WANT NEW TRIAL FOR TWO RADICALS

zetti were guilty of the murders "beyond a reasonable doubt."

The report summarizes the committee's conclusions as to the trial by saying:

"The committee have seen no evidence sufficient to make them believe that the trial was unfair. On the contrary they are of the opinion that the judge endeavored, and endeavored successfully, to secure for the defendants a fair trial; that the district attorney was not in any way guilty of unprofessional behavior, that he conducted the prosecution vigorously but not improperly; and that the jury, an impartial and unprejudiced body, did as they were instructed 'well and did truly try and true deliberance make.'"

The committee was composed of President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard University; Samuel Stratton, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Three Arguments.

The motion for a new trial is based on three grounds: The first is an allegation of prejudice on the part of Judge Thayer. The second is a presentation of what is described as new evidence to the effect the holes in a cap identified at the trial as having belonged to Sacco while he was searching for identification marks. The third is an assertion of additional new evidence bearing on an allegation that a firearms expert who testified for the state that the bullet which killed Alexander Berardelli, one of the victims of the murder for which the two men were convicted was consistent with having been fired from Sacco's pistol.

Michael A. Musumanno, lawyer associated with the Sacco-Vanzetti defense committee said that no move would be made in any federal court until counsel for the defense had exhausted all recourse to the state courts.

In the death house at the state prison Sacco completed the 21st day of his hunger strike and Vanzetti, who has refused food for a part of this time, refrained from eating today. Sacco received a visit from his wife, Mrs. Rose Sacco, who after a walk over the prison Point bridge from East Cambridge looked worried and weary.

THAYER TO PRESIDE.

BOSTON, Aug. 6. (AP)—Judge Webster Thayer, who presided at the Sacco-Vanzetti trial in 1921, will set in the Norfolk superior court at Dedham on Monday afternoon to hear any motions that may be presented in connection with the case. Chief Justice Walter Parley Hall of the Massachusetts superior court let this fact be known tonight at his home in Pittsburgh.

The chief justice, who is on telephone with Judge Thayer who is spending a vacation at Oronoqui, Maine, after he had received a visit this afternoon from the Sacco-Vanzetti counsel.

COMPLIMENT ACTION.

SALEM, Ore., Aug. 6. (AP)—Members of the state banking board today received letters from the president and secretary of the Oregon State Bankers' association complimenting the action of the board in electing A. A. Schramm of Corvallis as state superintendent of banks to succeed Frank Bramwell, who has resigned.

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

By EDSON R. WAITE Shawnee, Oklahoma

L. A. HARTMAN, EDITOR OF THE RIVERSIDE (CALIFORNIA) ENTERPRISE, SAYS:

THAT the best time to advertise is when business is dull. Many merchants have the mistaken idea that in a season of depression newspaper advertising, as well as other portions of the budget, should be cut.

IN California where crops are grown mostly by irrigation, the farmer knows that when dry weather comes more water will be required to keep his fields green. The skilled physician understands that when a heart begins to grow feeble a stimulant is necessary to keep the beats strong and steady. The side-show manager realizes that when the crowds pass by his tent the barker must shout louder and more persistently. The wise driver gives his car more gasoline when the grade gets steep.

ADVERTISING is the stimulus that makes poor business good. It is a tonic at all times, but it is not needed when trade is slow. It can magically turn dull days into busy days.

JUST AS A SICK MAN MUST HAVE A PHYSICIAN, AN AILING BUSINESS NEEDS ADVERTISING. DON'T DISMISS A DOCTOR WHEN YOU ARE ILL, AND DON'T STOP ADVERTISING WHEN YOUR BUSINESS LANGUISES.

During their location trip to Yuma, Arizona, the company filming "Tracked by the Police," starring Rin-Tin-Tin and directed by Ray Enright, visited the famous old Arizona territory prison and graveyard, one of the most interesting ruins of the Southwest.

Here many a famous bad man and killer cooled his heels while reviewing his tempestuous career, and in the desolate graveyard below about a hundred rotting board and crosses bear the names of Mexicans or Americans who had died or been executed there.

Contrary to its name, "Tracked by the Police" has nothing to do with prisons, but with another government enterprise, the construction of the great desert reclamation works known as the Laguna Dam.

Rin-Tin-Tin in "Tracked by the Police" come to the Liberty for Sunday and Monday. Tuesday and Wednesday, Jackie Coogan in "Johnny Get Your Hair Cut," and he goes too.

Mrs. Eginosa Leaving.—Mrs. E. J. Eginosa is leaving today by motor for Portland and Vancouver, Wash., where she will visit with friends and her mother. Her daughter Dorothy will accompany her home who has been visiting her grandmother in Portland for the past month.

At the Pine Tree

"If the Jazz Age has done nothing else, it's made mothers popular," according to Lois Wilson, featured along with Warriner Baxter, Nell Hamilton and Georgia Hale in Herbert Brenson's new production, "The Great Gatsby," which arrives at the Pine Tree for Sunday and Monday.

"Only a few years ago," says Miss Wilson, "no young actress would play a mother role. It was a sure sign that she was definitely out of the ingenue class. The lady was automatically relegated to that slightly insouciant care-worn decrepitude of haus-frau. Night clubs, the Charleston and prohibition cocktails were taboo. Her hair was gray—and small wonder. The parts written for her were likewise drab and dull."

"Now all is different. Playing the part of a young mother is merely a tribute to one's versatility. The jazz mama, similar to Daisy Buchanan which I play in 'The Great Gatsby,' is often more attractive than her daughter."

Monday night, the third contest of the Charleston will be staged at the Pine Tree, three winners to be selected who will compete on August the 12th with those already selected for the title of Champions of Klamath Falls—Those who have not entered should do so before Monday as this contest will be the last, prior to the semi-finals.

In San Francisco—Mrs. Del Gammon and two daughters, Nancy and Patricia, will leave Tuesday for San Francisco where they will spend the next month visiting with relatives and friends.
