUNTRY

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 20. (U.N.)—Yaqui Indians, who have been in a state of revolt, have offered to surrender to the government forces and aid in fighting the rebels, their former allies, according to dispatches received tonight. The offer was transmitted through General Obregon, who is now in the state of Sonora.

The rebel Indians declare they always have been patriotic, but have been deceived by Adolfo de la Huerta.

Challenge Hurlled At Local Wrestler

A challenge, received last night, is of interest to wrestling fans, who have been devoid of that sort of entertainment for the past six months.

A Klamath man, who has been wandering up and down the coast for the past year and a half earning experience as he goes, has challenged Henry Burke, Klamath Falls champion. The newcomer who hopes to take Burke's belt, is Harry Walsh, 164 pounder, who lives at 815 north Third street.

"Burke can make his own terms, can make all arrangements as far as I am concerned, but I want to meet him. Burke has evaded me for some time, and now I want to test my skill against his," Walsh told friends in the city last night.

Walsh stated last night that if Burke answered the challenge, he would give notice of his experiences. All in all, it looks to wrestling fans as if something good is brewing and the local pride may forfeit his highly prized belt.

New Company to Build Sawmills

LAKEVIEW, Jan. 19. (Special)—Entry into the local field of the newly incorporated Pandango Lumber company was announced the first of the week with the purchase of the lease of the Underwood Lumber company on the John Possett holding in Pandango valley.

The new corporation is composed of Coos Bay capital and is represented locally by Gilbert McLennan. The incorporators include A. E. Adelsperger, John Gosas, Mr. Forsythe and Mr. Conrad, all of Marshfield, or holding extensive interests there.

Lands taken over in the lease include approximately 40 million feet of pine, some 4,000 acres of timberlands being included in the deal. Of this area, 1,000 acres have been cut over in past operations. The deal also includes the milling equipment on the tract, the saw mill itself having a capacity of 40,000 feet daily.

While plans of the Pandango Lumber company have not yet been announced, it is thought locally that the mill may be placed in operation next spring. In some circles it is thought that the company is contemplating a great deal larger project, which would include the purchase of the Pandango tract in the Modoc national forest. This has previously been sold to Hallock & Howard, of Denver, under government contract, but it appears that the purchasers have given up plans for operating the tract.

Delaney-Maloney Fight February 18

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Jan. 20. (U.N.)—Sport fans are speculating on just how much of a drawing card Jimmy Maloney of Boston will be February 18, when he meets Jack Delaney in the first of Tex Rickard's heavyweight elimination contests.

The speculation is based on the fact that before Maloney goes to work for Rickard he has a small matter to attend to in Cleveland, to wit: a 12-round bout with Johnny Risko, the baker boy, January 23.

Should the Cleveland baker knock Maloney sufficiently, the Boston heavyweight won't be worth a biscuit in Rickard's Madison Square Garden show, local fans opine.

Jersey City May Secure Stadium

NEW YORK, Jan. 20. (U.N.)—Tex Rickard is considering the construction of a steel and concrete stadium to cost $1,500,000 in Jersey City to take the place of the pipe board arena erected on Bayley's Thirty Acres.

After a visit from Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, Rickard described the proposed plan in detail, meanwhile declaring that there was nothing definite about the plan.

The stadium would have a capacity of one hundred thousand, and would be patterned after the Yale bowl.

OUTDID BRODIE'S LEAP AND IS GIVEN JOB

NEW YORK, Jan. 20. (U.N.)—Out of work and dependent, Giovanni Spoorza outdid Steve Brodie by leaping into East River from the central span of Manhattan bridge, 142 feet above the water.

Rescued by a tugboat and removed to a hospital, he was offered a job. He was injured by his jump, which was several feet greater than Brodie's famous leap from Brooklyn bridge.

"That was Helen when she was only"

Few things bring greater pleasure than old photographs among old friends.

Pictures of the babies, of the children romping with their beloved pets, of vacation days, of automobile trips and of never-to-be-forgotten walks along pleasant paths—how they open wide the flood-gates of memory.

We wouldn't take thousands of dollars for these records. They are life—little spots of color in a work-a-day world.

Yet back of these priceless records is a thing we do not often consider when we become sentimental or reminiscent. It is this business of advertising.

Advertising in the early days showed us the possibilities of amateur photography. It showed us the ease of taking and making pictures. It took us outdoors. It developed our appreciation of the beautiful in nature.

And the power of advertising so reduced the cost of manufacturing the materials of amateur photography that today there are few people who do not own a camera, few people who do not record pictorially their red-letter days.

Nowadays advertising is telling us of the possibilities of motion pictures for the amateur—a development that fills us all with delightful anticipation.

Advertising will bring this, too, within our grasp.

Advertising is news about things. Advertising is a guide to real value. Advertising, through the service it has rendered, has earned for itself its right to be, and its worthiness of your attention.
