University Studies Get Booze As Milk

DES MOINES, Ia., July 22.—(UP)—Alcoholic beverages flow as freely as soda pop at the University of Iowa, according to E. A. Nugent, special agent under Governor John Hammill and the state bureau of investigation.

Liquor and the passions of youth flowed and mixed freely, Nugent informed the United Press in an exclusive interview. The investigation was instigated by Robert Heinow, dean of men.

Nugent made an earlier report which was withheld from publication. Masquerading as a "man about town" Nugent said he learned from sober students and some "slightly cocked" that liquor is as easy to obtain as soda pop or milk.

"All you have to do is call a bootlegger and he'll leave liquor on your doorstep in a milk bottle," one student told him.

"Certain cafes are the nightly rendezvous of men students and co-eds," Nugent said.

Aimee Called Home to Calm Followers

LOS ANGELES, July 22.—(U.P.)—Disension in the Angelus Temple ranks, arising from the continued absence of its founder, Aimee Semple McPherson, has caused the evangelist to temporarily abandon her attempts to win the east over to her four-square gospel.

Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of Mrs. McPherson, admitted here Wednesday night that disagreements between Temple workers more annoying than serious, had led her to ask her daughter to discontinue her revivalist work at Altos, Ill.

At the same time Mrs. Kennedy denied any friction between herself and her daughter. Mrs. McPherson was reported here from Chicago after departing suddenly from Altos.

FRENCH REFORESTATION HALTING SOIL EROSION

WASHINGTON, July 22, (A.P.)—United States foresters tell how trees saved the French.

Unexperienced with erosion, land owners cut their forests at the headwaters of streams. By 1860 about 800,000 acres of farm land had been ruined or injured. The population of 18 great communities was reduced to poverty and forced to move away.

But France started reforestation. Today, 163 streams, once devastating torrents, have been entirely controlled, and 624 others show beneficial effects of forest replanting.

MORE CLOTHES WORN ON STAGE

PARIS, (AP)—More clothes are worn on the stage this year. The far-famed Folies-Bergere and other music halls still save a lot of cloth on the costumes of some of their prize beauties, but they no longer boycott the textile mills entirely, as they did a few years ago. It isn't a virtuous streak that has cropped out in the show business, but rather a swing from the extreme of nakedness. There was such a sameness about the many show girls and the many shows, all after foreign money, that the excitement began to wear off. The police also suggested some months ago that if the theatres went any further some of the blue laws would be dusted off and put to work.

Consequently beautiful costumes and startling scenery and stage mechanics were tried and have proved popular.

SACRIFICES BUSINESS FOR GOOD ROADS' SAKE

TOPEKA, Kas., July 22.—(A.P.)—John W. Gardner of Marion, Kansas, made a sacrifice to the cause of good roads when he became state highway director.

He disposed of his interest in a lumber firm because a law specifies that no person may be appointed state highway director if he profits from the sale of building materials.

"I shall lose money because of the job, even if it does pay $5,000 a year," Gardner said when he became boss of the 8,690 mile state highway system. "But I have become so enthusiastic about better roads for Kansas that I am willing to make a sacrifice for the good of the state."

SAYS GERMAN PLANES NEED BETTER ENGINES

BERLIN, July 22, (A.P.)—Airplane engines constitute the chief problem confronting German aerial navigation today, in the opinion of Dr. Walther Huth, president of the German Air Vehicle Manufacturers' association. German engines, he stated at the annual meeting of the association, are not big enough for trans-Atlantic flying.

While airplane and airship construction is on a high level in all other respects, he observed, the question of more effective engines must be given special attention. Dr. Huth agrees with Clarence D. Chamberlin, who emphasized that trans-oceanic flights are simply a question of "bigger and better engines."

Director Otto J. Merkel of the Luft Hansa, another speaker at the annual meeting, agreed with Dr. Huth as far as motors are concerned, but insisted that numerous instruments for night and fog flights must be added to the equipment of air pilots before flying will be perfectly safe.

OFFICE LUNCH CLUBS NUMEROUS IN PARIS

PARIS, (AP)—The mounting cost of living and growing efficiency of French office management are said to be responsible for the increasing number of office lunch clubs in Paris.

The clubs, made up of members of office staffs who do not go home for lunch, have hot food sent in to an improvised office lunch room. Members say that they can thus lunch far more cheaply than they could in restaurants or at home, allowing for transportation costs.

Most French offices close at the lunch hour. This permits the clubs to lunch undisturbed by business callers.

OAKLAND, Calif., July 22.—(A.P.)—There's a difference of opinion among delegates to the convention of the federation of business and professional women's clubs as to the reasons for bachelors of both sexes, says Miss Mary Zapp of Pocatello, Idaho—the modern girl seldom finds a man who meets with her approval as a companion and who still earns as much as she does. And, Mrs. Elva Wilcox of New Jersey answers: "It is all a question of romance which some never find."
