New Game Called "Mule" of Sports

LONDON, June 9.—A mule of the sport world, the hybrid product of the unhappy marriage of American baseball and English cricket, is tossing its young heels and flapping its long ears over here, to the shame of baseball and the shocked embarrassment of cricket.

This is the sort of thing a homesick American reads in provincial papers—the work of the local baseball writers: "Baseball opened with a swing on Saturday.

There are many who think that our own summer game of cricket will have to take second place ere long to the American pastime.

BIG FISHING PARTY ESCAPES FROM FIRE

SANTA MONICA, June 9.—U.P.—Forty-five persons narrowly escaped death here late Thursday when the power boat Fashion burned to the waterline in the Pacific ocean 15 miles north of here.

M. Volkoff, was part of a Russian monarchist plot, or whether the assassin, a 19-year-old Russian student named Boris Kowceda, fired the revolver on his own impulse.

Then general belief in Warsaw is that while soviet Russia undoubtedly will ask for the death penalty for Kowceda, the relations between the two countries will not be seriously impaired.

Power of Ads Will Be Told Convention

DENVER, Colo., June 9. (AP)—Financial, industrial and governmental giants will testify to the power of advertising at the twenty-third annual meeting of the International Advertising Association here June 6 to 29.

The convention, as planned by the Denver Advertising Club, the host, will have a Western flavor. In the 23 years of its history the International Advertising Association has met but twice west of the Mississippi river—once in San Francisco and once at Houston, Texas.

As eight bells struck, the gobs did likewise. Someone said: "Let's go—soup is served," and that's all there was to it, so far as an opening ceremony was concerned. There was no speeches and no formalities.

Neither were there any cheers as the 400 salaried men gathered about the tables in the crew's living quarters below deck, but the lucky 20 who drew Lindbergh as their guest in yesterday's lot-drawing gave evidence of their gratification at his presence.
