Apartment House Owner Resents Calls Upon Divorced Wife; Kills Man in Office.

PORTLAND, July 12.—(U. P.)—A long standing feud between two men flared up again Tuesday night, and as a result, Dan Hanley, 39, laborer, is dead, and Fred Hartwick, an apartment house owner, is held in the city jail, pending an investigation of the affair by police.

According to Hartwick's version of the murder, he shot Hanley in self-defense. Hanley, Hartwick told police, was a constant visitor at the apartment house because his divorced wife resided there.

Hartwick resented the visits and about three months ago swore out a warrant for his arrest. Hanley disappeared the next day so the warrant was not served.

Tonight, Hanley reappeared at the apartment house and refused to leave. After Hanley had threatened him several times, Hartwick, according to police, called Hanley into his office.

Fearing an attack, he removed a revolver from his desk and fired one shot. The bullet took effect in Hanley's right lung and he died a few minutes later.

Telephone Service To Be Speeded Up

Long distance service to Portland, Bend, Medford, Eugene, and a number of other cities frequently called from Klamath Falls will be greatly speeded up if Klamath Falls patrons will cooperate in a very simple manner, according to F. Ray Dunn, manager of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company. Arrangements have been completed by the telephone company so that "Information" will, when requested, give the telephone numbers of persons or firms listed in other leading centers of the Pacific Northwest.

If the business man or resident calling from here can give the number with which he desires to talk in another city, his call will go through quickly. If he does not know the out-of-town number, all he has to do is call "Information" and ask for it. "Information" will give it to him.

"We are putting these conveniences at the disposal of the telephone users of this city," said Mr. Dunn, "because we know, from the studies we have made, that much quicker service can be had to the more important points frequently called by long distance by this method. If our customers will secure from "Information" the number of the party in the more distant point before placing their long distance calls, they will be assured of faster and more convenient service."

Weather Extremes Alarming Europeans

Superstitious Afraid of Strange Phenomena Which Has Followed Sun's Eclipse.

LONDON, July 12.—(U.P.)—A fortnight of weather extremes, climaxed by the disastrous holy land earthquake, that has followed the total eclipse of the sun in northern Europe June 29, is alarming superstitious persons and puzzling scientists.

Earth shocks, dazzling lightning storms, cloudbursts, flood and heat waves have visited Europe and the fringes of northern Africa and Asia. Palestine and Saxon—where effects of the floods are being felt seriously—have been the worst sufferers. Nearly every European country from Russia southward, has been visited by some climatic disturbance.

Many persons naturally connect the storms with the eclipse of the sun, in whose path a clammy death-like darkness covered the earth. Scientists are discussing the possibility that some of the manifestations may be connected with the eclipse.

Three Gangsters Laugh at Lawyers

BENTON, Ill., July 12.—(UP)—Three paroled gangsters had a good laugh today as humorless attorneys wrangled over a fine point of law—how shall the gangsters be put to death if convicted?

"Machine Gun" Charlie Birger, leader of the once powerful gangs operating under his name, Art Newman, his former lieutenant, now his mortal enemy, and Ray Hyland, just an ordinary gangster, were interested as attorneys argued the point.

The defendants are charged with the murder of Mayor Joe Adams of West City, Ill. It was one of the murders incidental to southern Illinois' two years gang rule in which a score were killed by various modern methods.

The trial itself has hardly begun. First there were the usual defense motions for dismissing the indictments on technicalities. Now a fool-proof jury must be selected.

When the prosecution attorney told venemen that the sentence would be hanging rather than by electrocution, the defense lawyer protested but was overruled. He persisted in his objections, however, as the prosecutor asked the prospective jurors if the method of punishment would make any difference to them in making a decision.

MAIL PILOT SPOTS STOLEN CAR WHILE FLYING OVER LAKE

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, July 12.—(UP)—Uncle Sam's air mail service cooperated in unique fashion with the sheriff's office when Pilot Hugh Barker, on the Elko-Salt Lake run, spied a stolen automobile as he flew over Great Salt Lake.

The aviator saw the machine, and led on by curiosity, circled low over the automobile, which was about 10 feet from shore and in two feet of water. Barker saw that the car had no occupants and ascertained its make. He could not distinguish the numbers on the license plates.

The description furnished by Barker enabled the sheriff's office to discover that the car had been stolen from Walter Green of Salt Lake City and abandoned by the thieves.

Aviators Get Huge Ovation At Home

Oakland and San Francisco Vie to Outdo Each Other in Greeting Pacific Flyers.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—(U.P.)—Tuesday they were heroes, Maitland and Hegenberger, and all day long they bowed and saluted as San Francisco and Oakland outdid each other in tendering them rousing ovations.

Wednesday the heroes will be just soldiers.

They will enjoy a furlough, to be sure, but they will be soldiers nevertheless, awaiting orders from a brigadier general, head of the army air service, for their next assignment.

The returning conquerors of the trans-Pacific airway ended "their day" at a banquet given to them by the city of Oakland in its municipal auditorium. It was truly a day of days for the boyish pioneers of the air.

Met by Planes.

Their first greeting was roared by a squadron of army and civilians which picked up the liner Maui on which the lieutenants returned from Honolulu, at the golden gate.

Just inside the bay they were met by a boat conveying members of the official reception party: Mayor James Rolph Jr. was first to hail the aviators.

"Boys, we're glad you are with us again," he called.

Mrs. Maitland and Mrs. Hegenberger, with Mr. and Mrs. James W. Maitland, parents of the aviator, were standing a little to one side of the great crowd which greeted the flyers at the dock.

Greet Families.

Both men immediately began to scan the crowds, even as they were (Continued on Page Eight)

Queer Trick With Letters Revealed

Fate plays queer tricks even with the mail. Yesterday the Chamber of Commerce received a letter from W. G. Ide of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, inquiring for the whereabouts of J. W. Wamberg who is supposed to be living in this city.

On the same day a letter arrived from J. W. Wamberg of Tacoma, Washington, sent to the Chamber of Commerce here, and asking about the agricultural possibilities in this country.

The work of the Land Settlement committee is bringing in many inquiries concerning the Oregon land, and it is reported that many are planning to move into this country as soon as new lands are opened.

Violent Death of Movie Man Probed

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., July 12.—(A.P.)—Private detectives early today began an investigation into the apparently violent death of Percival L. Linwood, 49, motion picture employee, who was found dead in his home with a 2-inch gash at the base of the brain. Mrs. Linwood, who said her husband was a director, was hysterical.

Police reported they were unable to obtain any information from her. Mrs. Linwood was held while detectives under Captain James Bean attempted to question her. They reported that the Linwood apartment was in great disorder and that there was evidence that there had been considerable drinking.

The detectives reported that neighbors said the Linwood couple had not been seen to leave their apartment in several days and that the lady of the house declared the Linwood door had remained locked during that time.

The police received their first report of the unexplained death at 5 a. m. when undertakers called them to view the body. It had been taken from the Linwood apartment to the undertaking rooms at the telephoned request of Dr. Jesse Ross, who had been called to the aid of the man, whom he said he found dead.

Big Crowd Gathers At Depot As Train Leaves for South

Sirens and Jazz Band Feature in Send-Off Given Excursionists Enroute for California Cities.

Cars jammed the depot drive, sirens-screamed and a jazz band blared music madness while a crowd of more than 500 people gathered at the local Southern Pacific terminal at nine o'clock Tuesday night to give nearly 150 Klamath Falls California excursionists a rousing send-off toward Sacramento and the bay city.

The demonstration continued for several minutes as the train, carrying nine coaches, pulled out of the yards for the first leg of a good-will trip, one of whose objectives will be to boost for completion of the Klamath Falls-Weed highway.

Hal Blackburn's band, which is traveling with the excursion to provide entertainment, both for members of the caravan and for their California hosts, provided the music at the depot, while Louis Porter's siren and that of the Police Chief Keith Ambrose, vied for noise honors in the demonstration.

Klamath Dorm Fire Suspects Indicted

Twelve Indian Girls Charged in Federal Court With Burning School Quarters.

PORTLAND, July 12.—(U. P.)—Twelve Indian girls, ranging in age from 11 to 18 years, were indicted by the federal grand jury today on charges of burning their dormitory.

A desire to be free is ascribed as the reason. The dormitory, one of the first of the Indian girls' school buildings at the Klamath Agency, was burned March 30.

The indictment says the matron of the institution had confined three girls because of misbehavior. These girls, Leola Schonchinn, aged 13; Hattie Godowa, aged 14; and Audrey Baker, 18, are accused in the indictment of being the ring leaders and of planning the act.

While the matron and other girls were attending a motion picture show the three are said to have obtained matches and pay and later directed the firing of the building.

Forty Escape Flames.

Forty girls were in the institution at the time and escaped without injury, although many had to flee in their night clothes. The 12 girls indicted today are still at the Indian school and are said to be incorrigible.

In addition to the three ring leaders, the following girls were indicted: Mary Johns, 11; Marion Heecopa, 17; Florence Cowen, 12; Orthalle Crane, 12; Eva Barney, 11; Addie Weeks, 13; Wave Riddle, 14; Orpha Schonchinn, 13; and Cassie Ball, 13.

Additional indictments returned in federal court today were John Picard, an Indian from the Klamath reservation, theft of personal property belonging to Joseph Craig, also an Indian.

Langell Valley to Have Banner Crops

Langell valley will this year experience the finest crops it has ever produced, according to present indications. C. A. Henderson, county agent, stated Tuesday following a trip to that agricultural section.

A big potato acreage there looks exceptionally good, Henderson said, and the rye crop is phenomenal in point of promised per acre yield. Abundance of moisture induced by the winter's heavy precipitation, is a great aid to the dry land crops, he said.

The first hay crop is now being cut by Langell valley farmers, with excellent results, and the second cutting is likely to be much larger, Henderson stated.

"Undoubtedly this will be the best year the Langell valley ranchers have ever had," the county agent declared, "and the crops being raised there now will be duplicated in many other parts of the county. The year generally is to be very good."

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

It isn't always the bright boy who shines in a dark room.
