NORTHERN LINE TO COME IN OVER S. P.

In south central Oregon, a distance of 548 miles.

Mum On Extensions. While the formal announcement of the two railway presidents made no mention of proposed extensions of the Strahorn line, it was generally believed here that the agreement provides that such extensions shall be undertaken jointly by the Southern Pacific and the Great Northern unless one or the other does not care to participate, in which event the other may proceed on its own responsibility.

Long Controversy Ends. The agreement of the two railway systems ends a controversy of more than two years' duration.

College Athletes Smash 4 Records In Chicago Meet

CHICAGO, June 11. (AP)—Four records for track and field games made by premier athletes of the last six years, were broken today in the finals of the national collegiate athletic association championship meet at Soldiers' field.

Roy Conger, Iowa State college, finished first in the mile run at 4:17.4 for a new mark, succeeding Reese of Texas, who held the record since 1925, with 4:18.5.

Johnny Sittig of Illinois, Western conference, half-mile champion, broke the tape three inches ahead of Charteris of Washington, in a driving finish for a record of 1:24.2. Charteris held the former record of 1:55.4, made two years ago.

Winning the quarter-mile dash for the third successive time this year, Herman Phillips bettered his own record time, going the distance in 48.5. His former time was 48.7. Edwin Spencer of the City College of Detroit, repeated his victory of 1926 in the 220 yard low hurdles and broke his own record of 23.5, breaking the tape today by a margin of two yards ahead of Frank Cappel of Iowa in 23.4.

Fred Alderman, the slightly-built dash star of Michigan State, was the outstanding performer of the games, and held highest individual point winner. He won the century in .95.9 from Anderson of Washington by a margin of a few inches, with Hermansen of Northwestern third.

Butler, the negro sprinter from Geneva college, who threatened to cause an upset as a result of his performances in the preliminaries yesterday, faded entirely today, finishing absolutely last in the century.

The inter-state commerce commission originally gave the Oregon Trunk permission to extend to Klamath Falls provided that an agreement was reached to avoid duplication of railway construction.

Those negotiations failed and the Interstate Commerce Commission gave the Oregon Trunk permission to build independently into the Klamath basin.

The Northern Pacific withdrew from the enterprise and the Great Northern assumed the project on its own responsibility.

Mr. Budd met Mr. Sproule in New York the first of the week to renew negotiations.

Following today's meeting the railroad executives issued the following statement: "Terms have been agreed upon, subject to approval of the I. C. C. for extension of the Southern Pacific's Cascade line, between Paunagon, Oregon, and Klamath Falls, Oregon, by the Great Northern railway and for purchase by the Great Northern of a half interest in the Oregon, California and Eastern railway company.

This will avoid duplication of railroad facilities in the Klamath basin and will afford the public the maximum of railway service with the least possible expense that ultimately will be borne by the public through minimizing railway capital investment and operating costs.

"We believe that it complies in every way with the I. C. C's. order of May 11, 1927."

At the Pine Tree

"A Kiss in a Taxi," Bebe Daniels' latest Paramount comedy success, arrives at the Pine Tree theatre today.

Perhaps you wonder the cause for such a provoking title? Strange as it may seem, "A Kiss in a Taxi" really has quite a bearing on the story it tells.

Johnny Sittig of Illinois, Western conference, half-mile champion, broke the tape three inches ahead of Charteris of Washington, in a driving finish for a record of 1:24.2.

Winning the quarter-mile dash for the third successive time this year, Herman Phillips bettered his own record time, going the distance in 48.5.

The attraction announced by the Liberty theatre for today is the Warner Bros. production of "Hills of Kentucky," starring Rin-Tin-Tin and directed by Howard Bretherton.

The story concerns a dog known as "the Grey Ghost" and his pack of outlaw dogs and wolves, who have become so feared and hated that a large reward has been offered for him.

Steve and Ben Harley, half brothers of very unlike disposition, are both courting the girl. Steve has greater success, and Ben takes the opportunity of shooting Steve when the Grey Ghost is near him.

Rin-Tin-Tin is supported by an excellent cast including Jason Robards, Dorothy Dwan, Tom Santschi, Billy Kent Schaeffer, Nanette and Rin-Tin-Tin Jr.

"Chance Shot" is Winner of Stakes

NEW YORK, June 11. (AP)—Joseph E. Whitener's great bay 3-year-old, Chance Shot, today won the classic Belmont stakes, rich in gold and tradition.

In a stirring gallop of a mile and a half against the leading colts of the east and west, the brilliant son of Fair Play finished first by a length and a half. His run netted his owner $60,000.

It was a great day for Earl Sande, the master jockey not only: booted some Chance Shot in front in the Belmont, but rode the winner of the $25,000 stallion stakes, supplementary feature of the closing day of Belmont park.

An extra race, "The Lindbergh," in honor of the flyer, gave Sande an opportunity to top off his day with a third victory, and he did it riding another Widener entry, Royal Play.

Blue Bird Owners Want Trap Match

Who are the best trap-crappers in Klamath county? "Hardy" Hardenbrook and Ernie Nitschelm of the Blue Bird would like to know.

Although Klamath boasts of a myriad of expert trap shooters, Ernie and "Hardy" lay claim to being among the "Awakening Empire's" most proficient trap shooters.

Inasmuch as Andy Connolly has for years past held the grand award as Klamath's most noted pot hunter, the two Blue Bird caterers herewith, hereby, and herewith issue a challenge to any other pair of misfortunates who are unfortunate enough to be partners in business to a trap-crapping contest to be staged when, where and how, the acceptors of this challenge may wish to dictate.

They request that any and all acceptances of this challenge, together with conditions which they impose, be left with the advertising manager of the Evening Herald.

From Langell Valley—Mrs. Levi McDonald was in town yesterday from Langell Valley, shopping.

Miss McMahon Leaving—Miss Cecilia McMahon, for many years with Miss Gertrude's shop, is leaving today for her home in Portland, where she will remain permanently.

As a farewell courtesy to Miss McMahon the members of St. Mary's Altar society surprised her with a party last evening at the parish house. She was presented with a beautiful gift from the society.

At the Orpheus

Stirring days of the French and Indian war, when the English colonies were menaced by the French and their naked savage allies, form the colorful background to a romantic love affair in "Winners of the Wilderness," coming to the Orpheus theatre today for three days.

The story is an exquisite blend of history and romance, and stars Tim McCoy, with Joan Crawford, noted Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature player, who appears in the role of the lovely daughter of the commandant of Fort Duquesne at the time of Braddock's defeat.

The cast of characters is composed of the history makers of that period, and include George Washington, as young major of militia in the service of the British crown; Captains Gage and Gates, the former a British general during the American revolution, and the latter destined to become a famous American revolutionary patriot of Bunker Hill and Saratoga.

HELEN WILLS TAKES ADDITIONAL HONORS. BECKENHAM, England, June 11. (AP)—Helen Wills, the California tennis star, emerged triumphantly today with the women's title in her possession, and also with a fifth victory over Mrs. Kitty McKane Godfree out of seven clashes on the courts.

Miss Wills now is the prime favorite for the women's title in the Wimbledon classic, which will start June 20. The score was 6-2, 6-4.
