Lowden Looms as Farm Belt Choice

WASHINGTON, April 4, (U.P.)—Word comes from a group of Iowa legislators that Frank O. Lowden of Illinois has agreed to be a candidate for the republican presidential nomination if the farm belt wants him.

This tends to confirm the expectation here that Lowden will make a supreme effort to take the nomination away from President Coolidge next year. Lowden, by his fight for the McNary-Haugen bill, vetoed by the president, is the political symbol of all that the discouraged farmers have been unable to get. He is likely to be supported by a group of farm states but signs of support for him in other sections have not appeared as yet.

ORPHEUS PICTURE OFFERS NEW THEME

Two hearts with but a single thought is the theme of George O'Hara's startling vehicle for P. B. O., to be shown at the Orpheus theatre today. George and a very beautiful young lady start out to rather evidence of a big political graft ring and in the process of doing so manage to become involved with one another. A great many complications and misunderstandings follow, and it is their solution and the eventual explanations that form the body of the story. The story is from the pen of W. A. Sinclair and was dramatized by Paul Gangelin. The cast boasts such favorites as Doris Hill, Stanton Heck, Charley Thurston, Roy Laidlaw, Babe London, Red Kirby and Ethel Laidlaw.
