CHILOQUIN SWEEP BY COSTLY FLAMES

with a total loss to buildings and contents.

Insurance Coverage.—All of the places of business, excepting the shops and the Cochran hotel were partially protected by insurance. It was said in Chilouquin last night that there was no insurance on either the Cochran hotel building or contents.

All of the buildings destroyed were of frame construction, and the blaze, fanned by a brisk breeze, swept speedily through the section and made it almost impossible for the hurriedly recruited volunteer fire fighters to make much headway against the crimson tide of flames.

Chilouquin is without even a volunteer fire department. Workmen from the Forest Lumber company rushed many feet of hose to Chilouquin's business section and subdued the flames only after they reached the buildings of brick or concrete construction.

Reports of the fire received in Klamath Falls were to the effect that the entire town of Chilouquin was doomed. Fire Chief Keith Ambrose rushed to the reservation town to lead his aid in combatting the flames.

Fire Area Hoped Off.—The fire was still smoldering last night, but the burned area was roped off and guards were watching the incipient blazes to prevent a further spread of the flames.

"The residents of Chilouquin certainly deserve a lot of credit for the manner in which they turned out to fight the fire," according to Louis Polin, Chilouquin business man who brought the first authentic word of the fire to The News. "Had it not been for the cooperation of the people there, the fire would undoubtedly have been much worse," he declared.

Wet blankets spread over the sides of the roof of the structure which houses Polin's confectionery, saved that building, Polin said. The fact that the wind was in favor of the fire fighters, was said by Polin to be another important factor in controlling the blaze.

Good Service.—Service rendered by the four telephone operators at the Chilouquin exchange, was commended by many. The girls, virtually swamped with calls relative to the fire, from outside points, handled this information in courteous fashion. It was said, meanwhile endeavoring to answer hundreds of calls on the Dempsey-Sharkey fight in New York.

The Standard Oil company sent all its fire fighting equipment to the scene of the blaze, including hose and extinguishers.

throughout northern California, southern Oregon, and western Nevada. They came here after spending a day at Crater lake, an attraction which they were unanimous in declaring to be another excellent reason for a shorter route between this basin and the bay district of California.

Those who attended the joint meeting were:

D. V. Saelzer, Redding; Carl Lamus, Sacramento; H. H. Dunning, Marysville; W. G. Lee, Auburn; Ray Jones, Marysville; O. G. Steele, Yreka, and W. Boucheer, Sacramento. Klamath Falls representatives were: W. C. Dalton, director in charge of the chamber roads and highways committee; County Judge Goddard, George Walton, C. A. Dunn, J. C. Boyle, C. J. Martin and Lynn Sabin.

COPS STAGE RAID.

A raid made by police at 122 So. Second street early yesterday morning, netted a pitcher full of moonshine, a gallon jug half full, and eight empty jugs.

At the Pine Tree

Girls—how'd you like to have for your lover a fiery, hot-headed Spaniard who fights battles with bull whips for your love? Sounds interesting—doesn't it?

And when the lover is that handsome Antonio Moreno—that makes it all the more interesting.

Well—Antonio certainly makes it interesting enough for Greta Garbo, in "The Temptress," now playing at the Pine Tree Theatre—and she makes it interesting for him, too—because she gets him into the bull whip fight and all the rest of the trouble he has to battle. Which shows what a flapper can do.

Miss Garbo is adorable. Her gorgeous gowns—her glittering personality—no wonder even the handsome Tony quite lost his head over her.

Another treat is promised the patrons of the Pine Tree by the second appearance of eight acts of "Amateur Vaudeville." Many new faces, specialty numbers, a four-year-old prima donna, and some snappy dancers will appear before the footlights for your approval. They appreciate your applause so don't stay away, but come and "boast these youngsters."

See the new fall woolsens at Orres Tailor Shop—they are different and prices are right.

KUYKENDALL BACK, FOLLOWING INJURY

Robert B. Kuykendall, attorney of this city, and a member of the firm of Kuykendall and Kuykendall, who has been convalescing in the Good Samaritan hospital in Portland for some weeks past, as a result of a severely fractured limb, returned home Thursday. Kuykendall was a delegate to the

MY KITCHEN NOTEBOOK

by Mary Blake
Domestic Science Counselor

Summer Foods of Frosty Coolness
What husband, coming home tired and hot from work, won't rejoice when he finds at his elbow a tinkling, frosty glass of lemonade or iced tea, particularly when it is followed by a supper of chill, crisp salad, thin, tempting slices of cold meat, and a fruity, refreshing ice.

Frozen Salad and Iced Coffee
Two of my most popular hot weather foods are frozen salad and iced coffee. The salad, with its happy combination of fruit, mayonnaise and chillness, and the coffee, with its rich, smooth creaminess, are guaranteed to convert any heat-frayed temper into complete amiability. In both these delectable recipes, I count Carnation Milk the most important ingredient.

The Dependable Milk for Hot Weather
I can always rely on Carnation Milk—it's sure to be pure and sweet, no matter how hot the day. It doesn't vary, either, as does ordinary milk, but is uniform in quality, with a double creaminess, because it's evaporated to double richness. I know it's of high quality because it comes from selected herds—such as those supplying the condensery at Hillsboro. I know it's absolutely safe because it's sterilized.

Being completely dependable, Carnation is economical, saving the usual waste of "turned" milk and spoiled foods. And, as any domestic science expert will tell you, it gives cooking results that are the best of bottled milk cannot equal—a smooth creaminess, a fine texture, that are unmistakable in ice creams, soups, sauces, puddings, cakes and custards.

This special quality of Carnation Milk is due to "homogenization," by which the cream globules are broken up into minute particles and distributed evenly throughout every drop of milk.

Here some wonderful recipes for hot-weather salads and ice creams in "My Hundred Favorite Recipes"—the Carnation Cook Book. Won't you send for this free booklet? Address Carnation Milk Products Co., 474 Gilsan St., Portland.

Carnation Frozen Salad
3/4 cup mayonnaise, 1 cup Carnation Milk, 1 cup whipping cream, 3/4 cup chopped black walnuts, 1 cup chopped pineapple, 1 cup chopped cherries, 1 cup apricots or peaches, 1 orange, 1 grapefruit. Combine Carnation and Cream, chill and whip. Chop fruit; add to whipped cream mixed with mayonnaise, omitting fruit juice. Pack in baking powder tins or round moulds; place in a 1 to 3 salt-ice mixture 3 hours. Serve in 1-inch slices on lettuce.

The Milk for Hot Days

For making dressings for cool salads, for creaming iced coffee, and for all other summer milk needs, Carnation is ideal. Keeps sweet and fresh without ice. Always ready when you want it.
