

Farmer Control of Wheat Marts Urged By Pool President

KANSAS CITY, May 5. (A.P.)—Direct farmer control of world grain markets through cooperative selling organizations with resultant curtailment of speculation, was advocated by C. H. Burnell, president of the Manitoba Wheat Pool, at the opening session of the second international wheat pool conference here today.

Substitution of international cooperation for international competition in agriculture could be obtained, in the opinion of Burnell, chairman of the conference, with a system similar to that used for three years by Canadian growers.

"Governments can help agriculture, but in the last analysis the farmer must attend to his own business," he declared. "The farmer should be too good a business man, and too proud a citizen to ask others to help him when he has an excellent opportunity to help himself."

He explained that Canadian farmers had a big influence on wheat prices because the dominion produces about 40 percent of the world's exportable surplus. Three years' experience in the Canadian pool indicated, he said, that the price of wheat can be stabilized at a level which will be profitable to the producer.

Burnell quoted figures to show that any gain in the price of wheat made by a farmers' agency does not necessarily advance the cost of bread to consumers. He found that in 1925 when wheat prices fluctuated $1 1/2 a bushel, the wholesale price of bread in Winnipeg was unchanged.

This, he declared, showed that the pools were no monopolies but held a gain for all concerned, including the consumer, in that they do away with speculation.

hours. Other jurors have filed a vigorous facetious protest. De Autremont came to court trim and refreshed after the trying ordeal of yesterday and received from his mother three kodak pictures sent him by old friends. The defendant showed but casual interest in the exhibits and none at all, in the curious audience, who eyed his every move.

The week-end lull in the trial, is expected to pass, with the opening of the trial Monday morning when the prosecution will begin the second phase of their case, when the testimony will have to do with men and deeds and words instead of things that played a silent role, before, during and after the Pacific coast's most sensational and atrocious crime in years.

nesses said they believed there had been an explosion, but this theory was flouted by Carrol Sinaot, manager of the company.

Panic seized the large crowd which had gathered at the scene of the accident when they saw the trapped men slowly submerged and drowned, but were unable to go to their assistance because of the debris, which they could not get through.

British Want Dope On War Debt Note; Mellon Holds Back

WASHINGTON, May 6. (A.P.)—Great Britain has sought an official re-instatement from the Washington government arising from Secretary Mellon's letter to President Hibben of Princeton University, regarding the British war debt, but Secretary Kellogg, in a two paragraph note, has replied that the discussion was purely domestic and that no desire for diplomatic exchanges is entertained.

To the opinion expressed in the British note, however, that Mr. Mellon's letter was in some instances inaccurate and that some declaration seemed advisable "to remove the unfortunate impression that has been created." The American treasury secretary countered with a lengthy statement devoted to defense of his Hibben communication and a reiteration that cancellation of war debts would place an unjust burden upon the American people.

Specifically, the British note complained against what it termed the misleading impression given by Mr. Mellon that Great Britain's debt payments to the United States will not constitute a drain on England's economic resources and that she is receiving in reparations from other nations more than her payments to the American treasury.

In Klamath Friday—Mrs. John Jones and William Shook of the Shook ranch were here Friday to visit friends and shop. Mrs. Jones' ranch is in the Dairy district, the Shook ranch in the well known Yonah Valley district.

From the South—Charles Jones, resident of Los Angeles, is visiting with his brother, John Jones of the Dairy country. Jones arrived Thursday from the south.
