

Pathetic Story Of Aged Doctor Evokes Sympathy

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 19. (AP)—With quivering words, Daniel F. Royle, 76-year old physician of Orange, today related to members of the state board of medical examiners one of the most pathetic stories which has ever come to their attention.

Charged with addition to narcotics, Dr. Royle was cited to show cause why his license as a physician and surgeon in California should not be revoked.

Visibly moved by a story as thrilling and as touching as a "best seller" a story of fighting epidemics of diphtheria and scarlet fever in North Dakota with the temperature 50 below zero, of practicing his profession virtually within the shadows of the ropes of hostile sitting Bull, of a political career as speaker of the assembly of North Dakota any mayor of Orange and then a terrific fight against many diseases of his own which drove him to use of drugs for relief from pain. The board dismissed the charges.

Dr. Royle is just completing his 52nd year as a practicing physician.

Musicians And Theaters Sign

PORTLAND, Oct. 19. (AP)—Pantages theatre, and the Henry Duffy players at the Music Box have signed contracts with the local musicians for a year. Negotiations are pending with other theatres. The musicians were not included in a wage agreement recently signed by other theatre employees. Pantages granted an increase of $2.50 a week for men musicians. The Duffy scale was practically unchanged except that the house agreed to employ eight instead of seven in the orchestra.

Train Leap Quiets Girl's Ambition To Wander Over Globe

HOOD RIVER, Ore., Oct. 19. (AP)—A room and a little escape in which Inez Frederick, 14 year old junior high school girl of Hood River, embarked on Monday ended in brief this morning when she was found beside the Union Pacific tracks at Cascade Locks, west of here, bruised as a result of a jump or fall from a freight train. Alice Walters, 16, another junior high school girl of Hood River, also disappeared Monday, but officers had no definite information that she had accompanied Inez, though they suspected that the two had left together. No trace of her had been found today. When she left home Alice took with her all pictures of herself. Early Monday neighbors saw Inez throw a suitcase from a window of her home. Later she was seen entering an auto in which two men were riding. When picked up in a hysterical condition this morning, Inez said she had boarded the freight train east of Hood River, intending to get off at Hood River and return home. She was unable to get off until the train was passing through Cascade Locks. She could give no further information. Henry Wilson, living at Cascade Locks, heard her cries this morning and went to her assistance. Later she was removed to her home under a doctor's care. Nine men were picked up on the railroad yards at Cascade Locks this morning and were being held pending investigation.

Resignation Is Handed In So He Could Prosecute

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 19. (UP)—The man who has set out to cleanup the Alabama flagging situation—Attorney General Chas. McCall—was revealed as a member of the Ku Klux Klan tonight when he submitted his resignation as a klansman to the exalted cyclops.

On the eve of an extensive investigation of lawlessness in Alabama in which he had implicated numerous Klan members, McCall issued in his letter a bitter denunciation of the hooded order as opposing the regularly constituted authorities of the state.

McCall said he stood for the principles which the Klan publicly advocated and he had seen no public withdrawal on the part of the Klan of a belief in those principles, but that he was convinced, through his investigations during recent months, that the Klan had fallen into the control of a "lawless leadership."
