Audrey Ferriss Thinks—Which Is Odd Note in Hollywood

By IAN THOMAS
NEA Service Writer
HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Sept. 29.—The Warner Brothers now have two "pets"—the straphone and Audrey Ferriss. This story regards Audrey.
Although she has tried to act grown up since her entrance into the film colony a few months ago, Audrey still is just a beautiful child, Jack Warner predicts a great future for the girl and she seems to be fulfilling his prophecy.
When writing about Audrey, it is a great temptation to treat her much like Baby Peggy would be handled. True, she is a grown girl but her innocent mannerisms fairly shout for an extremely short career before the grinding cameras. Why, Jackie Coogan acts much older than this suburban haired actress.
Enters Via Stage Door
Miss Ferriss crashed into pictures through the same gate that was used by dozens of "bits" before her—the stage. She had been dancing for only a few weeks in a Los Angeles theatre when she was discovered by Jack White, comedy producer. White signed her for feminine leads in several of his films.
Then the chance with Warner Brothers as Georgie Jessel's leading lady in "Sailor Izzy Murphy." She did things up so beautifully in that production that she landed a contract as one of Warners' stars.
Audrey has two distinctions unusual in this hamlet. She still uses her own name and she thinks.
"Just imagine! Thinking! What is your favorite amusement?" I asked her during lunch the other day.
"Thinking" was the girl's startling reply. "I like to just sit and think—oh, about everything, my present work at the studio, what the future holds for me, current events and what my friends are doing."
"My principle interest now is my career. And besides, I don't like boys my own age. They seem to be so empty headed and useless in this world. The boys I knew at school never did anything but play around. Every time I see them I wonder if they ever expect to do anything or if

Audrey Ferriss
They are going to let their parents support them all their lives. I like to be with people who know something and from whom you can learn things."
"That girl is the best bet we have had on this lot since we signed Dolores Costello," Jack Warner, west coast production chief, told me. "We put her in leads right at the start and although she was good, she has improved 80 per cent in the last three months. You'll hear a lot about her later."

Road Crew Grading In Tule Lake

(Special Correspondence)
A. W. Shultz was in Klamath Falls, Tuesday and returned with Mrs. Shultz and the new baby daughter.
Peter Fisher has nearly completed his house on his homestead. Frank Lee has been assisting with the carpenter work.
Mr. and Mrs. William Layman were in Klamath Falls on business last week.
The Siskiyou county road crew is grading part of the roads for the homesteaders at Siskiyou county around Tule lake. This will greatly assist the homesteaders during the winter months when the roads become almost impassable.
Mrs. D. G. Campbell, Mrs. E. Hornbeck, and Mrs. E. Durkee were visitors at Tule Lake Tuesday.
S. C. Eastwood has returned to his home at the George Rudolph ranch, after visiting with his daughter Mrs. DurkBoe for the past month.

Ray Ward, Mrs. Simmons said Senator William King of Utah "was at the bottom of my troubles. I intended to get him first but he left town. Judge Johnson was the second victim."
Authorities believe Mrs. Simmons had brooded over case and her troubles until she became mentally unbalanced.
Her husband, John Simmons, was killed at Bingham in 1919 while in the employe of the Utah Copper company. In behalf of

At the Pine Tree

Those who enjoyed the stage version of Ziegfeld's noted musical success "Sally," in which Marilyn Miller made her permanent success, will find added joy in the screen version of the same piece, starring Colleen Moore, which comes to the Pine Tree theater today.
Colleen Moore brings to the role of "Sally" a genius for sympathetic interpretation that unquestionably will make this role an outstanding bit of her long list of successes. "Sally" calls for much human interest, pathos, fire of temperament and delightful sentiment.
