U. S. FLYERS WILL START BIG FLIGHT

erally believed that Lindbergh would be starting at almost the same hour, although he was non-committal as to his plans.

Excitement gripped Long Island flying fields, but the high point was when Lindbergh, a blonde young giant of an air mail pilot, dropped out of the sky after a record breaking rush across the continent. His time was the quickest ever made from coast to coast. He is the only pilot to have made such a trip alone. His time from San Diego to St. Louis, about 1600 miles, was 14 hours, five minutes, and from St. Louis to New York, about 550 miles, 7 hours and 15 minutes. The time made by Lieutenants Kelly and MacReady in their non-stop cross-continent flight in 1923 was 26 hours, 50 minutes.

Great Admiration
So great was the admiration roused by his two great hops across the country, that the crowd at Curtis field would not have been greatly surprised to see him fill up his gas tank and start right out for Paris. Several persons actually shouted the question at him as he climbed from the cockpit of his plane.

"No," Lindbergh replied, taking the question as seriously as it was meant. "I don't feel just like setting off on a 35 or 36-hour hop right now."

Not Fatigued
He showed no signs of fatigue, however, and had his plane wheeled into position under lights of a hangar so that he could go over it. And then he strolled about, chatting with Chamberlin, Bertaud, Byrd and others, and did not retire until after midnight.

Chamberlin and Bertaud have announced that they will not let anyone get ahead of them, but Lindbergh did not indicate he was especially anxious to start ahead of them, or even at the same time.

It was generally believed, however, that the take-off of the two planes would be almost simultaneous, both being launched just as soon as the weather bureau says conditions are good. A special weather report received by the Bellanca fliers last night a few minutes after 11, said there were numerous squalls in the region which would have to be passed through on the first half of the journey to France.

A conference of the Bellanca pilots and their sponsors was called and after half an hour's earnest discussion the decision was reached to postpone the attempt, until 1 o'clock Saturday, or the first day thereafter on which the weather is favorable.

PENDLETON JUMPER OUT FOR A RECORD

PENDLETON, Ore., May 13, (A. P.)—Hubert Allen, jumper and hurdler, and Ralph Penland, hurdler, will represent Pendleton high school at the Oregon Agricultural College track and field meet tomorrow at Corvallis. Allen has an excellent chance to break the broad jump mark of 21 feet 7 inches held by Dan Kelly and Bounds of Eugene. Allen has been bettering the mark in meets in this section.

Mayor Watters to Toss First Pellet

Mayor Tom Watters will throw the first baseball to cut the home run in a southern Oregon league game this season when the Klamath Pelicans tangle with the Grants Pass Cavemen on the local diamond Sunday.

With his chief of police, Keith Ambrose, behind the plate, the mayor will attempt to strike out P. Drolette, crack slugger for the Cavemen, as an opening feature for the game.

The mayor used to toss a mean curve, he told the press Friday, having gained his proficiency with a university of Nebraska nine back in the olden, golden days.

Another big crowd—rivaling that which filled the grandstand to capacity for the match with the House of David team here recently, is expected to be on hand Sunday for the initial game of the league season on Klamath Falls grounds.

ROMANCE OF STAR AND ACTOR TOLD

mond sought to account for the actions of his wife.

During the cross examination today, Miss Mackaye said she was carried onto a stage in Denver when she was 18 months old and had contact with the theatrical world ever since. She said she met Raymond seven or eight years ago while the actress testified she had known Kelley for 12 or 14 years.

According to Miss Mackaye, she and Raymond had definitely separated when the song and dance man left on what was to be his last trip on the road. She admitted that she and Kelly had discussed marriage, but explained that a bond of friendship existed between theatrical people that was hard to explain.

Query Marriage

ELKTON, Md., May 13, (A. P.)—Careful search of the marriage records of Cecil county at Elkton for July and August 1920, 1921 and 1922, failed to disclose the name of Ray Raymond or Dorothy Mackaye. Miss Mackaye testified yesterday in Los Angeles at the trial of Paul Kelly, film actor, for Raymond's murder, that she married Raymond at "Gretna Green", Maryland August, 1921.

As to Miss Mackaye's statement on the witness stand that she was married by a justice of the peace, it was pointed out that the Maryland law requires that all marriages in this state must be performed by a regularly ordained minister of the gospel. A justice of the peace could not have married them unless he happened to be a clergyman.

HUGE CROWD HEARS BRILLIANT SPEAKER

well as the conscription of men. In dealing with this question the speaker hit a most responsive chord, for it will be remembered this is a subject that came up immediately following the war. Eminent men went on record when the Christian Science Monitor pressed the issue throughout the nation, and Captain Daney last night again voiced that popular sentiment.

Paying a high tribute to the Boy Scouts, Campfire Girls, Girl Scouts and the high schools, the captain eloquently pointed to the boys and girls of today as the ones who would overcome the international hatreds and bring about the desired condition for the brotherhood of men.

George Barth, commander of the American Legion post, presided at the meeting and introduced the speaker. Community songs were a feature of the opening, led by W. W. Southwell, with Mrs. Geo. McIntyre at the piano.

AL BARNES CONFIRMS BIG HOTEL REPORT

him, devoted to the entertainment of show people from all ranks of performers, and not merely confined to people of the circus life.

That such a place is in demand, regardless of the advertised climate of other regions, is a known fact, and one recognized by the people interested, and that a vigorous climate such as enjoyed by Klamath Falls was much more conducive to good health and recuperation of the invalid than the enervating all-year-round sunshine, is Barnes' belief.

May Get Jeffries
Mentioning some of the details discussed concerning the management and benefits was one that is interesting: This is that arrangements are being made to secure the services of James J. Jeffries, ex-world heavyweight champion, as physical instructor for the hotel guests who felt that they were in need of physical training. Jeffries is at this time under contract with Mr. Barnes. Medicinal baths were also mentioned in connection with the undeveloped plans, and other features connected with a first-class place of refuge for tired people.

In connection, it is known that Ben Austin, general agent, next in authority to General Manager Cooke, has been in Klamath Falls several days during the past month.

Another interesting feature in connection with the contemplated enterprise is that of keeping on exhibition in prepared quarters some of the wild animals, of which Mr. Barnes probably owns more specimens than any other one individual in the world. This feature alone will probably attract more visitors from other cities than any other one feature.

Colonel R. M. Schell and Mr. Elmer Lingo, chief purchasing agents for the Al G. Barnes circus are expected in Klamath Falls tonight or tomorrow and will be in a position to give further word of the plans of the famous circus owner.

NEW YORK, May 13, (U. Fried Spinach Balls

A PRIZE RECIPE from Kelso, Wash.

A new and delicious way to make a little left-over spinach go a long way. Prepare them any time and fry in Crisco in two minutes when you are ready to serve. This recipe won a cash prize for Mrs. E. B. Dunham, in a recent recipe contest.

2 cups cooked spinach, chopped
2 tablespoons Crisco
2 tablespoons grated onion
1 cup dry bread crumbs

2 tablespoons grated cheese
1 egg beaten
Seasoning salt
Egg and more crumbs for "breading"

Combine ingredients and let stand 5 minutes to swell crumbs. Shape into balls. Put egg in bowl with 1/4 cup water. Beat together until mixed. Roll balls in crumbs, then in egg and then in crumbs again. Drop in hot deep Crisco (350° F., or when a bread-crumbs brown in 40 seconds) until brown. Drain on soft paper and serve.
